ROOSEVELT AND LEWIS MAY BE TICKET IN 1932

Illinois Man in Line for Nomination.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

For Vice President—James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois.

This is the Democratic national ticket for the presidential election of 1932 that is being visualized by Democratic leaders in Illinois, it was learned yesterday.

To be sure, there are some of the admirers of the senator elect from Illinois who arise to inquire why the order should not be reversed, with Col. Lewis for President and Gov. Roosevelt for Vice President. In fact, it is not unlikely that so far as first place on the ticket is concerned this will be the formal and official proposal of the Illinois delegation in the Democratic national convention two years hence.

By his tremendous victory last week Senator Elect Lewis is recognized by the politicians to have a valid claim on the leadership of his party in this state and to be the logical Illinois entry for nomination for President.

Roosevelt Has Priority.

One of the difficulties the boomers of Lewis for President will encounter is that Gov. Roosevelt, like Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest, the confederate general, "got there fustest with the mostest men." Mr. Roosevelt has been running for President for some time. He was his party's candidate for Vice President in 1920 and though defeated he succeeded in acquainting the electorate pretty thoroughly with the fact that there is a person of the charmed name of Roosevelt who is a Democrat.

With the running start Mr. Roosevelt has collected governor of New York two years ago in the same election that the head of his ticket, Al Smith, was snowed under in New York as members by the Hoover vote. Then with the Republican party bringing to bear its heaviest guns on the most promising issue it has had in many years—that of Tammany corruption—Gov. Roosevelt was reelected last week by the largest majority ever won by a candidate for that office in the Empire state.

Roosevelt Has Advantage.

This impressive vindication served to put Gov. Roosevelt away out in the lead of the entire field of possibilities for the Democratic nomination for President. The character of the vindication, to which upstate Republican New York contributed conspicuously, has also served to disarm potential opposition to him in the Democratic national convention on the charge that he is protected Tammany from inquisition in connection with the judgeship scandals in New York City.

All in all, it is going to be exceedingly difficult for the Democratic national convention to deny the nomination for President to the man who has demonstrated his ability to carry the most populous state in the Union with the largest electoral vote by a margin so tremendous as to mark him as the only Democrat who would have the ghost of a chance of capturing in a national election this state, which normally casts its electoral vote for the Republican candidate for President.

If, therefore, Gov. Roosevelt, by virtue of these circumstances, seems to have a preferred position at this writing in the choosing of the Democratic nominee for President, it is upon the same circumstances that favor the selection of Senator Elect Lewis for second place on the ticket.

Majorities the Same.

Gov. Roosevelt carried New York by 725,000 majority, Col. Lewis, a Democrat, carried Illinois, normally overwhelmingly Republican, by a 725,000 majority, compared with Mr. Hoover's plurality of only 454,000 and Mr. Coolidge's 500,000 plurality in this state. The plurality won by Col. Lewis is the largest accorded any candidate for any office in the state since the landslide of 1920, when Mr. Lewis, as Democratic candidate for governor, ran 200,000 ahead of his ticket. The Lewis plurality this year is more impressive even than Gov. Roosevelt's, for the New York electorate is 40 per cent larger than that of Illinois.

Thus Gov. Roosevelt and Col. Lewis stand forth as the banner Democratic vote getters of this Democratic year. And both carried states which it is going to be extremely important to the Democratic party to carry in 1932 and the winning of which is distinctly favored for the first time in many years by the political portents of 1930. Illinois has the third largest electoral vote in the union.

Though it be touching upon a somewhat delicate matter, it becomes the

AUSTRIA TURNS THUMBS DOWN ON FASCIST RULE

Socialists Victors in Bitter Election.

BY EGBERT SWENSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Nov. 9.—Voters of Austria today turned thumbs down on Fascist rule. On the face of almost complete returns, the Socialists promise to become the strongest party in the new parliament. The Fascists failed to win a single seat in the seven electoral wards of Vienna and only obtained five in the provinces.

The Socialists are in the lead, having won 73 or 74 parliamentary mandates in the house of 165 members. The Christian Socialists allied with the Fascist Heimwehr have apparently dropped to 63 seats. The new Economic party, led by Johann Schober, took 23 seats with returns nearly complete. The Socialists are claiming they have ousted the Christian Socialists from power.

The failure of the Fascists to capture many seats, leaders declare, will make it easier for the Christian Socialists, led by Msgr. Ignaz Seipel, Catholic prelate and former chancellor, to shake off the Fascist influence.

Fascist "Putsch" Feared.

There is a possibility, too, that President Miklas will call new elections in an effort to produce a clear majority.

Whether the Fascist Heimwehr will accept the humiliating defeat or will participate the "putsch," which they so long have threatened is furnishing a fresh element of suspense in the situation.

The Christian Socialists, in order to obtain a majority in parliament, will be forced to form a coalition with Schober, formerly Vienna's chief of police, who was ousted as chancellor recently by a combination of the Christian Socialists and the Fascist elements.

Several to Lose Posts.

Schober, politicians say, will undoubtedly first exact a promise from Msgr. Seipel that the activities of the Fascist Heimwehr, who want a dictatorship and refer to parliament as a "jabbering booth," must be curbed.

While the present government's chief spokesman, Dr. Seipel, may remain in the cabinet, Prince von Stahremberg, known as Austria's "Adolf Hitler," is certain of losing his post as minister of the interior, it was declared here tonight, if Herr Schober forms a new coalition cabinet, Chancellor Karl Vaugoin, who precipitated Schober's downfall, will be reduced to his former rank of minister of war, others say, with Dr. Hueber, another Fascist, being removed as minister of justice.

Four Hurt in Riot.

Vienna's vote showed only slight changes in the political complexion since the last elections. Schober's new middle party coalition won four seats, compared to two for the Pan-German party at the last election. The Socialists gained one, winning 30 seats. Both parties won at the expense of the Christian Socialists and their allies, the Heimwehr. The Christian Socialists captured only 11 Vienna seats, compared to 14 last time.

Contrary to expectations the elections passed quietly. In only one district was any violence reported. A group of Fascists, armed with wire whips, attacked Socialists in Donawaltz, Styria. Four Socialists were reported injured in the riot.

Vienna tonight swiftly threw off the election day prohibition law. When polls closed at 6 p. m. the public rushed to cafés and bars after two days of aridity.

SHOT DOWN WITH OWN GUN AFTER SHOOTING BANDIT

Sherman Moore, 25 years old, attendant in a filling station at Garfield boulevard and South Dearborn street, shortly before midnight last night shot and probably fatally injured one of two Negro bandits who attempted to hold up the station and was in turn slashed with a knife and then shot with his own gun by the wounded bandit's companion.

The wounded bandit was found lying in an areaway at 49 East 42d street nearly an hour after the shooting and was taken to the German Deaconess hospital, where he was identified by Moore. He gave his name as Oliver Scott, 61 East 42d street.

Moore, who lives at 1138 East 47th street, is in a critical condition from loss of blood. The bandits obtained no loot.

Hunt Kidnap Gang Periling Two Families

Authorities of Cook and Will counties last night were searching for a band of four suspected kidnapers who have terrorized two wealthy farmer families at Matteson and Monee and cut the telephone wires leading to their homes and to a third farmhouse in apparent efforts to stage an abduction for ransom. A detail will be established at the Matteson farmhouse by Homewood county highway police today.

The families involved are those of William Arnold, 68 years old, and his brother, Henry Arnold, 53 years old, who lives about one and a half miles east of Monee, in Will county, and of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Krumwiebe of Matteson, in Cook county. Monee and Matteson are about six miles apart. The families of William Arnold and Krumwiebe are believed to be those intended for the kidnaping plot.

Boy Escapes Band.

For almost a week the four men have appeared at the Arnold home, either halting in front of it or driving by. Wednesday afternoon the machine drove into the farm yard. Marshall Arnold, 16 year old son of Arnold, accosted them. One of the quartet asked for eggs, and when the boy neared the automobile he and another man lunged for him. Marshall fled into the house.

Thursday night about 9:30 the men appeared again but did not remain long in the vicinity. That same night Arnold barricaded the road entrance into his yard with a barbed wire fence. The next morning he noticed the barbed wire had been cut and torn as though to permit the hasty getaway of an automobile from the yard. A short time later he discovered his telephone wires had been cut. A similar discovery was made of the telephone wires of his brother across the highway.

Second House Menaced.

It was revealed that almost similar things were happening at the Krumwiebe home. A daughter lives with them. Four men in a small car, believed to be the same who terorized the Arnolds, visited them early last week and inquired about the elder Krumwiebe. They drove away, however, when the daughter, suspicious, jumped out a window and ran for help. The next day, Friday, they returned but again were frightened away. It was then discovered that the telephone wires had been severed the night before.

Several months ago the Krumwiebes were robbed of more than $2,000 by bandits who invaded their home.

AMELIA EARHART NOT MARRIED, SHE SAYS; MAY WED IN 50 YEARS

Wahington, D. C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Miss Amelia Earhart, first woman to fly across the Atlantic, said tonight there was "not a word of truth" in reports that she and George Palmer Putnam, New York publisher, had been married.

"There is not a thing to it at all," she asserted.

Asked if she had been to Noank, Conn., recently, she replied:

"O, yes, I go up there quite frequently."

She added, however, she knew nothing of a marriage license being issued there yesterday to her and Putnam.

"Some time in the next 50 years I may be married," she explained, laughing.

Miss Earhart, a vice president of the New York, Philadelphia and Washington Airway corporation, said she came to Washington early today on business and would remain here several days. She said Putnam was not here.

PINCHOT LISTS SELF GOVERNOR 2 MONTHS AGO

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Gifford Pinchot wasn't elected governor of Pennsylvania until last Tuesday, but as long ago as two months he felt that victory was going to perch on his standard.

Capture Hunt, Capone's Aid, Sipping Soda

Sam Hunt, Capone gangster once suspected of trying to kill Leo Mongoven of George [Bugs] Moran's bodyguard in the war of extermination on the north siders, was picked up last night at 79th street and Exchange avenue, South Chicago. He refused to explain his presence there and was taken to the detective bureau to spend the night.

Hunt, one of those named in the 22 secret vagrancy warrants issued some weeks ago by Municipal Judge John H. Lyle, was recognized by Detective Albert Anderson, who with Detectives Martin Keenan and Albert Johnson of the South Chicago station, were touring the district on foot. Apparently Hunt saw Anderson first, for he stepped into a drug store, bought a soda and a magazine and attempted to conceal his face while sipping the drink.

Came to "See Movie."

"You're Sam Hunt," said Anderson. "What are you doing over here?"

"I came over to look at a motion picture," replied the gangster.

No other information could be obtained from him, except that he lived at the Hotel Sherman. He was held on an open charge at the detective bureau for questioning today by Chief of Detectives John Norton.

Carried Gun in Golf Bag.

Hunt gained notoriety early last summer when he was seized with a golf bag containing a sawed off shotgun, following a mysterious shooting near 5301 North Ashland avenue. The victim was believed to be Mongoven, who has been missing ever since. Later Hunt was questioned in the attempted assassination of Jack Zuta in State street and in the killing of Alfred Lingle.

Ammel Hops at New York for Panama

BULLETIN.

CALSHOT, England, Nov. 10 (Monday).—(AP)—Advices from Amsterdam, Holland, today said that the DO-X, giant German seaplane, left there for this airport at 8:15 a. m. (4:15 a. m. Chicago time). The plane is making a flight from Germany to New York.

Difficulty in Taking Off.

Capt. Ammel apparently had trouble getting his heavily loaded machine off the ground. The airplane swerved as it spun down the takeoff runway and gasoline spurted from its tanks.

The wings of the airplane slowly tilted, however, and it climbed steadily, circling the airport a few times while the pilot sought for altitude. The machine carried 34 gallons of oil and 650 gallons of gas.

Capt. Ammel's plans were to follow the coast of the United States as far south as Florida, then cutting across the Caribbean sea and Gulf of Mexico to make his landing at France field, Panama.

First Planned Atlantic Hop.

Capt. Ammel came to New York several weeks ago with the intention of making a nonstop flight from New York to France, along the "Lindbergh trail." Weather conditions were not propitious, however, and with the approach of winter the pilot figured his chances of completing an ocean flight were small.

SETS CUBA-N. Y. RECORD

Roosevelt Field, L. I., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Capt. Frank Hawks flew from Havana to this field today in eight hours and forty-four minutes. The transcontinental record holder cut thirty-eight minutes from the record time he established last Friday when he flew the same plane from New York to Havana, and some four hours better than previous records.

It was just cruising speed all the way and with head winds for the first six or eight hundred miles, the flyer said after he brought the red and white Whirlwind-Travelair racer to the ground here, yet it is the fastest time ever made for the flight and is in keeping with the flyer's other distance records.

An Hour to Miami.

He took off from the Havana airport at 7:34 o'clock this morning and hopped across the sea to Miami in 1 hour and 13 minutes. He made a brief stop there for gasoline and a quick interview with the customs officers. Then he put the little monoplane into the air from the long runway of the Pan-American airport at about 9:15 o'clock.

Stops for More Gas.

He crossed the states of Florida, Georgia, and South Carolina, and came down at Charlotte, N. C., for more gasoline three hours and forty minutes after leaving Miami.

At Charlotte twenty-six minutes was consumed putting seventy gallons of gas into the tanks, and then Hawks took off on the last leg of his 1,400 mile trip. Now he had helping winds. He climbed to a mile altitude and come along with hi speed up nearly thirty miles an hour.

SEVEN LEADERS OF DEMOCRATS TAKEN AT WORD

Help for Business Is Mapped Out.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—The Republican party today accepted the offer of the seven titular leaders of the Democratic party to cooperate with the President in the passage of legislation aimed at promoting prosperity, stabilizing business and improving the national welfare.

Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], majority leader of the senate, acted as spokesman for the Hoover administration and the Republican party in accepting and welcoming the aid pledged by the Democrats during the next two years. He acted after a White House conference at which President Hoover and Republican leaders, including Senator Watson, discussed the approaching legislative situation, unemployment legislation, and the unprecedented statement issued last Friday under the names of seven nationally prominent Democrats which pledged the Democratic party not to obstruct legislation and to aid the President to place business firmly upon its feet.

Prompt Action Planned.

At this meeting it was decided to take the Democratic spokesmen at their word, welcome their offer of aid and take immediate steps to capitalize the legislative situation which would exist in congress if the Democratic party leaders live up to their promises to work in harmony with their political foes. Scores of telegrams sent by business men to Republican leaders urging the political parties to forget party politics and get down to the task of improving business and alleviating unemployment were factors in the Republican decision.

As a result of the Democratic offer of assistance it was learned that President Hoover plans to present a very complete unemployment program to congress in December which will include authorizations for new building projects that may exceed 100 million dollars as well as the emergency appropriations for unemployment he announced yesterday. A list of projects recommended by cabinet members was placed on President Hoover's table yesterday and is under consideration.

Strength Evenly Divided.

In accepting the Democratic offer of aid, Senator Watson said that as a result of Tuesday's election the two parties are practically evenly divided in congress. He asserted the Democrats had failed in their objective to gain legislative control and concluded with the assertion that the only patriotic solution of the national economic situation lay in cooperative action by both major parties.

"We accept with full faith and credit the pronouncements of the seven Democratic leaders," Senator Watson said in his statement issued from the Republican national committee. "We are very happy to know that their representation in congress will cooperate with us in all legislative acts that tend to promote public well-being, and, furthermore, it is gratifying to know that they will not obstruct or embarrass the President in conduct of the government.

Will Forget Past.

"I could, of course, indulge in criticism at the obvious political propaganda which accompanies their public assurance and I could recriminate as to the past, but this is not the spirit in which I desire to accept their offer of cooperation.

"The country is in a time of difficulty from worldwide causes and cooperative action in the congress is necessary. I believe their statement should steady the public mind. It was, no doubt, put forward in the hope that it would stabilize the public markets which have been falling out of unnecessary alarm since the day of election, and it should carry conviction that this alarm is uncalled for because it gives assurance that there will be no attempt on the part of the Democratic party to support disturbing legislation.

"Duty to Cooperate."

"It is obviously the duty of Republican members to cooperate. The two parties are practically equally divided in the congress. It may be that the Republicans have a majority in the lower house. The very evenness of division between the two parties is without parallel in our history. It represents a legislative victory neither for the Democrats nor the Republicans.

"It may be well said on one side that the Democrats have made considerable legislative gains. It may be said on the other side that the num-

BUY NOW TO RELIEVE UNEMPLOYMENT

The post-war deflation of prices has so increased the purchasing power of money that a dollar now buys what formerly cost $1.40. A nickel does the work of seven cents. Conditions are what they are today, largely because considerable numbers of people have mistaken effect for cause. Able to buy, as these are with regular incomes, they have curtailed buying because they think times are bad. The truth is that times are what they are because people aren't spending. The need of today is a resumption of normal buying by those with steady incomes. You aren't asked to promote the general welfare by buying a lot of articles you have no use for. You are only urged to help continue your own income and that of others by purchasing things that make up your established scale of living. Go down to your favorite clothier today and buy that overcoat or suit you need to maintain your normal standard of attire. By doing so you will purchase something you need, give jobs to the unemployed, and distribute purchasing power among the customers of your industry. Normal buying now will steady business and relieve unemployment.

ber of gains of the opposing party are much less than in many mid-term elections hitherto; that the Democrats have failed in their objective and that the Republicans have held astonishingly well in the face of the adverse factors temporarily in motion.

"But be this as it may, we are faced with a national situation where the only patriotic solution lies in co-operative action and I welcome it and I am sure my colleagues will welcome it also."

Hoover Welcomes Offer.

It was learned tonight that President Hoover specially welcomed the Democratic offer because it dovetails in exactly with his immediate plans for rehabilitating his party machine following the disastrous elections of last Tuesday, which left the Republicans without sufficient strength to control legislation in the seventy-second congress, beginning in December, 1931, and possibly cost them the votes necessary to organize both houses. The President's plan calls for "prosperity first."

The President believes the economic depression was one of the most potent factors in Republican defeat. While his associates say the wet question will be faced, they assert his first effort will be to bring back prosperity.

No development in national politics in years has aroused so much comment as the Democratic statement of last Friday in which the Democrats promised to work with the Republicans in a harmonious solution of the unemployment problem. It is the belief of business men that the pronouncements made at this time giving assurance of no disturbing federal legislation for the next two wears will be most helpful in creating confidence in the industrial and banking world.

Unity Program Planned.

President Hoover, it was reported tonight, plans to make a pronounced effort to unite Republicans back of his program of legislation so that a maximum of legislation can be pushed through the coming short session of congress, in which he will still have a majority in both houses. This move has been informally discussed with Republican leaders. With the Republicans united, it would be possible to put through an extensive program regardless of whether Democratic support was received in full.

It was reported today that former Senator Henry J. Allen of Kansas will be active in aiding the President's attempt to unite the party back of his legislative program.

SENATOR ELECT DENIES THAT HE OPPOSES PARTY

Jasper, Ala., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Associated Press last night incorrectly quoted Senator Elect John H. Bankhead, Democrat, of Alabama, as saying he would oppose organization of either the senate or the house by Democrats even if the official results of the national election should give the Democrats a majority.

In a statement issued today Senator Elect Bankhead said:

"The statement from New Orleans that I said I would oppose organization of either the senate or house by the Democrats even if the official results of the national election should give the Democrats a majority was not an accurate interpretation of the interview with me. I do not favor evading or refusing to accept any responsibility placed by the voters on the Democratic party. In view of the closeness of vote in the senate and the house, I expressed my personal satisfaction if it finally ascertained that control of the senate and the house did not pass to the Democrats under the circumstances.

"I am opposed to securing the organization of the senate by any understanding with any others than Democrats on a legislative program. I favor the Democrats meeting the situation in accordance with the responsibility placed on the Democratic party by the electorate."

BANKERS PRAISE PARTIES' PLEDGES TO AID HOOVER

Reynolds and Traylor See Benefit to U. S.

Two of Chicago's leading bankers and the president of the Illinois Manufacturers association joined yesterday in praising the pledge of Democratic national leaders to cooperate with President Hoover in a legislative program and the acceptance of the pledge by Republicans as a public spirited move for the national welfare.

The bankers interviewed were George M. Reynolds, chairman of the executive committee of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, a Republican, and Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank and past president of the American Bankers association. Mr. Traylor is a Democrat.

Sees Good for Country.

"If this pledge was given and accepted in good faith, as I am sure it was, it is certain to prove beneficial in the present uncertain period," said Mr. Reynolds. "Naturally neither party would care to accept responsibility for obstructive tactics at a time like this, when the average business man is hoping and praying for a revival of a measure of prosperity.

"Being a Republican I regard the pledge on the part of the Democrats as not only a patriotic but a shrewd gesture. If I were leader of a party which will seek the presidency in 1932 I would certainly want to have a share in the revival of trade."

Speaking of the Democratic pledge of coöperation, Mr. Traylor pronounced it a move emphasizing the Americanism of the leaders of that party. Said Mr. Traylor:

"It emphasizes the sound Americanism of the political leaders who made the offer. It is certain to be beneficial in that it will allay the fear among business men that political interference might check or impede the natural trend towards an improved position in trade and industry.

Geriach Praises Pledge.

The attitude of the industrialists was expressed in a telegram sent to John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, by Theodore R. Geriach, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association. A copy of the message was sent to President Hoover. The message follows:

"The Illinois Manufacturers' association commends you and your associates in the Democratic party for your patriotic pledge to coöperate with President Hoover in promoting our national prosperity. We earnestly hope that all other individuals and groups will subordinate political expediency and personal ambition to our economic welfare.

FINAL FIGURES TODAY

Final figures on the unemployment registration, conducted Saturday by employés of the board of education in the public schools, are expected to become available this afternoon when the count of registration cards is completed.

Gust Terzake, owner of the G. T. restaurants at 100 East Ohio street and 2138 South Michigan avenue, spread a "Thanksgiving feast" of turkey yesterday for fifty needy ex-service men at his Ohio street establishment. The restaurateur has been feeding from 32 to 35 war veterans daily for the last two weeks.

A PERFECT DAY SENDS THRONGS OUT OF DOORS

Highways, Parks and Golf Links Are Crowded.

Warm winds, clear skies, and bright sunshine yesterday gave Chicago and the middle west a touch of perfect Indian summer that packed parks, highways, and golf links with seekers of outdoor pleasures. The warmth will continue today and tomorrow, it was predicted.

The official high for the day was 65 degrees, recorded from 2 to 4 p. m. on the government thermometer, while in Oak Park the mercury reached 68 degrees, according to J. R. Lloyd, government forecaster. The low for the 24 hours ended at 7 p. m. last night was 44 at 5 a. m., making a mean reading for the day of 54 degrees. The normal mean temperature for Nov. 9 is 43 degrees.

Warm Weather General.

"The warm weather will continue Monday and probably Tuesday," said Mr. Lloyd. "There is a possibility, of course, for cooler temperatures during this period. The condition is not local. Warm weather has spread over most of the country east of the Rockies, with the exception of some southern areas. Mild temperatures are generally predicted for the middle west."

To Chicago the mild weather was like a tonic. Hundreds of thousands of men, women, and children, who had already experienced nips of cold weather earlier and were settled for the winter, abandoned homes and apartments and spent the Sabbath outdoors.

Boulevards Are Crowded.

Boulevards were crowded with automobiles and traffic tieups were as ferquent as on a midsummer Sunday. The outer drives were jammed. Lincoln, Garfield, Jackson, and other parks were thronged with people. Many golf links did a brisk business. Among pedestrians topcoats and fall coats were noticeably absent.

LAMONT URGES ROAD BUILDING TO AID JOBLESS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Street and highway improvements which were pronounced "urgently needed" in almost all communities were advanced by Robert P. Lamont, secretary of commerce, today as a major channel through which unemployment may be lessened materially without placing an undue financial strain on cities and towns.

This suggestion was the first emanating from Secretary Lamont, in whose office Col. Arthur Woods, chairman of the President's emergency committee on employment, is installed, and who was designated chairman of the cabinet committee named to advise Col. Woods.

ALDERMEN SEEK WAY TO BLOCK THOMPSON RULE

Bowler Is Mentioned for Sanitary Post.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Hot Springs, Ark., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Possible ways of blocking the Thompson city hall machine from running away with the 1931 budget making, when eight Democratic aldermen of the hard fighting bloc—step out of the city council into the new positions they won in Tuesday's election, was today's topic of the Chicago Democratic chieftains.

Ald. Thomas J. Bowler, father of the feeder busses, was favored for president of the sanitary district in the early gossip as the advance guard of Democrats congregated here with their new jobs in the card index and a barge of mayoralty booms on ice to keep them from spoiling through premature exposure.

Tentative talk in the steamrooms, bathhouses and on the golf course was that the law may permit four of the eight aldermen in the graduating class to remain in the city council until their elected successors are sworn in.

May Stay in Council.

They are William D. Meyering, sheriff elect; Joseph B. McDonough, county treasurer elect; George Maypole, state senator elect, and George Self, clerk elect of the Criminal court. Maypole, Self, and McDonough are members of the finance committee of the city council. Some of the legal mind here maintain that under the law they may be inducted into their new offices without being obliged to resign as aldermen.

The lawyers say this does not hold good with the four aldermen elected to Municipal court or sanitary district offices, and they seem to be under legal obligations to retire from the city council on taking their new places.

They are Alds. T. J. Bowler, Tom J. Byrne, and Dennis A. Horan, trustee elect of the sanitary district, and Albert J. Horan, bailiff elect of the Municipal court.

Twenty-four Are Democrats.

The council is elected as a nonpartisan body, but of the present members twenty-four are Democrats, and if eight should have to step out of the council the hall machine would be strengthened in the budget making. The lawyers here say under a new law passage of the budget can be held off until March 31. The Democrats are trying to figure out some way for as many as possible of the graduating eight to stay on the old jobs as well as the new and to fill the vacancies in the first aldermanic elections in February without runoffs in April.

When the sanitary district is reorganized Dec. 1, the Democrats will have eight of the nine members. On the election of a president, the eight appear to be divided into two equal groups. Ross A. Woodhull is favored by the three hold-over Democratic trustees—Woodhull, Touhy, Whalen—and by Trustee Elect Dennis Horan. The other four trustees elect are Tom Byrne, Tom Borkler, J. L. Friedman, and Paul J. Colianni.

In this group Bowler and Colianni are possibilities. A. J. Cermak, county chairman, is inclined towards Colianni, but Bowler's experience and his aldermanic record are held by leaders here to give him an advantage over Mr. Colianni who is making his first venture into high political office. Tonight Bowler is the favorite in the talk. If the eight should divide, it might make Howard W. Elmore, the only remaining Republican member, the balance of power in electing the president, and he is friendly to Mr. Cermak, who engineered the coalition that made Elmore president two years ago.

Some $100,000,000 of contracts are to be let by the drainage district next year. A checkup today indicated the Deneen Republican group has some 800 positions on the sanitary district under the 60-40 patronage division with the Democrats, which was the basis for the 1928 coalition. Most of these it seems are to be filled by Democrats, under the old maxim of President Andy Jackson, "To the victor belongs the spoils."

Deputy to Be Retained.

In some key positions in newly acquired offices, however, the Andy Jacksonianism is to be changed somewhat. Ald. Albert J. Horan, bailiff elect of the Municipal court, says the new version is "to the victors belong the responsibility." For one application, he proposes to keep the present chief deputy bailiff, Mr. Woods, who has served since the Municipal court started and was retained under two other Democratic bailiffs, A. J. Cermak and Dennis J. Egan.

Among leaders now on the ground besides those already mentioned are Boetius Sullivan, Joseph L. Gill, clerk-elect of the Municipal court; Ald. John Clark, Martin J. O'Brien, Moe Rosenberg, Matt Frans, Representative John McSweeney, Congressman James Igoe, Ald. James B. Bowler. Mr. Cermak and Mr. Clark have mayoralty booms in the refrigerator. Two hundred more Chicago Democrats are expected to swarm in tomorrow.

Clayton F. Smith, county recorder and chairman of the county Democratic managing committee, headed a delegation of Democratic leaders who departed from Chicago yesterday for Hot Springs to join party chiefs who are already at the spa.

In yesterday's party were Ald. W. R. O'Toole, Christ A. Jensen, Leo Wienecki, Ald. George Self, elected Criminal court clerk; Timothy J. Crowe, former president of the sanitary district; Charles A. Weber, county commissioner elect; Richard Froelich; National Committeeman Michael Igoe; Judge Elect Justin F. McCarthy; Edward J. Kelly, president of the south park board; Assessor Elect Walter W. L. Meyers; Trustee John Tuohy of the sanitary board; Trustee Elect Dennis A. Horan, Trustee Elect J. L. Friedman, Isadore Brown, Paddy Bauler, and State Representatives George Garry Noonan, Thomas J. O'Grady, and George A. Fitzgerald.

CATHEDRAL BELLS SILENT; RINGER IN JAIL AS RED

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 9.—(AP)—For the first time in more than a century the bells of the national cathedral were silent today during services. The reason was that the bell ringer, Anastasio Mayorga Reyes, 42, who has dwelt all of his life in the cathedral tower, as had his ancestors, was in jail under charges of being a communist.

Compares Police Returns and Precinct Reports.

Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court had a staff of clerks and bailiffs working yesterday comparing police returns of last Tuesday's election with the returns furnished by precinct captains of the regular and Deneen Republican organizations. In support of his contention that he was not defeated for reelection, but that thousands of votes were stolen from him, he cited numerous returns that he said were fraudulent.

The precincts regarded suspiciously by Judge Olson were mostly in the 11th, 13th, 24th, 27th, and 42d wards. Some of the police returns listed the same number of votes for all Democratic judicial candidates and likewise for the Republicans, such as 365 for all the Democrats and 43 for all the Republicans. Judge Olson called attention to one return of that kind from a precinct of the 13th ward, saying it was preposterous.

Reports Conflict in Count.

"We are finding that the count as reported by the precinct captains differs greatly from the police returns," Judge Olson declared. "I believe the official canvass will show that I have been elected and possibly that Judges Herbert G. Immenhausen and Charles F. McKinley were winners, although the police returns show them to be losers."

On the face of police returns Judge Olson, who has been chief justice for twenty-four years, was defeated by John J. Sonsteby by about 16,000 votes.

Vote Canvass Starts Today.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki said the official canvass of the votes will begin this morning with 25 teams assigned to the candidates and three teams canvassing the returns on propositions. He said he had received no complaint from Judge Olson and he had no information tending to confirm Judge Olson's suspicions, on which he would not comment. He said the canvass on all offices will be as carefully conducted as though all the contests were in doubt.

County Recorder Clayton F. Smith, chairman of the Democratic managing committee, said he did not believe any organized effort against Judge Olson would be shown. He said Judge Olson had been elected four times without any Democratic claims of fraud.

ROOSEVELT AND LEWIS MAY BE TICKET IN 1932

duty of the veracious chronicler to state that in point of age Col. Lewis does not exactly conform to the specifications for the presidential nomination drafted by the cold and calculating politicians. It is unusual for consideration to be given a candidate nowadays who has turned 60. Our presidential candidates for years have been chosen from men in their fifties. Gov. Roosevelt is 48.

Question of Age.

Col. Lewis confesses to the age of 63, which would make him 65 in 1932 and 66 if nominated and elected. And there is some evidence indicating that he has miscalculated his age and is really 67. When he was a congressman at large from the state of Washington in 1897-'99, the congressional directory for the Fifty-fifth congress, December, 1898, page 119, contained an autobiography of Col. Lewis in which the date of his birth was given as May 18, 1863. When he returned to Washington as senator from Illinois the directory of the Sixty-third congress, February, 1914, stated that he "is 46 years of age." But if the date of his birth given in 1898 was correct, he was 50 in February, 1914. Two years later Col. Lewis was only one year older, the directory of January, 1916, giving his age as 47. In the December, 1917, directory he gave his age as 48, according to which he was 61 in May last.

Whether, however, Col. Lewis is 61, 63 or 67, his availability for the vice presidential nomination on the score of age would not be seriously questioned. The Democratic party in 1904 nominated an octogenarian, Henry Gassaway Davis of West Virginia.

Not New Idea for Lewis.

It would be nothing new for Col. Lewis to seek the nomination for vice president. He has been running for the Democratic nomination for years. At every Democratic convention from 1900 to 1928 inclusive there has been a Lewis-for-Vice-President boom on the premises or in the offing.

Geographical consideration would favor the selection of Col. Lewis as running mate for Gov. Roosevelt. With the head of the ticket from New York the convention without doubt would take the vice presidential nominee from the west or south.

But while qualifying geographically Col. Lewis would meet with competition. There is, for example, Robert J. Bulkley, elected senator from Republican Ohio last week by an impressive majority. He is not unlikely to be Ohio's entry for the nomination for President and if passed over in favor of Gov. Roosevelt would have a strong claim on second place on the ticket.

In the selection of a running mate for Gov. Roosevelt, who is a wet, a dry or medium dry would be favored, all other circumstances being equal. That consideration would operate against Col. Lewis and Mr. Bulkley, who are both dripping wet, and in favor of a westerner like George White, elected governor of Ohio last week, or a southerner like former Gov. Harry Byrd of Virginia, or one who is both a westerner and southerner, like Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, all of whom are drys.

Gov. Roosevelt's statement last week, in response to the launching of his boom for President, that he is not thinking of 1932, but is tending strictly to his present job, has not deterred the Roosevelt boomers. In fact, it is accepted by them as a gesture in thorough keeping with the presidential aspirations of the New York governor.

National Business Show to Open

Hundreds to Attend

The National Business show opens today in the Stevens hotel. Hundreds of business executives who are expected to attend will see more than a million dollars' worth of business devices and office equipment. Among the exhibits will be a new electric typewriter, which operates with a 2 ounce pressure, and the telecord, a device which records telephone conversations for a permanent record.

FACTS IN KILLING OF THREE REMAIN JUNGLE MYSTERY

Circumstances surrounding the massacre of two Chicago missionaries and a child remained a primeval jungle mystery yesterday. Officials of the Inland South America Missionary union despaired of obtaining details of the tragedy for some time because of the difficulty in penetrating the wilderness augmented by the unrest in Brazil following the recent revolt.

Beyond the cablegram announcing the deaths of the Rev. Arthur Tylee, 34 years old, Moody Bible institute graduate; his daughter, Marion, 2½ years old; and Miss Mildred Kratz, a nurse, and also a graduate of the institute, and the wounding of Mrs. Ethel Tylee, wife of the minister, no word has been received by the officials. The message was sent to the union headquarters in New York and relayed here to the Rev. D. L. Foster, superintendent of the men students at Moody Bible institute.

Believe Epidemic Is Cause.

The Rev. Mr Foster held it likely that the Indians at the missionary station, near Jurena, in the state of Matto Grosso, swooped down on the missionaries in a war, fostered by medicine men who blamed the missionaries for an epidemic in a pestilence ridden community. Jurena, three weeks' journey from the station, is a settlement of six houses, near a telegraph line inhabited by descendants of Portuguese traders.

The fact that the cablegram was signed by George McDowell, the third member of Mr. Tylee's mission staff, who, by evidence, suffered no serious injury, gave rise to further speculation here. It is probable, the Rev. Mr. Foster said, that the deaths may have resulted from an invasion by a hostile tribe. The fact that Mrs. Tylee was not slain was held as supporting evidence to such a premise. Under such circumstances it is likely that Mrs. Tylee may have been rescued by McDowell with the aid of friendly Indians at the station, he said.

Expects News to Be Slow.

The Rev. Mr. Foster said that he did not expect further details of the massacre until later in the week because of the difficulty of communication and state of unrest in the province. The station was in the Andes highland in dense forests pierced only by mule trails and rivers. It was founded by the Tylees five years ago upon their marriage two years after they were graduated from the Moody Bible institute.

Miss Kratz, the daughter of Mrs. M. F. Hollingsworth of Wheaton, was persuaded to join the Tylees when they returned to the station early in the fall after they had spent a furlough here.

LIQUOR SLEUTH ON SENATE JOB TO TELL STORY

Youth Who Trapped Booze Seller to Write.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Further disclosures for dry senatorial inquisitors to investigate were promised today in an announcement that the 21 year old sleuth who spent four months last spring as a page in the senate office building will tell his experiences in a series of articles in a local newspaper.

The youth is Roger Butts, who lives in a small Virginia town at the entrance of the Shenandoah valley. He was hired temporarily for the senate snooping job while still a minor and since has left the dry forces. He will reveal in his "confessions" how he trapped George L. Cassiday "the man in the green hat," for years bootlegger to members of the house and senate.

Details Coming Out.

Identification of young Butts and his emergence into spotlight of publicity is the last of an amazing series of revelations which bit by bit have uncovered the prohibition bureau's snooping expedition on Capitol Hill during the last session of congress. Cassiday himself gave the first hint about the dry sleuthing in his own series of newspaper articles recently published. Little by little through Cassiday's statements and official admissions the story has been pieced together, as follows:

In 1929 Cassiday started peddling liquor in the house office building and five years later transferred his activities to the senate building, where he did a flourishing business until last spring. Vice President Curtis signed an order authorizing the then prohibition commissioner, Dr. James M. Doran, to put an undercover agent on Cassiday's trail.

Regular Reports Made.

Butts was selected, and was given a position as a stationery clerk, taking the place of a regular employé. He made regular reports to two senate officers and to Dr. Doran, the only persons who knew the secret of his identity.

"During the time I was on that job, even my girl did not know what I was doing at the senate," Butts said. "I kept the whole affair strictly confidential. It would surprise me if any of the senators I waited on in the senate stationery room ever tumbled to the fact that I was a prohibition agent."

How well the youthful snooper did his job was shown one day when "the man in the green hat" was captured.

DR. E. S. AMES RESIGNS PULPIT AFTER 30 YEARS

Dr. Edward Scribner Ames, professor of philosophy at the University of Chicago, resigned last night as pastor of the University Church of the Disciples of Christ, 5655 University avenue, a position he has held for 30 years. His resignation, effective on or before Dec. 31, was offered because of the demands of his duties as philosophy professor and as dean of the Disciples Divinity House of the University.

His action came as a surprise to most of the board members of the church, and they deferred action in the hope that it might be reconsidered. According to Prof. William C. Bower, professor of religious education at the university, and chairman of the church board, the resignation of Dr. Ames will be taken up at a meeting to be called soon. Meanwhile Dr. Wayne Leys, assistant minister of the church, will act as pastor. From time to time, however, Dr. Ames will preach at the church.

Dr. Ames studied at Drake university, Yale university and the University of Chicago. He was professor of philosophy at Butler college, Indianapolis, and university preacher at Harvard before coming to Chicago. He has written several books. His "Religion" was one of 40 books admitted to the League of Nations library last year.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Grenville Owen Sampson, who befriended a baronet and later became his valet, has just learned from a newspaper that his master left him $100,000 in his will. Mr. Sampson was formerly a page boy at "White's," one of London's famous clubs.

The baronet was Sir Charles W. E. C. Hartopp, once first secretary of the British legation in Persia. When Sir Charles took seriously ill in Cairo, some years ago, Mr. Sampson nursed him back to health.

This devotion received a tribute in the will as "service I can never repay." The news of the legacy came as a complete surprise. Mr. Sampson remained quite calm in his good fortune, however, and said he expected to invest the money and retain his present job of head waiter at another London club.

TONS OF WHISKY HEADED TOWARD U. S. VIA PANAMA

Its Eventual Destination Mystery to Officials.

BY GERALD MARTIN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BALBOA HEIGHTS, C. Z., Nov. 9.—Panama Canal officialdom has been puzzled over the question of whisky shipments, which for some time have been coming rapidly and often are stored in the canal's bonded warehouses at the Balboa docks "for orders," or "in transit."

This last week 11,555 cases of whisky and 350 kegs of "tramp" bootleg liquor were held in dock 18, marked "Ex S. S. Parana. Cargo in transit." Port officials have been puzzled over the question as to when cargo is "in transit." This particular cargo was destined for Vancouver, B. C., and is reputed to have a bootleg value of $600,000. The Parana later sailed for Portland, Ore., via Los Angeles.

It is argued that when cargo is unloaded in the Canal Zone to await further orders for shipment to some other port than the one specified on the ship's manifest under which it arrived, it is not "in transit" and that the United States government warehouses are merely being used as a way station and auction block for contraband liquor.

It appears, according to a statement by one of the Parana's officers, that this is the third attempt to get this liquor across the smuggling line and into the United States. This particular cargo of liquor had already reached Vancouver, but the necessary consular invoices and other documents were lacking and the Canadian port authorities refused to allow it to land.

The cargo, it is said, eventually found its way back to Europe again and was unloaded at Antwerp, where it was again picked up by the Parana. According to rumor, cost of shipping has already reached the sum of $200,000.

Then it came back to Balboa again, was stored in Uncle Sam's dock warehouse and now has left aboard a small tramp vessel, the Arwyco, which opportunely arrived in the harbor. The Arwyco is of Canadian registration and arrived from the almost unknown Mexican port of Ensenada, Lower California, Mexico, and just below the American frontier. To this port the liquor is now heading.

Another rum ship, the Boreas, arrived here from St. Pierre, French island off eastern Canada, with 29,225 cases of assorted liquors on board, having taken on coal at Christobal and transited the canal. Her papers said she was bound for Shanghai, China. Her cargo included 137 empty barrels and it is alleged that her destination is Ensenada, Mexico, for eventual shipment across the border.

The steamer Kouchibouguasc arrived with destination for the Mexican port of Ensenada, with sixty tons of whisky, all in pints.

CAR LINES TO START RAIL EXTENSIONS ON TWO STREETS TODAY

Work will begin this morning on two new rail extensions of the Chicago surface lines. The Lincoln avenue line is to be extended from Berwyn avenue to Devon avenue and the Damen avenue line from 63d street to 74th street.

Officials of the company are preparing to ask the Illinois commerce commission for permission to extend the North avenue line from Austin avenue to Narragansett avenue and to install buses in Belmont avenue from Harlem avenue to Pacific avenue and in Montrose avenue from Milwaukee avenue to Narragansett avenue.

Including these extensions the surface lines have a total of 25 miles of rail extensions and 57 miles of bus line operation completed or in process of completion this year. These projects represent an expenditure of $3,500,000.

LA SALLE STREET RITES TO MARK ARMISTICE DAY

MacNider Will Speak in Loop Ceremony.

Much of the exultation and all of the solemnity that marked Chicago's wild celebration of that first Armistice day, back in 1918, will mark the observance of the twelfth anniversary tomorrow. City and county will center their observance for this year in the ceremonies on La Salle street, between Randolph and Washington streets, at the armistice hour, 11 o'clock. Col. Hanford MacNider, D. S. C., formerly national commander of the American Legion and now United States ambassador to Canada, will fly here from Ottawa to speak.

Schools, banks, and many business houses will be closed for the day. A petition that was being circulated on Saturday among the aldermen, asking that the city hall be closed, had twenty-one signers and the other five needed were in prospect, so a holiday for the city employés seemed possible.

City Club to Hold War Forum.

William Nathan MacChesney, vice president of the City club, will speak on "Looking Forward from the Last War" at the forum luncheon of that organization at 1 o'clock tomorrow. Dr. John Herman Randall will follow him, discussing "The Terrific Costs of the Last War."

At the 131st infantry armory, 16th street and Michigan avenue, tomorrow night the Veteran corps of the old First infantry will hold a program, memorial service and regimental review, following which there will be dancing.

At sunrise tomorrow a flag raising will be held at 61st street and St. Lawrence avenue in honor of the veterans of the world war. The ceremony will be under the combined auspices of the A. O. Sexton school's Parent-Teacher association and the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War. The drum and bugle corps of Fort Dearborn post of the Legion will participate.

Service Girls Plan Reunion.

The Patriotic Service league, who during war days comprised 2,000 girls engaged in every type of home service, will hold its fourth annual reunion at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at the Woman's City club, in its new character as the Young Women's auxiliary of that club, by whom it was "adopted." A play by Louise Quitmeyer, 3238 24th place, will be given, contrasting the war work with girls' interests today, thirteen years later.

The Chicago and North Western post of the Legion will celebrate with a dinner and dance at the Hotel La Salle tomorrow night. Tomorrow morning a memorial service for the railroad's war dead will be held at 11 o'clock at the memorial plaque in the main waiting room of the North Western station.

Peace Association to Meet.

The Free Sons of Israel will gather tomorrow night at the clubrooms of the grand lodge, 422 South Wabash avenue, for an Armistice program. Mrs. Samuel Roth is chairman of the committee in charge.

Nearly 500 educators, sociologists, publicists, and political scientists are expected to attend the all day conference of the Catholic Association for International Peace, to be held at the Congress hotel in observance of the day.

KNOW FACTS ON WAR OR REFUSE AID, RABBI SAYS

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Speaking at Armistice day memorial exercises under American Legion auspices, Rabbi Morris S. Lazaron declared today that in the event of another war it will be the duty of a true citizen to refuse support to the government if the issues are not clear or do not meet his approval.

Urging a "higher patriotism," he said, "we must resolve to demand the facts in any future crisis. We must not permit ourselves to be carried away by propaganda in an emergency."

Lincoln, he asserted, was forced into the civil war; McKinley "delayed week upon week, month upon month, and when he did go into the war it was because the body politic demanded such a move," and "our entrance into the world war, I firmly believe, was delayed a year despite a growing and insistent demand of the people we end it. Wilson was driven into the war."

Hunt for Wife Causes His Arrest in Auto Theft Quiz

Search for his wife brought Jerome Yanser, alias Harry Connors, into the hands of the federal authorities yesterday for questioning in connection with the operations of an interstate gang of automobile thieves. Yanser was arrested Saturday night at the home of his brother-in-law, Leo Brazilo, 1612 South 6th avenue, Maywood, by Maywood police who responded to a call from Brazilo that Yanser was threatening him with death for concealing Mrs. Yanser.

TAKEN EAST ON CHECK CHARGE.

Jerome Greenberg, 20 years old, 3000 Sheridan road, was taken to Mineola, N. Y., to answer charges of conspiracy to defraud on check forgeries. He was arrested Sept. 10 by the Oak Park police.

When a Child is FEVERISH. CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colic, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Phillips Co., 170 Varick St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

AUTO ACCIDENTS CLAIM 18 LIVES OVER WEEK-END

Two Killed Fleeing Police at Hammond.

Automobile accidents over the week-end in and near Chicago caused the deaths of 18 persons and the injury of nearly 30 others.

Thirteen deaths were recorded in Cook county Saturday and during the early morning Sunday. Two more died yesterday. The two Sunday deaths brought the Cook county motor toll for the year to 921.

Two Killed Fleeing Police.

In addition to the Cook county deaths, two Hammond youths lost their lives in a crash early yesterday while speeding to escape police in an effort to shield the name of a woman passenger, who fled apparently uninjured after the crash.

The dead are Henry Wyra, 26 years old, of 562 Moss street and John Ilkin, 28 years old of 522 Maryland street. William Rush, 25 years old, the fourth occupant of the car, was cut and bruised and is being held by the coroner.

Police said Rush, who was driving, attempted to speed away when two motorcycle policemen approached, and was unable to stop and crashed into a telephone pole when a freight train blocked the Nickel Plate crossing at Standard avenue in Hammond. Police were mystified by Rush's explanation that he was trying to shield the woman. No liquor was found in the car and none of the men had been drinking.

Killed Near Waukegan.

In Lake county, Ill., one man was killed, another possibly fatally injured and a third bruised last night when an express car of the North Shore line demolished their automobile on Sheridan road at the diagonal crossing between Waukegan and North Chicago.

Francis C. Horen, 32 years old, 125 Sheridan place, Lake Bluff, driver of the car, was dead when brought to Victory Memorial hospital in Waukegan, and Kenneth Bock, 34 years old, of Libertyville, was found to be so badly crushed that surgeons said he might die. The third occupant of the automobile, Charles Waters, 32 years old, also of Libertyville, escaped with cuts and bruises.

None of the passengers on the North Shore line car was injured.

Sunday's victims in Cook county are:

John Blocum, 45 years old, 204 Colfax street, Evanston, a bond salesman. Fatally injured when he drove his automobile head-on into a street car in Broadway near Norwood avenue and died five minutes after his arrival at Edgewater hospital. He is believed to have fallen asleep at the wheel.

John M. Perry, 61 years old, 6615 Woodlawn avenue, a cattle buyer. Died yesterday in German Deaconess hospital of injuries received last Thursday, when he was struck by a hit and run motorist at Halsted and Root streets. William O'Meara, to whom the license plates of the car were traced through witnesses, is being sought. He has not been at his home at 8533 South Elizabeth street since the accident, his wife told police.

Cyclist Is Killed.

Valparaiso, Ind., Nov. 9.—Stanley Sividenski, a Gary steel worker, was instantly killed on Lincoln highway west of here late today when the motorcycle he was riding with Joseph Wysoke, Gary, crashed into a car driven by Merrill Hamilton of Gary.

Hoover Urges Aid

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—In a statement issued at the White House today President Hoover, who is also president of the American Red Cross, urged support of the Red Cross roll call, which opens Tuesday, Armistice day, and closes Thanksgiving day.

"I trust that the Red Cross membership drive this year may be more responsive than ever before," said the President. "The Red Cross is our national insurance against the sufferings of disaster in any part of our country. It is not charity in the normal sense of gift without obligation. It is supported by all of us and the day may come when any of us may have claims upon its assistance or protection."

KILLS KIN AND SELF AS POLICE USE TEAR GAS

Kansas City, Kas., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Barricaded in a farm house near Wilder, Kas., fifteen miles west of here, while officers fired tear gas bombs into the dwelling, Edward Maddox, 29, Marshalltown, Ia., shot and fatally wounded his stepson, Merle Neagle, 10, and then killed himself today.

Sought on a statutory charge against his 14 year old stepdaughter, Maddox went to the home of Mrs. Richard Perkins, a relative, taking his stepson with him. He threatened to shoot any one who approached.

William McMullen, Kansas City chief of police, and ten sheriff's deputies went to the scene.

Two bandits yesterday robbed the Yellow Cab company offices at Des Plaines and Fulton streets of $3,500 in cash and $700 in checks. One bandit forced Frank L. Bowen, 3651 West 64th place, to open the safe at the point of a sawed-off shotgun while the other stood guard over three employés in the outer office.

The bandits made their escape in an automobile. Six cab drivers on the garage floor of the office were unaware of the robbery. The automobile was found abandoned in front of 1210 Sangamon street with an empty money box on the rear seat. It had been stolen yesterday morning from a garage at 3249 West Harrison street and is owned by Clifford Whinihan, 3243 West Harrison street.

WM. C. GRUNOW 'ADOPTS' TEN NEEDY FAMILIES

Joins Good Fellows with $1,045 a Month Gift.

William C. Grunow, radio manufacturer, yesterday adopted ten destitute families for the period of the unemployment emergency. His check for $1,045, covering the first month's budget for the families, was received at the Good Fellow headquarters in THE TRIBUNE offices at Dearborn and Madison streets.

WM. C. GRUNOW.

The needs and worthiness of the families have been established by trained and experienced social service workers through the coöperation of the Good Fellow movement with four of the larger charity organizations, the United Charities, the Central Charity bureau (Catholic), the Jewish Social Service bureau, and the Salvation Army.

Coöperate with Clearing House.

Any likelihood of the families receiving duplicate assistance from other sources is removed through the Good Fellows coöperating with the Chicago Council of Social Agencies, a clearing house for 200 Chicago charity organizations.

Every penny of Mr. Grunow's check will reach the ten families he has designated as his charges for the winter or until they can become self-supporting. THE TRIBUNE is paying all expenses of administration of the Good Fellow fund.

The money will be allotted to the families under a standard budget of necessities that is approved by all Chicago charity organizations. It provides the minimum requirements for shelter, food, clothing, and heat, and a small allowance for extras. The families will have expert counsel from social workers in maintaining their households on these budgets and will receive advice and aid in their efforts to become self-supporting.

Every Penny Reaches the Goal.

Good Fellow contributions of $1 are handled with the same care—every penny reaching a needy family—as is exercised in the expenditure of the $1,045 a month donation.

"I elect to become a Good Fellow," said Mr. Grunow, "because I want my charity to reach families, to preserve homes through this trying period of unemployment. Bread lines and flop houses do not care for the women and children. We must care for families as families—they are the foundation of civilized society.

"I also joined the Good Fellow because by popularizing cheerful charity they are improving the public morale, abating pessimism, loosening purse strings, and such influence on the public mind will haste the return of prosperity."

Many Others Give for Needy.

There are few who can afford to give in the figures of Mr. Grunow's check. The city's needy for the most part must depend for food, shelter, heat and clothing, pending the return of better times, upon the generosity of the thousands who are sharing small incomes, the salaried folk who are giving a few dollars a month, and the groups of Good Fellows in offices, factories, churches, and shops who are lumping their contributions so that as a group they can adopt a cold and hungry family.

GOOD FELLOWS!

If you alone or you and your associates wish to carry a hungry family through the winter fill out the blanks below and mail to "The Good Fellow," The Tribune Chicago:

Bishop Griswold Rallies After Two Critical Days

Bishop Sheldon M. Griswold of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, who on Friday and Saturday was reported in a critical condition in the Evanston hospital, rallied slightly yesterday and was able to resume taking some nourishment, according to his physician, Dr. Dwight F. Clark. Bishop Griswold has been a patient in the hospital since Oct. 16, suffering from ailments of the heart and kidneys and a general breakdown complicated by his advanced years.

NATURALISTS ON 8,000 MILE TRIP AFTER REPTILES

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The American Museum of Natural History announced that the yawl Basilisk left Baltimore late today on an 8,000 mile scientific expedition to study reptile and other life in the West Indies. It will be gone a year and a half.

The vessel is manned by Gilbert C. Klingel and W. Wallace Coleman, two Baltimore naturalists. It was built especially by Mr. Klingel to reach small islands untouched by naturalists because of the difficulty of reaching them except in native boats without laboratory facilities.

Mr. Klingel has made a special study of reptile life and he expects to collect rare and unknown species. He also plans to study the organization of lizard colonies, concerning which little is known.

Auto Bumps Wagon; Mule Jumps Into Car; One Hurt

Beaudry, Ark., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—An automobile containing Earl Merriott and Ed Cotnam ran into the back of a wagon pulled by a mule on a mountain road today. The wagon was pushed forward until the single tree bumped the haunches of the mule. He broke loose and jumped into the auto. Merriott was brought to the hospital critically injured.

This Ultra-Violet Ray Treatment, however, is only part of our Complete Scientific Treatment. For cases of "oily hair" it is sometimes used by itself.

For dry, tight scalps; brittle, falling hair; itching or baldness, the Ultra-Violet Ray treatment is followed by vibratory and hand massage to loosen the scalp and increase circulation; by the gentle application of high frequency current to electrify and tone the muscles and tissues, and whatever is required of ointments or stimulating and nourishing medicaments. These are applied to the scalp (not the hair) and gently warmed into it by the rays from the Infra-Red Lamp.

THIS COMPLETE SCIENTIFIC TREATMENT attacks the disorders of the scalp from every angle, and leaves it all aglow with increased circulation, soft, pliable, free from dryness and lightness, and with a wonderful feeling of increased vitality. AL SMITH HEAD OF COMMITTEE TO AID N. Y. IDLE

Will Unify Efforts on Unemployment.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 9.—[Special.]—This city moved today to unify its many programs for unemployment relief by appointing a committee of 100 citizens with former Gov. Alfred E. Smith as chairman. The new committee, created by the welfare council, will raise no funds itself but will work in close cooperation with the city officials, the emergency employment committee and a score of other fund raising, job promoting agencies.

It will be known as the coördinating committee and among its members will be business men, financiers, industrialists, executives and social workers. The full membership of the committee as well as directors of all groups engaged in local unemployment relief work have been asked by Chairman Al Smith to attend a conference Tuesday night to work out a relief program along big business lines.

Plans to Find Jobs.

The former governor said he would outline the aims of his committee together with a plan for elimination of duplication of efforts and the obtaining of maximum results. One of the committee's aims, it was said, would be to find jobs as well as temporary relief for those in distress.

While the welfare council was lining up its new committee, Seward Prosser of the emergency employment committee announced that a conditional gift of $250,000 for unemployment relief had been received by his organization from the Milbank memorial fund. There was an outright gift of $100,000, with additional sums of $50,000 each to be contributed toward each $1,000,000 raised above $2,000,000.

Will Raise Six Millions.

The committee has set itself the task of raising $6,000,000 to be distributed among the various relief agencies in the five boroughs and already has more than $1,000,000 in pledges.

In regard to Al Smith's coördinating committee, it was explained by relief workers that for some time past it had been evident that a ruling hand was needed to unify unemployment aid in the city. Mr. Smith was approached because of his known interest in the situation and immediately agreed to undertake the formation of a committee of 100. The names of his co-workers were not made public tonight as not all of them had been notified of their appointment.

In connection with the request that the committee members and agency heads sent to him Tuesday, Mr. Smith and Homer Folks, chairman of the welfare committee, issued a statement tonight summarizing the situation.

Organizations to Coördinate.

The organizations to be coördinated, the statement said, include thirty-four public relief agencies, the department of public welfare, the board of child welfare, fourteen private agencies providing lodgings and care for the homeless, thirty-two nonprofit making employment agencies, municipal and state employment bureaus, the emergency employment committee, the mayor's emergency committee, the Salvation Army, breadline organizations, newspapers, churches, ministers, lodges, clubs, and civic bodies.

The statement praised the work already being done, but pointed out how much more could be accomplished by putting the entire relief system on a unified business basis directed by financiers and business men.

Mr. Prosser's committee this afternoon received a protest from the American Federation of Labor concerning the low wages paid the men employed as emergency workers in the parks. Written by Matthew Woll, vice president of the federation, the letter stated that the emergency committee's plan of paying men $3 a day for five days a week to work in parks was "bound to prove anti-social in its consequences," because the wage is below the prevailing rate and will make the men "feel like objects of charity."

POSTAL LEASE QUIZ TO BEGIN ON WEDNESDAY

The senatorial investigation into subpostoffice leases will begin at the federal building Wednesday.

According to Senator J. J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.] the inquiry probably will continue for a week. It will include as one of its more important phases the Van Buren street station lease. More than twenty witnesses are expected to be subpoenaed.

The investigation grew out of charges that rentals for many of the substations are exorbitant, and that building values were increased in many instances so that the lessors could obtain higher rent.

SENTENCED FOR ARSON.

Tuscola, Ill., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Chauncey Easwering, 71 year old shoe cobbler, has been sentenced to from one to twenty years in the Chester penitentiary for arson.

PRAY IN STREETS AS FIRE MENACES WHOLE VILLAGE; ONE KILLED

Bedminster, Pa., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Residents of this little Bucks county town prayed in the streets today for deliverance as flames swept through its main buildings and for a time threatened the village with destruction.

While firemen from seventeen nearby towns were speeding to the fire, two engines overturned, killing William Fisher, a volunteer fireman, and injuring eight others, one seriously.

Two three story buildings, a general store and a warehouse, and two garages were destroyed and the village school and several other buildings damaged. Persons whose property was damaged or destroyed said the combined damage was approximately $100,000.

ANOTHER WEEK OF JOB HUNTING TO START TODAY

Sally Hopes Offers Will Continue.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Another working week starts this morning with the usual eager rush of the unemployed into the bureaus, in the recurrent hope that there's going to be a job for them at last. Up in the Tribune Tower Sally Joy Brown, who is doing her best to locate enough jobs for the jobless, attacks her mail bag in the same fervent spirit—that this week there will be bigger and better positions reported, to offset the flood of mail that began yesterday to pile up for her perusal.

But the outlook was none too hopeful, as Sally dropped in to collect the earliest batch of letters and to investigate their contents. By far the majority were appeals for aid instead of offers of employment. Unless the telephone this morning does better by this department and its unfortunate friends, the excellent record of last week probably will slip down the scale instead of edging ever upward toward permanent improvement. What have you to offer?

Can You Help This Man?

Perhaps you know of a place that would suit the needs of M. W. R.—whose note yesterday read:

"Dear Miss Brown: I will make my application short, my motto being 'Non multa sed multum.' I am a young man over 30, with a European college education and over seven years in Chicago. I have been a laborer, salesman, solicitor, but most of the time a private tutor. I can tutor Latin, Greek, and German. I speak fluent German and Polish and have a good command of English. I have been out of work for five months. I am good at figures."

Or perhaps you can suggest some work for the man who wrote: "I am up against it. Am a married man with three dependent on me. Through no fault of my own I have been out of work for fifteen months. Have 12 years' experience as investigator, have the best of references, and am willing to do any kind of work. Am 37, intelligent, polite, neat, and a real good worker."

Husband Out of Work.

Especially is help needed for the woman who writes: "My husband has been out of work seven months. We owe back rent, milk bill, and grocery, and can't get any more groceries. The milk man stopped our milk for the babies two months ago. We have no coal, but are burning wood my husband gathers. Have no warm clothes. I have two small children, 3 years and 15 months old. I am expecting another baby."

Wallace, Former Envoy, Ill, Leaves Hotel for His Home

SEIZE SECOND SUSPECT FOR STORE HOLDUP

Maywood police, coöperating with the Chicago detective bureau, early yesterday arrested the second of the two suspects for the holdup on Saturday night of the Lando brothers' dry goods store, 19 North 5th avenue, Maywood. The bandits terrorized 200 Maywood. The bandits terrorized 200 women customers during the robbery. The suspect is Edward L. Hart, 35 years old, alias Lloyd Smith, with a record of five years in the Oklahoma penitentiary for robbery.

Hart's arrest was brought about, police said, by a confession of George Wolf, alias John Morgan, alias Nick Graff, the other suspect. Wolf was caught an hour after the holdup by Chief of Police Richard H. Bailey, Sergt. E. J. Feldman and Patrolmen J. A. McDonald and Harry Mueller of Maywood. They arrested him in a taxicab he had commandeered. With him were two women, who yesterday were identified as Ruth Hart, wife of Hart, and Hazel Robinson.

The four lived, police said, in a rooming house at 2443 West Jackson boulevard, where Hart was arrested. In addition to the Maywood robbery Hart and Wolf have confessed to five store holdups in Chicago, the police say. All are from St. Louis. They will be arraigned today in Felony court before Judge Lyle.

A charming Western lady . . . pausing in Chicago for a few hours en route home from a European and Asiatic tour . . . asked one of our ushers at the State and Washington entrance where she could purchase Salonika Cloths.

When in the ancient capital of Byzantium she and her husband were interested in the Salonika Cloths in one of the bazaars.

"Why bother now? Wait until you can visit Field's back home. They carry everything—and you will save money," said a traveling companion from Chicago.

"So here I am," she told our usher. The latter asked our guest to inspect several interesting spots in the store while he shopped for her in the linen section. Upon his return he found this note:—

"I was just wandering around the ninth floor (near the Antique Section) when a young saleswoman asked me what I wanted. I said I was just looking around because I knew she didn't have what I wanted."

"'Don't say that. Just tell me.'

"So I did and she went and got a stock of cloths—or at least the ends of them. So Field's came up to its reputation.

"Thank you for your kindness.

"Cordially,

Note.—The cloths cost her only $3.75 apiece. Embroidered fragments may be had from $1.25 to $6.75. Quite naturally our own permanent foreign branches, cooperating with our retail and wholesale buyers traveling from Chicago, can obtain and import from abroad rare merchandise at lower prices than can individuals. Authenticity is assured.

5 POWERS OFFER PLAN TO LIMIT NAVIES OF WORLD

Will Submit Proposals to 27 Nations.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Nov. 9.—The delegates of the five big naval powers, America, Britain, Japan, France, and Italy held a private meeting tonight to complete the preparation of the clauses of the proposed naval disarmament convention for the league of nations preparatory disarmament commission now in session here.

All the articles covering naval limitation will be handed en bloc to the president of the commission, Dr. J Loudon of Holland, who will submit them to the other 27 states represented on the commission for examination.

The submitted document will be the outcome of the Washington and London naval disarmament conferences and will define the various categories of warships, the principal characteristics of their armaments, and other phases.

Will Fix Size of Ships.

The delegates of the five powers will formulate the maximum sizes of capital ships and of cruiser types, such as 10,000 ton vessels mounting 8 inch guns and the smaller classes of cruisers mounting 6 inch weapons. They will also define size limits of destroyers and flotilla leaders. Submarines will be divided into two classes—seagoing submersible cruisers and coast defense craft with a short radius of operation and mine laying facilities.

The statistics to be submitted will also include the age limit of vessels in each of the various categories and the regulations as to their replacement when they become obsolete. Enumeration will also be made of the craft that are exempt and not covered by the treaties as well as miscellaneous warships, such as gunboats and special types.

It is expected that certain of the smaller naval powers will insist in taking a hand in the final decision on the marine annex to the proposed convention, and that the cut and dried proposals of the big five will not be swallowed at one gulp.

Expect Submarine Discussion.

Turkey, Jugo-Slavia, Spain, Holland, and Russia are the nations that are considered likely to be principally interested in alterations and amendments to the proposals, so as to cover their own particular requirements.

No opposition is looked for on the larger types of fighting craft and the discussion is expected to center largely on the question of submarines, following the futile attempt at the London conference last January to bring about their abolition.

The direct pourparlers, which were broken off between France and Italy last September as an outcome of the deadlock between the two nations on the question of parity, have not yet been resumed.

Will Renew Navy Talk.

It is reported, however, that conversations will begin this week between Rene Massigli, the French delegate, and Augusto Rosso, the Italian representative, on a new basis which is largely the result of American Ambassador Hugh Gibson's visits to Paris and Rome, when he talked with Premier Andre Tardieu of France and Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy.

It is being said that the question of parity will be taboo and that the negotiations will be conducted along entirely new lines based on the irreducible minimum of each country's requirements for defense purposes.

See Parity Deadlock Broken.

The crux of the problem is expected to hinge on the number of 10,000 ton cruisers each power will maintain.

The other delegations, interested in the parity deadlock between America, Britain, and Japan, have evinced a certain optimism and it is indicated that there is a strong chance of a compromise being reached, which would insure the operation of the tripartite naval agreement until 1935, when the powers will meet again.

U. S. TESTS FAST TANKS TO HELP DOUGHBOY ALONG

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—The mission of the mechanized armored force now being established by the army at Fort Eustis, Va., will be that of determining the proper tactics for the handling of fast tanks and other fighting machines on the battlefield, it was disclosed today.

Although modern armored fighting machines have been experimented with on a large scale abroad and tactics for their employment worked out, the war department revealed today that no final definite rôle for the mechanized force has been worked out in this country. The present armored force tactics call for the use of fast tanks and other fighting machines to aid the advance of the doughboy fighting on foot.

"The employment of this force," Secretary Hurley said in referring to the mechanized organization at Fort Eustis, "will in no way diminish the rôle of infantry tanks."

"In the conduct of the training of this new force its mission will be that of tactical laboratory for the determination of the proper tactics which can and must be used in the maneuver of fast tanks supported by other mechanized or motorized arms. In addition, it will test experimental equipment in the field and will be of great value as a field agency to determine the tactical characteristics of armored vehicles and their auxiliaries."

In making his instructions known, Secretary Hurley said the missions of the armored force will call for the use of speed and great striking power.

HANGS SELF NEAR HOME.

Michael Talik, 50 years old, committed suicide yesterday by hanging himself in the woodshed in the rear of his rooming house at 2622 North Marshfield avenue. His son, Walter, told the police that his father had been despondent since the death of his wife several years ago.

Laundrymen ask us—

When the head of a fine laundry says, "How do you do this?" we feel genuinely complimented.

When, during the recent convention in Chicago of the National Laundry Owners Association, leaders in the laundry business swarmed through our plant to study Davies methods, we were pleased, naturally.

Within the past year we have installed many thousands of dollars' worth of new equipment.

But this would mean little—if we did not have people trained in our standards.

Fine laundering calls for fine machinery as a matter of course—but even more for good brains, skillful hands, love of beautiful fabrics, a pride in cleansing and laundering them perfectly.

A Profit Can Be Made on Furniture Bought Today

. . . . . Inspect the equipment of the various rooms—and then remember that furniture—like poker and bridge hands—doesn't improve with the looking. Maybe the home, or a couple of rooms at least, need a new deal.

Now is a most opportune time to refurnish your home. Furniture prices continue surprisingly low.

The money it took to equip a room or two a decade ago will outfit an entire apartment today.

Prices won't always stay at these levels, of course. When the upward adjustment does come the old furniture will be just so much older, and the furniture dollar smaller.

THE above reprint from the Tribune is a statement of facts. The John M. Smyth Store, to continue in the confidence of its patrons, must always hold first place with them in QUALITY and LOW PRICES. This is not just a collection of words, but it represents the policy of our organization. The SILENT TESTIMONY OF A PRICE TAG, we believe, fixes definitely the value of merchandise, and people make their decisions from their knowledge of the actual worth of merchandise. Indeed, we believe people are well schooled in values. There is NO LIFE IN ADJECTIVES—it has been completely used up in exaggerated statements in present day advertising. Quality and Low Prices in the John M. Smyth Store can be relied upon. We are always in line with new lower replacement costs—you can depend upon our LOW PRICES and GOOD QUALITY. TO HASTEN ELECTRIFICATION.

The Reading railroad is spending $20,000,000 in electrifying its suburban services in the vicinity of Philadelphia. The president of the railroad, Mr. Agnew T. Dice, was quoted recently by Mr. Arthur Henning of THE TRIBUNE as saying:

"As our country grows, our railroads are required to handle an ever increasing tonnage over their rails. They should be permitted to do this in the most efficient manner, taking advantage of the most modern and effective tools available, to the end that time, fuel and man power may be conserved. The electric locomotive is such a tool. It can haul heavier trains at higher speeds; can do more work for the expenditure of a pound of coal and can use hydro-electric energy where this is available; can be kept in service a larger proportion of the time; two or more units can be operated by one engine crew; axle and wheel loadings are less, with less loading transmitted to track and bridges; and, lastly, can be maintained and serviced at less cost."

Elsewhere Mr. Dice had spoken of the great advantages of electrification for suburban and terminal service. Trains can be operated more rapidly, permitting more intensive use of tracks in crowded areas. The cleanliness of electric operation makes a strong appeal to commuters. The chief obstacle to electrification, he found, was the difficulty experienced by the railroads in borrowing the capital required. Eager as we are for the electrification of the terminals in Chicago, we would be the last to deny the force of Mr. Dice's last point. Railroads which are starved for revenue and find difficulty in meeting their present fixed charges are in no position to undertake expensive improvements, whatever economies those improvements offer. The railroads are entitled to a comfortable margin of profit above their present earnings to improve their credit. Mr. Joseph Eastman of the interstate commerce commission confessed in Boston the other day that he is no unqualified believer in private control of the railroads, but as long as private management is continued, he said, the railroads must be assured of adequate earnings. As he phrased it:

"Now the essential test of whether these railroads . . . are being paid enough, it seems to me, is their ability under honest and good management to attract the new capital which is constantly necessary if they are to meet the needs of a growing community."

The first of these needs is electrification. Its advent in Chicago will be hastened by fair treatment of the railroad companies. For years, now, railroad regulation in this country has suffered from a tradition. Regulation was regarded, when introduced, as regulation downward. The railroads were viewed as public enemies whose predatory instincts must be curbed. Perhaps this attitude was justified at the time, but meanwhile great changes have occurred. Railroads are no longer conspicuously profitable. With a few notable exceptions, they are barely able to hold their own; other enterprises are far more prosperous. Nevertheless, the railroads are continually called upon to carry the burden of local or national misfortune. As a result of last summer's drought the railroads serving the regions affected were obliged to reduce their freight rates for the relief of the farmers. A few years ago congress required the adjustment of rates to relieve agricultural distress all over the country. And so on.

Railroad transportation is the largest industry in the United States in point of investment. Railroad securities are the keystone of our national finance. The soundness of our savings banks, insurance companies and trust companies depends in large measure upon the soundness of railway credit. That security cannot be maintained if the railroads' earnings are kept so low that the physical equipment of the railroads cannot be modernized. Half starved railroads mean inadequate service, which means loss of business to competing means of transport, which, in turn, means further loss of revenue. Those, like us, who are demanding electrification, are not unaware of the fact that the change will be speeded if the interstate commerce commission breaks the vicious circle and enables the railroads to earn substantially more than their present revenues.

A CONTRAST.

John Steele's summary of the proposed empire tribunal has for us some ironic implications. The plan, says Mr. Steele, is for some sort of an arbitration body, not a permanent court, but to be set up for each dispute. Appeal to such an agency is to be purely voluntary and it will deal only with disputes between the several states of the commonwealth.

The contrast of this very cautious and limited enterprise with the league of nations and its judicial agency, the permanent court of justice, is striking. The states of the British commonwealth are of the same race, culture, language, law and political system, yet they are barely ready to create a system of voluntary arbitration. Yet the United States is invited to enter with Liberia and Siam, with Haiti and Andorra, with the whole medley of nations near and far, into a solemn and iron covenant binding us to its governance in international conflicts of unpredictable conditions, to put our freedom of judgment and of conscience into its keeping, to recognize the permanent jurisdiction of its high court and to abide by its decree.

The British commonwealths are in this system, but they are comfortably seated and near the door. When it comes to their own family affairs they reveal an eloquent distrust of permanent commitments and entanglements.

LEADERSHIP IN MODIFICATION.

Chairman Fess of the Republican national committee has the solidity of mountain chains. His party's majority in congress has been slashed to the vanishing point, and in his own state, Ohio, his party has lost the governorship and a senatorship, but Mr. Fess says "no outstanding issues controlled the results."

To that kind of leadership the Republican party can attribute many of its present woes. Mr. Fess is a Republican and a dry and he has deliberately blinded himself to the strength of the protest against prohibition in his own state and in every other progressive state in the country. To be sure, the landslide is not to be explained solely as an expression of anti-prohibition sentiment, but the continuance of his kind of leadership can result only in the further defeat and eventual dissolution of the party. A Republican party which must fight to break even in Kansas and must rely upon the mistakes of the opposition for any strength it develops in New York, Illinois, Massachusetts, and Ohio has no bright future immediately before it.

It is a curious fact that one of the few men in the United States who are mystified by the overwhelming successes of Democrats is exactly the man who is calling signals for the Republican party. He is constitutionally incapable of diagnosing the strength of the opposition and the weakness of his own side. The party can still be saved, but it is plainly doomed if men as incompetent as he has shown himself to be for political leadership in our day are retained in positions of power.

The majority of the country, and especially the majority in the erstwhile Republican states, is opposed to prohibition. There can be no doubt on that score any longer. National prohibition has been tried and it has been found unsatisfactory. Able leadership would recognize the fact and move at once in the direction of repeal of the amendment. Meanwhile, it would lose no time in seeking to modify the Volstead act and the Jones act. It would not let the initiative in this matter slip into the hands of the opposition.

Modification is indicated, as the doctors say, in the permitted percentage of alcohol in beer and wine. The arbitrary ½ of 1 per cent should be altered to 4 or 5 per cent. But that is not all. The protest against the dry tyranny is directed as much at the manner of enforcement as to the law itself. The denial of trial by jury, the wanton killing of suspects, the confiscation of property, the arrogance of enforcement officials have offended every citizen who believes that the government should set an example in obedience to law and constitutional principles.

The Democrats are at least as divided as are the Republicans on the question of prohibition, for the south is at least as dry as Kansas. Neither party will find it altogether easy to take an uncompromising position against the Volstead act. With a certain amount of confusion in both camps, the party which first seizes the initiative will present the opposition with an awkward dilemma.

WOLF IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING.

The soviet delegate to the league disarmament conference, Maxim Litvinoff, had a glorious time excoriating capitalist nations for not disarming. As representative of a despotism as ruthless in the use of force as any in history, the long tirade was a piece of insolence which must have tried the patience of the delegates. That French newspaper men should have protested because it was not translated from English into French suggests they were very short of copy.

We in America may feel at times that European governments might show more enterprise in building a structure of peaceful relations, but the sanguinary tyranny of the Russian bolsheviks is hardly in a position to criticize. Its proposals for disarmament are a palpable fraud. The abolition of national forces in western Europe would increase the possibilities of mischief in bolshevik espionage and propaganda. It would increase the potential force of the mob and its inevitable leaders, the fanatic and the demagogue. Moscow does not plead for disarmament in the interest of peace. It does not want war now because war would not assist its present projects in Russia. But it believes in force. It exists by force. It will use force without pity or restraint wherever and whenever it seems profitable. Bolshevism against the background of massacre at home and incitement of violence abroad is not an impressive advocate of disarmament.

Editorial of the Day

EDUCATION AND MARRIAGE.

[Memphis Commercial-Appeal.]

If you want to be happy though married, prepare in advance by getting a good college education. At least this solution for marital disappointment and distress can be gathered from a survey just completed at Teachers' college, Columbia university. In this survey of 1,600 marriages it was found that 75 per cent of the educated married women pronounced their unions as "unequivocally happy."

And there is a reason. Education dispels the foolish glamour that is thrown by the unthinking around the union of man and maid. It reveals the cares and responsibilities as well as the opportunities for happiness in the marriage state. Educated, thinking persons have a rather clear idea of both sides of the matter before they get married, and their unions do not become a disappointment. This may account for the fact that there are more unmarried persons among educated men and women, but it also explains why those of this class who do marry make a much better show of success.

It is the blissful ignorance of unthinking youth, an ignorance that imagines marriage as nothing else than a careless, butterfly quest of the sweets in the garden of life, which most often encounters the direful tragedy of marital unhappiness.

INSULIN SUBSTITUTES.

A REPORT by Drs. Blotner and Murphy indicates some promise of a substitute for insulin and the injection method. These physicians found that taking a watery extract of liver by mouth caused the amount of sugar in the blood to fall. The fall was quite noticeable three hours after the extract was taken and it was at its limit by eight hours afterwards.

The amount of extract given was equivalent to one pound of liver. The drop in blood sugar noted after this dose exceeded that produced by an injection of 10 units of insulin or even more. When used on diabetics the results were satisfactory, both when given in conjunction with insulin and when that drug was not used.

Up to the time of reporting, their experience had been limited to twenty-three diabetics, some observed and checked very closely and others only as clinical cases are usually watched. In addition, they had done the proper amount of laboratory clinical experimentation. Of course, one swallow does not make a summer, nor can final conclusions be based on twenty-three cases nor on the experience of one group of physicians. No one is justified in throwing away his syringe and abandoning insulin at the present stage of the story.

There remain to be answered such questions as: Will liver extract by mouth bring a man out of a diabetic coma? Will it ward off coma? Can it be taken for a long time without losing its effect or upsetting the digestion? What is the best way to make liver extract? How can it be kept? How marketed? How often should it be used? What is the best dose? Is overdosing dangerous? What are its limitations? What age periods does it suit? What should be its relation to diet? It may be that it will replace insulin, but it is more probable that it will find a field and leave for insulin another field.

It seems to promise much for that large group of diabetics who do not know how to use insulin by hypodermic, or who do not care to learn or are indifferent to its use because of the trouble.

The internal secretions of the liver and of the pancreas have somewhat the same action. It is known that the liver has much to do with changing sugar into a form in which it can be stored and which can be used by the muscles. Therefore we do not wonder that physicians are trying to use liver extract instead of insulin.

GROWTH AND EXERCISE.

Miss M. R. writes:

1. Is it true that people grow until they are 17?

2. Will you please give some exercises that will help people to grow between the ages of 14 and 17?

REPLY.

1. Most persons grow in stature until are 17, or a little longer. They grow in weight until later are.

2. There are no special exercises that promote growth. Out-of-door exercises of all kinds are good for the general health.

DANGER IN KISSING.

L. B. writes: Please advise me of the danger of grownups kissing a 21 month old baby on the mouth. Also, your opinion of having a dog loose in the house where the baby plays.

REPLY.

Almost all contagion is spread from mouth to mouth. Babies have but little resistance to contagion. It follows that to kiss a baby endangers it.

Some dogs spread fleas. Occasionally a dog infects a human being with some form of skin trouble or with some form of tapeworm. Dogs sometimes infect humans with rabies. There is some danger of dogbite. That about completes the list.

SLEEPING ON STOMACH.

W. J. T. writes: Can you suggest a comfortable arrangement of arms and pillows to sleep on the stomach?

REPLY.

Considerations of comfort generally take care of that better than I can. Should I suggest an arrangement, and should you try it, you would hold it only a few minutes. Well people never sleep on the stomach for many minutes consecutively. Please do not infer that I think it is a bad sleeping position.

STREET LIGHTS.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—[Friend of the People.]—About a month ago the street lights on the west side of Cornell avenue between 80th and 83d streets were put out of service due to pavement repairs. These repairs have now been completed several weeks, but the lights are still out of service. This is dangerous because of holdups and other criminal activities.

E. J. H.

The installation has been held up due to a delay experienced by us in receiving cable to be used on this job. This cable has now been received and I am in receipt of a report from my construction bureau to the effect that work will be started at this particular location this week.

MICHAEL J. KENNEDY,
Commissioner of Gas and Electricity.

CORPORATE DEBTS.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I own stock in a company which is in hands of receiver. 1. If the receiver is forced to sell out will I be held liable for any of the firm's debts? 2. Can I escape being held liable if I sell now even at an entire loss of my stock as it is just on the market and that's all?

E. L.

1. If you paid up your original stock subscription you will not be liable for present debts. This limitation of personal liability is one of the reasons for incorporating.

BUILDING NEEDS REPAIRS.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—There is a dilapidated old frame structure on West Fifteenth street which has been neglected for so long that it is dangerous. Last week an eavestrough fell from it and narrowly missed hitting a child. The chimneys will topple in the first hard wind. Something should be done about it, either repaired or razed.

A. D.

The owner of the building complained of has been notified to repair chimney and to make all other necessary repairs to place building in a good and safe condition.

CHRISTIAN P. PASCHEN,
Commissioner of Buildings.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THEY THREATEN TO REPORT.

From down Washington way comes the cheering news that the law enforcement commission, or prohibition commission, or whatever it's called, and it's been called a lot of things (tck! tck! tck!), is about ready to report. Since the loud and emphatic manner in which the electorate spoke last week on the subject of the noble experiment it is hinted in some quarters that the commission may do something about it. Anyhow, the point might be raised that five per cent beer cannot be regarded as noble, and therefore the 18th amendment does not apply to its being retailed in schooners at five cents per schooner. Wine ought to be aristocratic enough to be called noble, but not an experiment; they've been making it from the time Adam and Eve were given the gate in the Garden of Eden. Therefore, those so inclined may insist that wine and beer not coming under the card index marked "noble experiment" will be viewed with a gentle tolerance by the commission, and that in time they will take the place of bootleg hootch and white mule as beverages in our great commonwealth. However, and likewise moreover, it is really too early to prophesy. And a great many people hope that, instead of loosening up the Volstead act, the commission will put an extra set of teeth in it. As one of these very persons, a beautiful young flapper, said yesterday: "Oh, I do hope they don't change the 18th amendment or the Volstead law. Speakeasies are such fun, and bootleggers, my dear, they're a scream!" We never happened to look at it just that way.

A LASS OF KILMARE.

There was magic by Killarney, where the fairy wreaths were weaving
That flower-fragrant night in June, she chose to come to earth
And all their far off elfin homes the "little folk" were leaving
To hold within the mystic rings a carnival of mirth.

O the wishings and the giftings that they brought were fine and many,
For the Blessed Isle has treasures like none else beneath the sky;
And of harmful word or thought upon the child there wasn't any,
Every glade and glen was guarded from the Witch of Evil Eye.

One brought the name-gift beautiful, its sound like waters falling,
Killarney's dimpling smile lay in another's tiny hand,
The lilting laughter in her voice like golden bells a-calling
Was given her for keeping by the waving of a wand.

The freedom of the winds was in her slender body's swaying;
They hid a hint of danger in the glory of her hair;
The gift of tears for blessed grief, to keep her at her praying . . .
And then, a dancing in her feet to lighten every care.

The glint of brown pools in the hills was for her soft eyes' shining,

ETHELYN BRYANT CHAPMAN.

WE NOTICED in Cal Coolidge's column Saturday this sage remark: "The first requisite of every unit of government is to furnish order and security." Fourteen words—twenty-eight dollars for Cal at two bucks the word. Well, all right, give Cal twenty-eight berries for that wheeze if you want to, but we will undertake to do just as good for half the money, or even t[wenty]. Or for four bits.

A LADY who died in Kansas at the age of 89 attributes her longevity to smoking a clay pipe since she was 19. Ah, but wait; the Anti-Tobacco league will now arise and inform you that had the lady not smoked a clay pipe from the age of 19 she would have lived to be 110 years of age.

IS IT AN OLIVE BRANCH OR POISON IVY?

We read with great interest the magnanimous declarations of our most eminent Democrats to help the administration. We noted especially the parts which said: ". . . . a tariff bill which was not only the apotheosis of bad economy . . . the nation in the throes of a ghastly business depression . . . the tariff bill was forced on the country by the brutal strength of numbers and was signed by the President . . . the task ahead is to repair the damage, to get the ship of state back on an even keel, and to go ahead on a course that will bring us out of the tempest. . . ." It is, indeed, beautiful of the Democrats to offer their cooperation to the Republicans, but somehow in reading it over it seems now and then to have all the earmarks of a dirty dig.

LAGNIAPPE.

HEY! WAIT! Now we know the answer to the New Republic query, "Why Schools of Journalism?" The esteemed Post the other day said in speaking of a Philadelphia debutante who's gone to work, "So she's gotten a job." The dictionary may give a half-hearted countenance to "gotten," but nobody but a graduate of a school of [journ]alism would use it at a cat fight.

GOV. ROOSEVELT says he's busy enough being governor of New York and he isn't going to do a thing about starting his boom for presidential nominee. He doesn't have to. Looks like it was a self-starter, or automatic, or something like that.

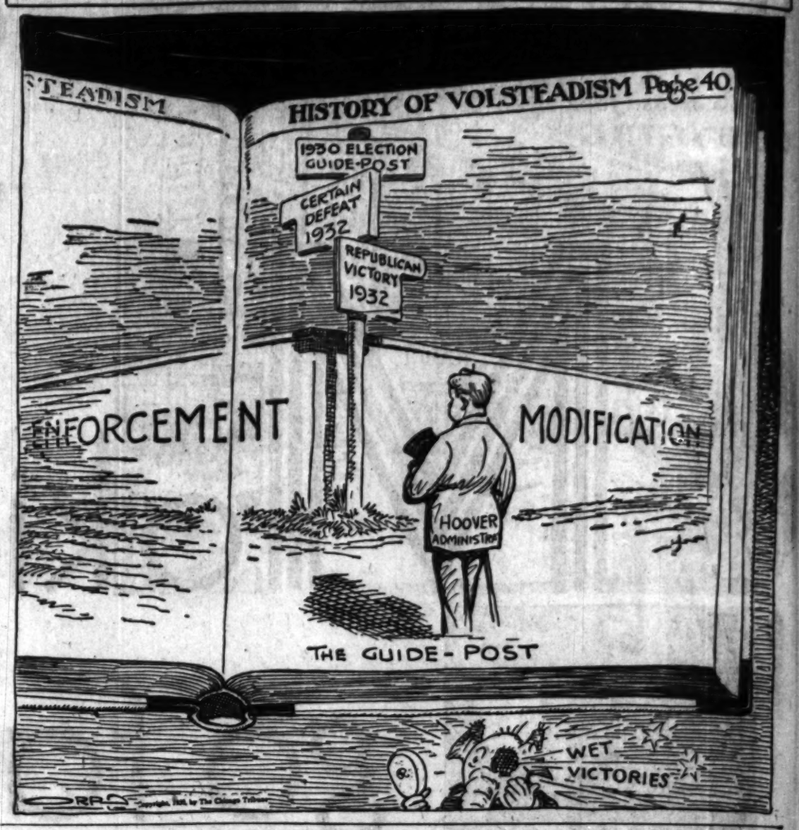
PROHIBITION



FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 10, 1914.

LONDON. — A dispatch from "northern France" says that advance patrols of Belgians have penetrated to Ostend, which means that the coast line from Dunkirk to Nieuport and Ostend is relieved from the German menace of the last two weeks.

LONDON.—A Chronicle correspondent with the Belgian army near Ypres wires: "Ypres is in flames and the greater part of this fine old Flemish town is in ruins. Early today the Germans managed to get the range with their heavy artillery and from dawn onward eleven inch and thirteen inch shells were poured into the city at the rate of from two to twenty a minute. The town itself is completely deserted."

MEXICO CITY.—It is reported here that the port of Acapulco on the Pacific coast has been occupied by American marines. The occupation is said to have followed a request of the inhabitants, who were suffering great privations as a result of the revolution. Gen. Venustiano Carranza today issued an ultimatum declaring himself the chief head of the republic.

CHICAGO.—Will J. Davis Jr., who has been manager of the Illinois theater since the retirement of his father several months ago, was relieved of the management and Augustus Pitou Jr., who has been manager of the Blackstone theater, was named to succeed him.

NOVEMBER 10, 1900.

CHICAGO.—Gov. John R. Tanner came to Chicago and declared himself to be a candidate for the United States senate. Congressman Joseph G. Cannon of Danville also appeared on the scene and said if he found the situation favorable he would become a candidate. Meanwhile, Senator Cullom put in a busy day in conferences and declared that he will win despite all opposition.

LONDON.—Lord Salisbury startled London by departing from precedents and expressing pleasure over the election of McKinley at the lord mayor's banquet. He said he believed the cause of civilization and commercial honor had won in the United States.

BOTHAVILLE, South Africa. — There has been heavy fighting since Nov. 6, resulting in the defeat of Gen. De Wet's Boer army with a loss of 153 killed and 100 taken prisoners. The British loss was three officers and four men.

LONDON.—Walter Jiggins, the latest admirer of Edna May, the popular young American actress and singer, has committed suicide and Miss May has sailed for New York almost prostrated with grief.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 10, 1880.

CHICAGO.—Republicans of Chicago joined last night in solid array to celebrate the sweeping victory of the Garfield and Arthur ticket at the polls. The occasion, the numbers, and the enthusiasm made the jubilation a stupendous success. Gen. J. T. Torrence led the parade. More than 1,000 processionists of the Board of Trade, on foot and on horseback, marched in the grand column. The line of march was brilliantly and artistically illuminated. Fireworks and torchlights were features of the evening.

PARIS.—The siege of the abbey of the Premontre fathers of Marseilles has been raised by the monks neglecting to guard the door by which they communicated with friends from without and the gendarmerie entered. The monks left the abbey with many friends.

CHICAGO.—Gen. James B. Weaver, the Greenback candidate for President, is at the Palmer house, where he was visited by a large number of the local lights of the rag money party, among whom were James Springer, chairman of the Illinois committee. In an interview Gen. Weaver said: "The Greenback party has reason to be proud of the result. We did not expect to elect our presidential candidate, but we expected to establish ourselves as a party to be respected."

SHORT SELLING.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Governmental regulation of the New York Stock exchange is necessary! The governing board has proved itself incapable of regulating it, or else is hand and glove with the bears. Even Mr. Whitney, the president, says they need more bear selling. And so do many financial editors. I wonder just how many of them are selling stock short and using their columns in order to further their personal aims.

Why should a bear on the stock exchange be permitted to sell stock that he does not own, and then spread malicious rumors and scare people who have the stock in their safety deposit boxes into unloading it at a greatly reduced price, whereas if the stock had not been artificially depressed by the bears they would have still been content to own the stock.

I wonder what sort of legal action the owner of a flat building would have against a man who, not having title to the property, sold the property to a third party and then circulated false rumors that there were tenants in there who had leprosy or the bubonic plague had broken out there and caused every one in the building to move out and then be able to purchase the building for a song from the original owner. Not very ethical, is it? Yet, using Mr. Whitney's reasoning, we need more people of this kind.

JOHN W. COVERICK JR.

ALL FOR A DOLLAR.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Regarding the article by Karl Kronkowski concerning the dancing classes at Carl Schurz High school, I think they are very wonderful in developing poise and grace, something that ambitious people want and successful people have. I am sure you want your daughter to have this in her character. Surely you won't miss that dollar; anyway, it can be paid little by little—a quarter at a time. Your daughter is getting the benefit of it, not the teacher. I think it marvelous that it is taught in school, because out of school it would cost a lot more and you probably could not afford to have your daughter take this sort of dancing. It is new and different. I have a feeling it will become quite renowned in a few years. Maybe your daughter has not shown you the art. If so ask her to and you will see for yourself how beautiful it is. When I first showed the poses to my mother and father they both thought it wonderful and said that when my younger sister goes to Schurz she would take it up, too, if possible. I hope you will not begrudge the dollar; I know you won't after your daughter shows you the steps; you cannot get it elsewhere better. It goes in perfectly with school work.

MURIEL DOLORES PATTERSON.

THE DOG SHELTER.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—In reply to your correspondent, Caroline Cero, who makes the statement that there is a cheaper way to get rid of homeless dogs than building a new municipal stray animal shelter, please permit me to say that the money that was collected for this new shelter is money that rightfully belongs to the dogs. They are taxpayers and are entitled to a sanitary place in which they may be housed until they are redeemed or destroyed. If any one is in doubt as to the necessity of this building, I would suggest they visit the filthy, overcrowded, unsanitary city dog pound, located at 2901 South Sacramento avenue, which has been a disgrace to our municipality for more than thirty years and is the cause of spreading disease, to say nothing of the deplorable condition of the impounded animals.

The Buckingham fountain was not necessary, and no doubt the money spent for the World's Fair buildings could be spent on feeding the homeless and unfortunate human beings; but the "poor will always be with us" and we cannot stop development and progress of our city just because a few people seem to think every line of endeavor must cease to function and the money turned over to the unfortunates. The building of this new shelter will aid in the unemployment situation, providing work for several hundred men.

CHARLOTTE LOUISE HUNT.

ADVICE TO MR. CLAUS.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—May I make a suggestion to Santa Claus and his many helpers in the department stores? I am afraid there will be many heartaches among the little folks because of the unemployment condition. But many could be saved, no doubt, if there were not so many promises which cannot be fulfilled. For instance, the kiddies are taken in to see Santa. He asks each what they want Santa to bring. Naturally the little ones tell him right from the heart, and believe me its pleasing. Santa writes in a book, then kindly tells the child he or she will get the wish. The children are so sure, and then what a blow when Christmas comes and more than likely none of the things they asked for are there for them. Imagine the heartaches.

If Santa would say he would try and leave the gifts they ask for I think there would be less unhappiness when Christmas really comes.

ROOSEVELT ROAD BOTTLENECK SEEN IN BERWYN PLAN

Town Wants Resurfacing Instead of Widening.

The value of Roosevelt road as a great east and west highway may be reduced as a result of the decision of Berwyn city officials to undertake inadequate paving of the stretch of the thoroughfare running through their town rather than follow the state plan for a wide right of way, according to Robert Kingery of the Chicago Regional Planning association. Inadequate paving in Berwyn will result in a bottle neck which will greatly impede the easy flow of traffic, Mr. Kingery pointed out.

The situation, as explained by Mr. Kingery, is this: Berwyn controls the south side of Roosevelt road for about a mile and Oak Park the north side. Some time ago an agreement was entered into by the various towns through which the highway passes to widen it in conformity with the state's program of making Roosevelt road an arterial thoroughfare from Lake Michigan to Geneva.

Want to Forego Widening.

Oak Park agreed to widen its strip, as did Berwyn, but now officials of the latter town are seeking to resurface the present road and to forego widening because of the expense. A street car line runs down the middle of Roosevelt road and the distance from the middle of the tracks to the curb is twenty-three feet.

The result is that when cars are parked along the south side of Roosevelt and a street car is proceeding east traffic from the west will be forced to keep behind the street car, as there is no room to pass. The state and county together had agreed to expend $300,000 on widening Roosevelt road through Berwyn, Oak Park, and Cicero, but if Berwyn goes ahead with its resurfacing plan none of this money will be available to it.

Byron C. Thorpe, mayor of Berwyn, states that officials of his town "have no desire to stand against the state and county so long as they pay a reasonable part of the bill which would result from buildings being moved back from the present street line, or sliced off, to permit the widening of Roosevelt road."

Wants Berwyn to Pay.

Mr. Thorpe says the state only wants to pay for paving the middle part of the proposed forty foot road, leaving the entire cost for changing the building line to Berwyn. The cost of this has been estimated at around $700,000.

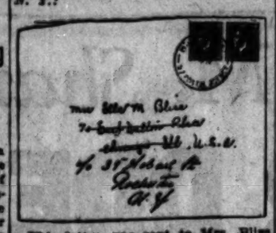
"Seventy per cent of the traffic which will use Roosevelt road will be through traffic and we feel that the state should pay 70 per cent of the widening cost," Mr. Thorpe said. "Further, we have passing through our town six traffic lanes on 22d street and six on Ogden. We suggest for the relief of Roosevelt road traffic that 19th street be made a one way street for east bound traffic between Harlem and Lombard avenues, and that 11th street in Oak Park be a one way street for west bound traffic."

Mr. Kingery says he has received information that about 80 per cent of the property owners of Roosevelt road frontage in Berwyn oppose the plan of the officials to do a resurfacing job instead of putting in permanent construction. They now have an appeal on the confirmation of the assessment cost for resurfacing pending in Judge Jarecki's court.

INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.

Letter received by Mrs. Ella B. Bliss, 39 Robert street, Rochester, N. Y.:



This letter was sent to Mrs. Bliss from Pitcairn island, one of the most isolated spots in the world. It is situated in the middle eastern part of the Pacific ocean 100 miles from the nearest member of the Paumotu archipelago.

"There are only 175 people on the island," Mrs. Bliss writes. "They are Seventh Day Adventists. Ships going to New Zealand go out of their way to reach there, and the people consult the ship's doctor if they are ill. There is no doctor on the island and they have no way of conveying anything there but a wheelbarrow. They have never seen an airplane nor an automobile. They have no money, but trade curios, beads, etc., to the passengers on the passing ships and then send away for their clothes."

Pitcairn island has a peculiar history. In April, 1789, a mutiny broke out on board the British ship Bounty and the commander, together with the loyal remnant of the crew, was set adrift in an open boat. They made their way to one of the islands in the Malay archipelago, while the 25 mutineers returned to Tahiti. Later the leader of the mutiny took eight Englishmen and eighteen Polynesians, twelve of the latter women, took possession of Pitcairn island, and burned the Bounty. Treachery and debauchery made the island's history for several years until finally one white man, Alex Smith, remained alive.

Smith, afterward known as John Adams, felt the responsibility for the younger half-caste generation that was left to him and set about bringing it up. He died in 1829 and George Nobbs, who had come to Pitcairn the previous year, was appointed magistrate. Fear of drought and the tyranny of an adventurer named Joshua Hill, who had landed and claimed authority over the inhabitants, twice drove the islanders away, but they all returned eventually.

Three Are Drowned While Fishing from a Skiff

Warwick, R. I., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Three men were drowned today while fishing from a skiff anchored in Greenwich bay. They were John Taylor, 19, Thomas Taylor, 21, brothers, and John Askey, 33, all of Oakland Beach.

BLAZING AUTO MURDER PUZZLES BRITISH POLICE

(Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.)

LONDON, Nov. 9.—So many people recently have met death by being trapped by fire in closed automobiles that when Alfred A. Rouse, a London fancy goods traveler, was reported early Thursday morning to have been incinerated in his car near Northampton, the incident attracted little public attention. The sequel, however, has aroused the police of the entire country.

Mrs. Rouse was unable to identify the body as her husband's. After the discovery of a pair of charred women's shoes in the wreckage a police surgeon decided the body was a woman's. Two men who found the burning car then recalled they had seen a hatless man running in the neighborhood, and a hue and cry was raised for Mr. Rouse. He was finally traced and arrested yesterday when he pleaded not guilty to the charge of murder of a person unknown.

Meanwhile doctors decided the victim was a man. Today detectives discovered a blood stained mallet in a nearby field and a small piece of gasoline soaked suiting which had escaped the flames. No person who might be the man who perished in the blazing car has been reported missing.

ROBBED OF CASH AND RING.

Two armed bandits yesterday robbed John Plainer, 4448 Drexel avenue, manager of the Hurson undertaking rooms at 1820 South Michigan avenue, of $285 in cash and a diamond ring valued at $350.

CHINESE LEADERS PLAN INDUSTRIAL RISE OF NATION

10 Hour Day Proposed to Heal Civil War Wounds.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 9.—More than 300 Chinese business men, bankers, industrialists, and government officials concerned with national and provincial finances, concluded their conference yesterday at Nanking. Resolutions were passed designed to place the country on a business basis and enable the country to recover from the devastating results of the recent civil war.

The resolutions indicate a strong tendency in the direction of state establishment of cigaret factories, cement works, large scale cotton and woolen textile, steel and chemical factories.

Propose Government Stores.

They recommend that the government open emporiums for the promotion and sale of native products, and exemption from taxation of products intended for export, and the adoption of a protective tariff.

Although it was not specifically stated, the intention is implied that the Chinese government, as well as private industrial and commercial interests, are embarking on a period of intensified industrial development, not unlike the soviet Russian "five year plan." President Chiang Kai-shek declared in an address that it was necessary for China to adopt a ten hour working day for the next five years in order to attain a position of equality with the western industrial nations.

Feature Tariff Freedom.

The resolutions were given prominence in newspapers here today, especially those demanding an early abolition of the so-called unilateral treaties pertaining to extraterritoriality, and restricting tariff freedom, alleged to be a fetter on Chinese industries. The papers urge immediate steps for the reorganization of revenue and currency systems as a preparation for the adoption of the gold standard, and recommend the introduction of scientific management and the rationalization of industries. The encouragement of new industries will mean relieving unemployment.

The recommendations made at the conference also urged the opening of an international exchange bank to aid foreign trade development.

A report from Tientsin today stated that Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, head of the Manchurian government, is proceeding to Nanking in order to attend the fourth plenary congress of the Kuomintang party which is scheduled to open at Nanking on Nov. 14.

Brazil Happy at Recognition by U. S.; Note Calms Fears

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 9.—The recognition of the new Brazilian government by the United States has caused favorable reaction among all Brazilian parties. This is even reflected in extreme rebel circles, where an impression had prevailed that the United States government was unfriendly toward the Brazilian people. The delivery of the American note by Ambassador Edwin V. Morgan has dispelled this impression and caused jubilation among Brazilians, where pan-American ideals have always flourished and where friendship with the United States has always been a source of pride.

The provisional government has also been recognized by the governments of Argentina, Cuba, Colombia, Germany, Belgium, Paraguay, and by the Vatican.

The government today issued a decree of amnesty for all revolutionary officers, soldiers and civilians who were expelled for their part in the revolt of 1922.

Publish Election Decree.

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The provisional government today published a decree ordering a general election to choose a national assembly for the purpose of enacting a new constitution and new electoral laws and "organise the executive power."

It was understood the election would be held 60 days after publication of the decree, but today's proclamation said only that another decree would regulate the elections, and ordered that the promised assembly should meet at Lima May 2, 1931, and function for two months.

The morning papers published a manifesto from Lieut. Col. Sanchez Cerro, head of the rebel junta which overthrew President Leguia in September, explaining why he had decided to convene the national assembly for approval of the new constitution.

"I pledge my own prestige before our history, and as a soldier my honor before the motherland, that I will respect, and, if necessary, with an iron hand will make others respect, the citizens' rights, in order that, as I promised, the Peruvian people may be in a position to have the representatives it likes."

CREW OF 41 ON GROUNDED SHIP REFUSES TO QUIT

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Refusing to leave their ship, the crew of 41 remained aboard the grounded tanker Tamiahua tonight as salvagers waited for heavy seas to subside before renewing rescue attempts.

Three tugs held the stern of the tanker into the seas which were breaking a half mile off shore from Pescadero point, fifty miles south of here, where the ship was held fast by jagged rocks. The ship grounded during a dense fog last Thursday.

Hunt Bodies of 18 Lost at Sea.

Eureka, Cal., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Shattered debris of the little lumber schooner Brooklyn gave mute testimony tonight of the fate of her captain and crew of seventeen who braved a roaring gale to maintain their sailing schedule.

PREVENT AIMEE FROM LANDING IN 'BRITISH' DISGUISE

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

BALBOA, Nov. 9.—Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, who arrived at Cristobal last week as "Betty Adams, a British governess," was required by immigration officials to produce a British passport or to admit her real identity, when she returned to Cristobal today on the S. S. Toloa from Port Limon, Costa Rica. When she failed to do either, permission was refused to her to land. She returned to Havana on the Toloa this afternoon, after having special permission to shop in Colon.

Her identity was revealed here last week when she toured Colon's night clubs with officers from the Toloa who claimed to believe she was "Betty Adams, an English governess," as shown in the passenger list.

Her followers here announced before her arrival that she was coming here to recover from a nervous breakdown. Today it was reported she had suffered an attack at San Jose, Costa Rica, and required medical attention.

RUBIO PLANS TO AID AGRICULTURE TO FEED MEXICO

BY JOHN CORNYN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 9.—That the time has come for a reform in the agrarian law so that it shall bring about renewed agricultural prosperity throughout Mexico is the kernel of the proposals for the reform of the constitution sent by President Ortiz Rubio to congress.

Some such action has been expected for some time, as the president had expressed, even before assuming the presidency last February, his conviction that the agrarian law should be reformed to allow the larger land owners to help fill the national bread basket.

Proposes Payment for Land.

In his proposals the president suggests that all lands taken for peasant farmers shall be paid for by those receiving them. The president believes, said a prominent political leader today, that this will prevent the exploitation of peasant land by professional politicians and local agrarian leaders, and only those really needing and desiring land will take it when they have to pay for it.

The members of congress discussed the president's proposed changes in the agrarian law behind closed doors today. The working majority was frankly with the president, while probably 30 per cent were neutral, awaiting a careful study of the bill.

Six months ago former President Calles gave voice to the reaction against the agrarian law, declaring that the peasant farmers had failed to live up to the sacrifices made in their behalf by the revolution, and that something must be done to rehabilitate agriculture, which was in a bad way. Gen. Calles is taking a great interest and is stoutly supporting the Rubio bill.

Would Guarantee Holdings.

The bill now under discussion proposes to protect the larger land owners in possession and working the lands, and gives assurance of permanent possession to land owners making permanent improvements on agrarian or other land by creating herds of cattle or building water reservoirs and irrigation works.

Incidentally it was reported today that former President Portes Gil, now on his way to Europe, attempted to forestall the changes in the agrarian law, which he knew were coming, and came near to disrupting the revolutionary party.

Acid Indigestion Torture for Months. Not a Sign Now!

New Prescription ACIDINE Ends Gas Pain After All Else Failed

"I suffered for months with acid indigestion and gas on the stomach," writes Mr. C. Bedford of Detroit, Mich. "Couldn't eat a meal without being troubled with gas and pain, also dizzy feeling. I tried all kinds of medicines, but nothing really helped until I took Acidine. Got relief from the very start. Now I am entirely well, no pains at all. Have recommended ACIDINE to all my friends."

Thousands are astonished how this new prescription ACIDINE succeeds where other known remedies fail. The reason is that it is entirely different. Contains an effective scientific digestant, Japtase, that promptly liquefies 800 times its own weight of heavy, starchy food, under proper conditions. Five other ingredients relieve burning acid, stop gas and soothe irritated stomach lining. No other known remedy contains this scientific combination to end stomach trouble.

Physicians are prescribing ACIDINE, and thousands have found it the only real relief from acid indigestion and dyspepsia, gas, pain, heartburn, coated tongue, bad taste, dizziness and other troubles from the stomach.

Don't take chances with acidity and gas that may lead to more dangerous illness. Get ACIDINE today and watch how quick pain, gas end. You can smoke, eat and drink what you want if you take Acidine to stop resulting acidity. Results guaranteed or your money back. Get ACIDINE.

COLONEL JAS. C. FITZMAURICE, the great Irish aviator who (with two companions on April 12, 1928) blazed the first transatlantic trail from East to West in the "Bremen"—2,125 torturing miles in 36½ hours!

ONE moment when COL. FITZMAURICE kept COOL!

"ABOUT 400 miles from the Newfoundland coast we ran into a baffling blanket of clouds. We tried to top it. We tried to duck it. But both ways we were caught. Above, more clouds. Below, a curtain of thick, blinding fog. Beneath that, however—within a scant 75 feet of the waves—we did find a tiny space in which we could feel our way along, on tenterhooks.

"Night was coming on. Our lights had gone out. Heavy winds were beating up. Our steering wheel took smash after smash, like a fighter.

"Then I remembered—close to von Huenefeld's heart nestled a letter containing a four-leaf clover. We couldn't go up for fear of those treacherous clouds. If the fog drove us down any farther—we were goners! We simply had to forge straight on—and keep COOL. We did and came through safe. Blessings on that four-leaf clover."

PRINCES URGE 'U. S. OF INDIA' AS BEST RULE

bmit Plan to Other Envoys for Study.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The work of the delegates to the Indian round table conference will open formally on Wednesday. As a prelude to the actual start of the deliberations, the constitutional recommendations of the Indian princes were completed today and will be laid before the representatives of British India tomorrow.

It is understood that the constitutional blue print the princes have drawn embodies several features of the federal government of the United States, modified to meet oriental conditions. The first plank is the recommendation of a federal government headed by an Indian prime minister, who, it is tentatively proposed, shall hold office from three to five years in order to secure continuity in government policy.

Define Governing Bodies.

The proposals thereafter define the governing bodies for the whole of India and British India, differentiating their powers.

It is recommended that the Indian federal government administer all affairs concerning the entire country, including defense, finance, exports, imports and industries. The third proposal places purely British Indian affairs, as at present, under the control of a central legislature.

The relations between the princes and British India would be placed in the hands of Indian ministers, who would advise the viceroy. These ministers, the princes recommend, should be chosen from among representatives of the states.

Urge Indian Cabinet.

It is also suggested that in order to create a closer liaison with British Indian administration, the federal portfolios of defense, finance, export and import trade and industries, as well as the ministry charged with political relations of British India and the states, should coincide.

This would mean that the future prime minister would choose an Indian cabinet, while a limited number would form the federal executive body.

The proportional representation of members of the federal legislature from both the states and British India, is the final recommendation of the princes.

Arabs Protest Against Favors to Palestine Jews

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JERUSALEM, Nov. 9.—Following a warning by the Palestine Arab executive secretary, Jamal Husseins, who is in London, that Jewish propaganda against the British government's policy is liable to influence the government to change it, the Arab executive committee today cabled the London colonial office, warning of Arab unrest in event of this possibility. The message of a statement by the British government to allay Arab anxiety and silence the Jews was demanded.

Six Motorists Arrested for Driving on Sidewalk

Motorists who for the last three weeks have been driving for a block down the sidewalk to avoid a half mile detour on Ogden avenue at Commercial avenue, in Downers Grove, yesterday found policemen waiting for them, and six were arrested and compelled to post $10 cash bond. The arrests were made on complaint of subdivision promoters, who charged the drivers with trespassing. Ogden avenue is torn up at this point for the installation of culverts.

Bandits Menace Seven at Movie Theater; Seize Cash

Two armed bandits last night herded seven patrons of the Paulina theater, 3339 North Paulina street, into a corner and robbed the cashier, Miss Bernice Snow, of $350. The manager, C. McDonough, told Racine avenue police the men escaped in a car driven by a third bandit.

THREE IDENTIFIED AS BANDITS.

Amadeo Nanconi, 18 years old, 2435 Lexington avenue; Henry Isiono, 19 years old, 1141 South Claremont avenue, and James Nelson, 18 years old, 2240 West Adams street, were identified yesterday as bandits by several insurance collectors who were also victims. They were arrested by Sergt. William Perez and his squad.

FOUND SLAIN

JOHN READY.

Mystery last night continued to surround the murder of John Ready, 30 years old, 618 North Spaulding avenue, an ex-convict, who was found with a bullet in his head at Kedzie avenue and Madison street early yesterday. Ready was recently released from the penitentiary at Joliet after serving a five year sentence for robbery, police said, but they were unable to ascribe any motive for the shooting. Witnesses who heard the shot told of seeing two men flee, but were unable to give descriptions.

GERMAN REPUBLIC 12 YEARS OLD; DAY PASSES QUIETLY

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The 12th anniversary of the proclamation of the German republic passed quietly throughout the country today. No official cognizance was taken of the anniversary except for the broadcasting of a commemorative address by the Social Democrat, Heinrich Schulz, former statistician in the ministry of the interior and close friend of Friedrich Ebert, first president of the German republic.

At Potsdam student organizations chose the day to mourn for 10,000 student volunteers who died at Langemarck Nov. 11, 1914, one of the bloodiest days in the world war.

Staunch Republicans commemorated the day by a massmeeting tonight in a large hall under the auspices of the Social Democratic party. Speeches extolled the proclamation of the republic as an act for the salvation of the fatherland.

2,000 Fascists "Mourn."

MUNICH, Germany, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Two thousand National Socialists [Fascists] today held mourning service here to commemorate the twelfth anniversary of the revolution which established the German republic. They gathered around and in the Buergerbrau beer cellar, where Adolph Hitler planned his abortive conspiracy to overthrow the present German government in 1923. The ceremonies were conducted without disorder.

LOW MISSISSIPPI ENDS NAVIGATION A WEEK EARLY

Quincy, Ill., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—The Wakerobin, the U. S. government lighthouse tender, is expected to pass Quincy southbound, picking up the buoys and markers and extinguishing all shore lights some time the latter part of this week.

This will be the last boat to go south as she leaves St. Paul Monday. Maj. C. L. Hall explains that the unusually low stages of the Mississippi forces closing of river navigation a full week or more earlier than usual. For the first time in river navigation freight rates have been cut in order to compete with motor transports. The Eagle Packet company has announced a 50 per cent freight reduction in order to compete with truck transportation. Quincy bay is filling up with government boats and other craft for winter quarters.

NEW ROUND TRIP CROSS-COUNTRY BOY AIR RECORD

Rockland, Me., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Stanley Boynton, 18 year old Lexington, Mass aviator, landed here late today to complete a round trip transcontinental flight begun at this airport Oct. 17 in which he made two new junior records.

Ten thousand spectators cheered the boy flyer as he set his monoplane down at 4:20 p. m., with an elapsed flying time behind him of 20 hours and 29 minutes from Los Angeles. This cut by three hours, 24 minutes the previous west to east record of Robert Buck of Elizabeth, N. J., on the westward air trail.

The last leg of his flight, and the roughest of the entire trip, Boynton said, was from Rutland, Vt., after he had been forced down by rain while flying from Rochester, N. Y. today.

Boynton landed amid a pandemonium of whistles and automobile horns on the field where he learned to fly.

Leader—Letourner.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Times may be hard, but there was no evidence of it last night at the opening of Chicago's 24th international six day bike race at the Chicago Stadium. The largest opening night gathering in the history of the event, 9,400 paying cuckoos, was on hand at the outset of the week's vigil.

The riders joined in the spirit of returning prosperity and rode like crazy men instead of conservative business athletes.

At midnight a bad spill floored Franco Georgetti and Harry Horan, and calmed matters while the hospital squad and the scoring tabulators toiled.

Favor DeBaets, Belloni.

DeBaets and Belloni, winners of the last New York race, didn't start many of the jams, but they were right in the thick of things and forthwith established their pre-race rating as favorites in the week's competition.

Alfred Letourner and Marcel Guimbretiere, with Letourner bearing the brunt of the task, whirled in and out of the field with dizzy abandon, threatening a spill with every turn of their sprockets, to take the lead shortly after the Georgetti-Horan tumble brought a temporary halt to the activities.

The unprecedented early bearing down landed the old time favorites, Reggie McNamara and Tony Beckman, six laps behind the leaders before the race was three hours old.

The first two hours were remarkably free of spills, but shortly before midnight Fossati, Binda, Charlier, and Kedak were victims of a pileup which halted the jamming for a quarter of an hour.

The race started at 9 o'clock, the opening gun being sounded by Judge John H. Lyle, well known enemy of public enemies and a man who hates vagrants. It was said that the judge would not consent to officiate until he had been assured there were no vagrants either in the red customer seats or on the seats of the bicycles.

Georgetti Starts Jam.

For 13 minutes the cyclists just pedaled around to no purpose whatsoever, but as the six day engagement went into its 14th minute Francesco Georgetti, the money prince of the bicycle riding profession, fomented a jam, the first of a series of four successive riots in which nary a rider went down nor tire went flat.

The series died down without the bell and when the shouting ended the announcer revealed to the waiting world what accomplishments had been recorded.

There was a ten minute lull and then five more jams, the last of which terminated with the first fall of the contest when Pietro Fossati went down on the east turn. He fell exactly one hour after the start of the race, which gave the officials a chance to announce that the first sixty minutes of racing had placed the DeBaets-Belloni and Letourner-Guimbretiere teams in the lead with a showing of 31 miles and 3 laps.

At the end of the first hour there

Wisconsin Coach Warns Players to Forget Big Dance

Madison, Wis., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—"The people of Wisconsin certainly take their politics seriously, whether state or university," Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite of the Badger football team said today after he had warned his squad to forget about the campaign for junior prom king, which will end on Thursday. The coach wants his players to concentrate on the Northwestern game.

ERNIE LUSBY.

For the second straight year a member of the varsity squad is engaged in the thick of the fight for the social honors. He is Howard Jensen, Mount Gilead, O., end, who is running against Robert Bassett. Last year Ernie Lusby, Chicago, half back, was elected to lead the promenade.

Brookins to Rewed Wife No. 3 Today

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 9.—(AP)—It was revealed here tonight that Mrs. Ethel Held Brookins, the second wife of Charles Brookins, recently dismissed as University of Iowa assistant track coach, had been granted a divorce at Nevada, Ia., yesterday on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Brookins admitted that he married Mrs. Held at Aledo, Ill., Sept. 4, and that less than two months later he married Miss Dorothy Coby of Oskaloosa. He said, however, that he had received word from Mrs. Held that she was getting a divorce at Midland, S. D.

The former track star was charged with bigamy last Thursday and he waived to the grand jury. He was released on $1,500 bond. Brookins said tonight that his third marriage will be performed again tomorrow.

U. S. ARMY POLO TEAM WINS, 8-4, IN ARGENTINE MEET

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The United States army team reached the final round of the Argentine polo championships today by defeating the Las Rosas quartet, 8 to 4, in their semi-final match. The North American team will meet Santa Paulo in Tuesday's final.

The United States team was composed of Capt. C. A. Wilkinson, Lieut. MacDonald Jones, Capt. Peter P. Rodes, and Maj. C. C. Smith. Las Rosas presented a 25 goal team of Mauricio Kenny, Carlos Land, Juan Miles, and David Miles.

K. U. SEEKS BASIS FOR BIG SIX BAN, BUT GIVES IT UP

Asks Professors to Make Charges Definite.

Lawrence, Kas., Nov. 9.—(AP)—A request for more definite information concerning charges of subsidization and recruiting of athletes which has resulted in the virtual ostracization of the University of Kansas from the Big Six athletic conference was requested today by the Kansas athletic board.

The board also announced that a further report by Walter Thiele, Lawrence, appointed by the ousted school to investigate eligibility of its players, had not caused a reversal of the group's attitude toward the amateur status of members of the football team. It still is satisfied of the eligibility of all players.

Kansas Ruled Out.

The faculty representatives of the Big Six, meeting Oct. 24 at Columbia, Mo., voted to schedule no more athletic contests with K. U. It was understood that the ban would be removed when the representatives were satisfied with the action of the Kansas authorities concerning the eligibility charges.

At the Columbia meeting it was charged that Jim Bausch, Kansas half back, had been subsidized, and that Phil Borello, Kansas City, a former Notre Dame student, had been recruited. Bausch since has played in scheduled football games.

Statement of Board.

Today's statement by the board follows:

"In the judgment of the board the investigation at Lawrence has gone as far as practicable with the information available from the faculty representatives' conference at Columbia.

"The further report of Mr. Walter Thiele, special investigator, contained nothing to cause the board to reverse its former judgment concerning the eligibility of the members of the football team."

MINNEAPOLIS IS ROUTED, 34 TO 0, BY BROOKLYN

Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Led by Stumpy Thomason, the Brooklyn Dodgers today trounced the Minneapolis Red Jackets, 34 to 0, in the National Professional Football league.

Thomason scored two touchdowns and Jack McBride, Bill Kelly and Jim Miller one each. Mike Stramiello added three extra points and McBride one. All of the scoring was done in the first three periods.

Minneapolis threatened once. In the final period Herb Joesting, Red Jacket full back, got around Brooklyn's end for a 28 yard run to the seven yard mark. Hagerty intercepted a pass to end the threat.

BRICKIES DEFEAT CARPENTERS, 5-0

The Bricklayers, who have developed into one of the best teams seen in Chicago for some time, scored four goals in the first half and added one in the second half.

SINGER TO RISK TITLE FRIDAY

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—A battle for the lightweight championship of the world with Al Singer defending his crown against Tony Canzoneri, former featherweight titleholder, comes to the ring of the national boxing program this week and saves it from almost complete obscurity.

The battle, which is to take place in Madison Square Garden Friday night, is something of a novelty for New York. It is the first time in nine years a lightweight title bout has been staged indoors here.

Singer won the championship from Sammy Mandell in an outdoor fight last summer.

Canzoneri is considered the leading contender for the lightweight crown as a former titleholder and a veteran campaigner who once gave Mandell a remarkable fight for the title. He is given a good chance to win. It is the first time the title has been at stake since Singer won it.

Irish and Trojans Prepare to Make Their Game One of Best

Notre Dame playing in the east Saturday and Southern California in the west, apparently were determined to make their intersectional game on Dec. 6 the outstanding contest of the season. For the Irish scored nine touchdowns for 60 points against Pennsylvania, which, on the previous week-end, had turned back Kansas from the Big Six conference. And Southern California ran wild, amassing 74 points to California's none.

The Trojans have been defeated but Notre Dame possesses six consecutive triumphs, five of them intersectional. If the Irish can master their other remaining foes, Drake, Northwestern, and Army, the coming battle on the Pacific coast will be outstanding.

West Beats East.

While Notre Dame was demonstrating its speed and blocking before 80,000 at Franklin field, the three Big Ten teams, also in the east, turned in a .667 standing for the afternoon. Michigan rallied to pass to a 6 to 3 victory over Harvard; Ohio State crashed the Navy, 27 to 0, and Illinois, the sole unsuccessful invader, lost to the Army in New York, 13 to 0. Even so, the Illini played one of their best games, trailing by one touchdown until a forward pass was intercepted and converted into a second score for the Cadets.

Notre Dame's victory again demonstrated the balance of its team play. Marty Brill, right half back, who normally does more blocking than ball carrying, was turned loose on running plays to his left and he scored three times. Brill never had scored a touchdown until the Indiana game last week in his two seasons on the varsity.

N. U., Purdue Easy Victors.

The Big Ten games were won by Purdue and Northwestern, who met the conference tail enders. Purdue smashed to a 26 to 7 victory in the second half of its contest with Chicago at Stagg field and the Wildcats overpowered Indiana, 25 to 0, at Bloomington. Northwestern now has won four Big Ten games, and if successful against Wisconsin next Saturday will have earned at least a share in the 1930 title.

Michigan is the only threat to tie Northwestern and must defeat Minnesota and Chicago. However, Purdue maintains its title chance by its Chicago conquest. The Boilermakers have won four and lost one. They meet Indiana Nov. 22, so if Northwestern and Michigan lose in the final contests, Purdue would retain its 1929 honors.

Minnesota's, 59 to 0, triumph over South Dakota was a practice for Saturday's clash with the Wolverines. Wisconsin brushed up its offense in a similar manner for Northwestern with a victory over South Dakota State, 58 to 7. Iowa fell before Marquette, 7 to 0, after its brilliant game last week against Detroit. That was Detroit's first loss, but Saturday Ford-

Anti-Pickpocket Sleuth's Pocket Picked at Game

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Sergt. Frank Dombecky, ace of the First precinct anti-pickpocket squad, along with 39 other plain clothes men, was assigned to watch the Fordham-University of Detroit football crowd to see that the "dips" kept away from the pockets of excited fans.

So successful was the work of Sergt. Dombecky and his associates that only one instance of pocket picking was reported.

Points after touchdown—Nevers, Moran.
Substitutions: Cardinals—Rose for Maple, Handler for Blumer, Belden for Boyd, Williams for Tinsley, Rooney for Baker, Maple for Belden, Flennekea for Rose, Baker for Flennekea, Rose for Rooney, Kenneally for Vesser, Blumer for Kiesling, Tinsley for Williams.

Benny Friedman's New York Giants came from behind to defeat the Cardinals in a professional football game before 4,000 at Comiskey park yesterday, 13 to 7.

But it was not Friedman's passes nor his off tackle spins that brought victory. He played the entire first half and at the end of that period the Cardinals were leading, 7 to 0, as a result of a 20 yard pass from Ernie Nevers to Boyd.

Hap Moran, half back from Carnegie Tech, assumed the hero rôle for the Giants. Friedman had tried 8 passes in the first half and completed one for a gain of 19 yards. Moran also tossed 8, but only one was incomplete and one intercepted. The six good ones totaled 147 yards.

Never Factor in Score.

The Cardinals' score came in the second quarter after Nevers' 65 yard punt rolled out of bounds on the Giants' one yard line. Wiberg's return effort gave the Cards possession of the ball on the New York 35 yard stripe. Ernie cut through the line for 19 yards, Rose hit left tackle for one and then Ernie stepped back and arched a pass to Boyd, who stepped across for the score. Nevers' place kick added the extra point.

When the teams came back after the intermission, Hap Moran was in the Giants' lineup. A few minutes later he shot a five yard pass to Hagerty who set off on a dead run, changed his pace several times, reversed his field four times, and finally eluded the safety man to complete a 60 yard run for a touchdown. The Cards still were in the lead, however, as Moran's place kick was blocked by Duke Slater.

Giants Score Again.

The deciding touchdown was put over less than two minutes later. With the ball on his own 30 yard line, Moran sailed a 35 yard pass into the arms of Campbell, New York end. Another pass to Campbell netted 7 yards. Moran then faked a toss, and swept down to the Cardinal 15 yard stripe. Wilson cut through right tackle for 8, picked up 5 at the other side of the line, and Moran crashed over for the winning score. His place kick gave the Giants their 13 to 7 margin.

New York was master of the situation and never gave the Cards another chance to score. The Giants had two more opportunities to run up the count. Moran's 33 yard toss to Wilson put the ball on the Cardinal 5 yard line early in the last period. After two plays Moran fumbled and the Cards recovered on their 2 yard mark. Later Westopal intercepted Nevers' pass on the Cardinal 11 yard line, but the Chicago line stiffened and Moran's attempted place kick from the 21 yard line was wide of the cross bars.

Benny Friedman Made Defendant in $35,000 Suit

Cleveland, O., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Benny Friedman, Michigan's former all-American quarter back, has been served with papers requiring him to answer in court a $35,000 suit for damages. The suit is brought by Oliver Hughes, a truck driver, who claims he was permanently injured when a car driven by Friedman struck his truck here three years ago. Benny was visiting at home and, Hughes alleges, was racing another car and bumped into his truck Dec. 12, 1927.

BENNY FRIEDMAN.

Deputies have been looking for Benny to return to Ohio since the suit was filed, but were unsuccessful until a process bearing official found him at Portsmouth last Wednesday while he was playing with the New York Giants.

Wildcats Will Face Badgers Minus Rentner

Gold footballs, emblematic of the Big Ten championship, will be the objective of Northwestern's grid warriors in Saturday's homecoming with Wisconsin. With four conference victories already tucked away, the Wildcats hope to keep their record clear by upsetting the in and out Badgers.

Rentner is still confined in the Evanston hospital where is is nursing an injured shoulder sustained in the Minnesota game. Attending physicians stated yesterday that he is now able to move his arm, but that it is still weak. They were of the opinion that he may be able to play against Notre Dame in the season's final game Nov. 22.

Ability of Hank Bruder and Lee Hanley to throw forward passes for the touchdowns against Indiana nullifies to a certain extent the loss of Rentner. The Purple showed conclusively that the aerial game is still an important factor in its offensive repertoire, despite the absence of its star passer.

Coach Dick Hanley has excused the entire varsity squad from practice today, but will recall them tomorrow when preparations will get under way for the all important clash with the Badgers.

The Wildcats regard Saturday's game as the toughest yet to be faced this season. Great respect is held for the power of Wisconsin's backs. The fact that the Badgers lost to Purdue and were tied by Ohio is expected to make them all the harder to overcome.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Red Dunn, Green Bay's veteran quarter back, forward passed for two touchdowns yesterday afternoon at Wrigley field. Chicago's Bears countered with touchdowns by Joie Sternaman and Laurie Walquist from running plays, but Dunn added an all important point with a placement after his team's second score. Thus Green Bay won, 13 to 12, for Sternaman and Walt Holmer failed in their extra point efforts.

Twenty-five thousand, the largest crowd to watch the professionals this year, saw the Bears strive to halt the Packers' winning streak, which now has reached 20 games in two years. Champion of the National league in 1929, Green Bay won 12 games and was tied once. Yesterday's victory was the eighth this season.

Teams Keyed for Battle.

Both teams, long inured to enthusiasm, were keyed to heights of attack and defense which they have not equaled this year. And the intensity of the struggle was communicated to the thousands in the stands. There was a continuous thunder of applause during the second half, first for the Bears as they battered the Packers to tie the score at 6 to 6, and then for the invaders as they went into the lead early in the fourth quarter.

When Bronko Nagurski and Laurie Walquist slashed into the Packers' forwards to traverse the necessary 20 yards for a second touchdown the crowd's yells rivaled the organized cheering associated with collegiate football. Then as Walt Holmer's placement for the tying point fell away to the left of the uprights, the thousands of Packer rooters, led by the Lumberjack band, broke loose, for they knew that victory was theirs.

Fumbles at Start of Game.

Both teams fumbled repeatedly in the first period. The misplays at the line of scrimmage were caused by the anxiety to smash a bit harder than ever before, but the fumbles in the open resulted from tacklers knocking the ball free.

Dunn began the fumbling, presenting the Bears with a scoring opportunity in the first period 22 yards from the goal. But Red Grange, on the first play, failed to take the ball cleanly from Quarter Back Brambaugh, and the Packers regained possession.

On through the quarter, the teams battled on even terms. Then, unable to gain consistently through the Bear forwards, who yielded but would not be thrown back to permit continuous gains, the Packers took to the air. Molenda had smashed 18 yards through center for a first down on the Bears' 42 yard line when Dunn shirked his team's offensive.

Blood Tumbles Across.

Dunn then passed wide to Johnny Blood in the flat zone for 4 yards. Again Bo Molenda crashed into the line for a first down on Chicago's 19 yard line. Here Dunn dashed back, pivoted, and shot the ball to Blood as he raced down center to the goal line. Blood leaped high in front of a

RETZLAFF'S FOE ARRIVES TODAY

Antonio Mata, a Spanish heavyweight, who claims a perfect record in the United States because he won his first and only American fight in New York a month ago, will arrive in Chicago today to finish training for his bout with Charlie Retzlaff at the Coliseum Friday night. They will fight in the six round windup.

Another boxer new to Chicago fans will be Nando Tassi, an Italian light heavyweight, who will be brought from New York to face Paul Pantaleo at Chicago in a six rounder. Tassi recently held [illegible] Braddock to a draw and defeated George Courtney.

The complete Coliseum card will include half a dozen six round fights and a pair of four rounders. In the other six round bouts Edgar Norman will meet Harry Dillon, Ted Ross will take on Joe Miller, Tony Canoclia will face Jack Barry, and Andy Shanks is scheduled to oppose Walter Madey.

Shooting of Partridge Carries Fine.

BY BOB BECKER.

Illinois hunters striding across weedy fields or through swales which have a heavy growth of vegetation this morning may flush a bird that is larger than a Bob White. It is much smaller than a ringnecked pheasant, yet is neither meadowlark, guinea hen, grouse, partridge, or any other fowl that is on or off the game bird list.

This bird undoubtedly will be a Hungarian partridge, as a number of these imported strangers have been released in Illinois and other states in the middle west. There is no open season on the Hungarians, so better hold your shotgun fire if one or several flushes as you march across a field hunting for pheasants and rabbits.

The season opens Nov. 10 on both ringnecks and cottontails, but there is nothing doing on these old world partridges. Ed St. Clair, district game warden, will have a large force of wardens in the field this morning to check hunters on licenses and game bags. If caught with one of these partridges it will cost the luckless hunter a trip to court and a heavy fine.

According to the Illinois game code, any person apprehended with a partridge shall be fined not less than $25 or not more than $100. Same goes for killing a hen pheasant and the court can consider each contraband bird as a separate offense, which brings plenty of grief to the shooter if he is taken with two or more illegal birds.

Although the Hungarian partridge hasn't done very well in Illinois in spite of protection, up in Canada, where winters are far more severe than they are in the middle west, the strangers are making great progress in increasing their numbers. This situation shows that the partridge must have a certain type of country and feed rather than a certain climate.

Apparently there are many sections of the United States which are unsuitable as a home for the European partridges, although the winters are mild. The scientists are working to learn more about the preferences of the birds for food, cover, etc. Within a short time states should have facts which will help them stock with partridges in a more successful manner.

ROCKNE ORDERS TWO DAYS' REST FOR NOTRE DAME

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Notre Dame university's football team will not practice tomorrow. Following the squad's return to South Bend today Coach Knute Rockne ordered a day of rest for tomorrow and no workout for the varsity until Wednesday. Notre Dame defeated Pennsylvania, 60 to 20, at Philadelphia yesterday.

The undefeated Irish will meet Drake university in the new stadium here on Saturday. Drake beat Creighton, 33 to 6, yesterday and promises to bring a stronger team here this year than the contingent which Notre Dame beat 19 to 6 last year. Drake showed unusual strength in the 1929 contest and was leading, 7 to 6, at half time. It will be the locals' last home game of the season.

Norwegian-Americans Beat Linneas Soccer Team, 4-0

With Guttorm Paulson kicking two goals the Norwegian Americans easily defeated the Linneas, 4 to 0, yesterday at Kenton and Fullerton avenues, in an International Soccer league game. Gabrielson and Wattenberg also scored for the Norsemen.

Fraternity Sues Iowa Athlete on $151 Note

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Bob Spradling, the Frankfort, Ind., athlete who starred for two years as forward on the University of Iowa basketball team, is again in the limelight here as the result of a lawsuit filed by his fraternity, Phi Delta Gamma, for $151.70. The action is based on a promissory note made by Spradling, May 27, 1929, for that amount.

Loyola to Plan Aerial Defense for Boston College

Loyola university's football team will work out this afternoon in preparation for its game with Boston college here Friday night. Loyola showed marked improvement in both offensive and defensive play Friday night in its 7 to 6 victory over St. Louis university. Considerable time will be spent this week improving the aerial defense, which was weak against St. Louis.

Walthour, Partner Are Dropped from Bike Race

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Bobby Walthour, American bicycle rider, and his Australian partner, George Dempsey, were removed from the Berlin six day bike race today because the umpires declared they persistently failed to attempt to better their chances when they were ten laps behind. This eliminates all American entries from the race.

Irish, Trojans to Make Game Season's Best?

ham added another, 13 to 7. Marquette remains undefeated.

Michigan State, which battled Michigan to a scoreless tie in the early season, pulled away in the second half from North Dakota State eventually winning, 19 to 11, and remains one of the leading western teams.

Georgia successfully invaded the east for a second time Saturday, winning, 7 to 6, from New York university. Georgia's record is marred by a scoreless tie with Florida.

Fifty thousand Pittsburgh sport fans watched the city title game between Pitt and Carnegie Tech. Pitt won, 7 to 6, when Tulley blocked the kick for the tying point. Capt. Eddie Baker of Pitt previously had kicked the point which was to be all important.

Princeton continued to fall to a new low Saturday, Lehigh winning for the first time from the Tigers, 13 to 9. It was the fourth defeat of the year for Princeton. Columbia fell before Colgate, 54 to 0, after apparently getting started last week to play consistently winning ball.

Stanford Beats Washington.

Probably the greatest surprise of Saturday's schedule, with the exceptions of Notre Dame's and Southern California's large sized scores, was Stanford's defeat of Washington. When Southern California defeated Stanford two weeks ago, 41 to 12, most fans were convinced that Jimmy Phelan's team would also down the Cardinal. Judging Stanford's strength by this, there must be conclusion that Southern California is exceptionally strong rather than Stanford is exceptionally weak.

DE PAUL TO SEEK FIFTH WIN OVER ILLINOIS B TEAM

De Paul university's football team will seek its fifth straight victory Saturday when it meets the University of Illinois B eleven.

Frank Hartman's work at quarter back when De Paul won from Louisville, 14 to 0, last week, has won him a permanent place in the back field. Mat Steffen and Ernie Butcher, who scored touchdowns against Louisville, and Stafford, at full back, will round out the quartet.

Coach Eddie Anderson expects to devote little time to preparing for the Illinois reserves, but will start today to get his team ready for its intersectional duel with the University of San Francisco, which follows the Illinois game.

Secret Marriage Not to Affect Savoldi's Standing

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—The standing of Joe Savoldi, full back of the University of Notre Dame football team, has not been affected by his secret marriage in 1928, which was disclosed by his suit for divorce, according to Robert J. Riordan, registrar of the university, tonight. Riordan said there was no rule that would prevent Savoldi or any other married student from attending the university. The divorce suit has been withdrawn.

QUAIL, RABBIT HUNTING SEASON STARTS TODAY

Johnston City, Ill., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Illinois' open season on quail, pheasants, prairie chickens and rabbits starts tomorrow, and from all indications hunters will find game plentiful in southern Illinois.

Scores of farmers and sportsmen who have covered the fields while training their dogs for the coming season report coveys of quail are large.

Pheasants, prairie chickens and rabbits are said to be more plentiful than any time for the last 12 years.

Open season on quail will last 30 days. Hunting rabbits will be permitted until Jan. 31. Pheasants and prairie chicken hunting will be limited to five days.

In another north section game yesterday at Evanston St. Mel and St. George battled to a 6 to 6 tie.

Harry Hofherr, Loyola's running star, was the hero of the victory over St. Patrick. He scored three touchdowns on runs of 30, 50, and 50 yards. Loyola was forced to come from behind to win, as St. Patrick led at the half, 12 to 6: Loyola scored on its first play when Hofherr dashed 50 yards for a touchdown. Dooley tied the count for St. Patrick when he plunged over in the second quarter. Shortly after Adams intercepted a Loyola pass and ran 55 yards to give his team the lead.

Hofherr scored on long runs in the third and fourth quarter and Bill Cagney took a lateral pass from Ray Durkin to contribute the final score of the day. Dooley, McGinty, and Adams featured for the losers.

OLD GOLD SWEEPS PHILADELPHIA!

Scores nearly 2 to 1 over Nearest Rival in City-wide Test of 4 leading Cigarettes

By ROBERT RIPLEY, Himself

"Believe it or not, folks . . . I wish OLD GOLD would lose one of these tests. It would add to the excitement. But I can't change the facts.

"So far, in the nine public tests I have conducted, OLD GOLD has been chosen as the best cigarette, by a rousing majority.

"At Philadelphia, it was the same old story. 984 smokers each smoked and compared the four leading cigarettes with the brand names covered up by a black band. They didn't know which cigarette was which. But when they indicated the cigarette that tasted best . . . the result was a landslide for OLD GOLD.

"Believe it or not . . . I accepted the invitation to conduct these tests on the distinct understanding that O. G. would publish its defeats as well as victories.

"But so far, I haven't been able to get any OLD GOLD defeats."

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Oklahoma today stood alone at the top of the Big Six conference, the only undefeated team following Nebraska's unpairing of Kansas.

The 16 to 0 defeat of Kansas by Nebraska yesterday was not exactly an upset, but the thoroughness with which the defending champions routed a team picked as a certain title winner a month ago was surprising. From the time of a Kansas fumble on the second play of the game until the more than 20,000 in the homecoming crowd left the stadium at the end of the game, the Kansas were impotent against a team which since its defeat by Oklahoma a month ago has improved remarkably.

Oklahoma to Face Kansas.

While Kansas was halving its difference with Nebraska, Oklahoma regulars used themselves sparingly against the freshmen and conserved their energy for the Kansas game this week.

Missouri accounted for its second victory in six games and made its conference record .500 by handing Iowa State its fifth consecutive defeat, 14 to 6. The Tigers scored both touchdowns on passes, but got into scoring position by showing a strong running attack hitherto absent from the Tigers' varied gaining repertoire.

Football as played by the Big Six looked ineffective again in intersectional combat. For the third time this year the east won, when West Virginia defeated Kansas Aggies, 23 to 7.

Bausch Keeps Scoring Lead.

Jim Bausch, Kansas half back, went scoreless, but his early season point total of 36 still leads the individual scorers.

This week-end finds all teams engaged in conference games for the first and only time this season. In addition to the Oklahoma-Kansas game at Lawrence, Missouri plays Nebraska at Lincoln and Iowa State is host to the Kansas Aggies.

ALABAMA ROLLS ON

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 9. — (AP) — Alabama removed another obstacle — Florida—from its path to the Southern conference football championship yesterday as the Crimson's mightiest opposing foe, Georgia, scored an impressive intersectional victory over New York university.

Florida, which held Georgia to a scoreless tie a week ago, was no match for the Tuscaloosa boys. The score was 19 to 0.

Georgia proved it was one of the nation's great teams by downing, 7 to 6, N. Y. U., which had shattered Carnegie Tech among other teams.

Tulane, the only other team unbeaten in conference play, which meets Georgia next Saturday in a game that will eliminate one from championship consideration, had its hands full in a fighting Auburn eleven, losing 21 to 0, after a hard battle.

Duke Upsets Kentucky.

Duke offered something of an upset by trouncing Kentucky, 14 to 7, at Durham. Duke has won over the Navy and Villa Nova, but its decision over the Wildcat eleven came as a surprise to its most loyal supporters.

In a game of fumbles and wild passing Vanderbilt won its annual contest with Georgia Tech, 6 to 0.

Maryland scored three touchdowns in the first quarter and added three more in the second and third periods to trample Washington and Lee, 41 to 0.

Clemson struck its stride against Virginia Military and gave the cadets a 32 to 0 beating.

In addition to Georgia's win, Dixie teams were successful in three other intersectional tilts. Mississippi college won from the University of Mexico, 33-0; Centre downed Wabash, 53-0, and Loyola of New Orleans beat Butler, 13-0. Ogiethorpe and Wittenberg played a scoreless tie; Temple beat Miami of Florida, 34-0, and De Paul whipped Louisville, 14-0.

Badgers Finish Rest; Work for Purple Today

Madison, Wis., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Intent on halting Northwestern's rush to the western conference championship, Wisconsin's football team will settle down to serious work tomorrow. Last week provided the first letup of the season following four straight major games and the regulars were given only light practice.

Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite used all of his reserve material in the brother against South Dakota State Saturday but also permited several first string players to get into the game for a few minutes. Capt. Milt Cantenbein, Sam Behr, Harold Smith, and George Casey were the only ones to be kept on the sidelines. Casey is recovering from a leg injury suffered in the Purdue game.

Nell Hayes, who fractured a bone in his ankle during the second week of practice, played three minutes at Saturday's game, scoring the final touchdown. He may be used against Northwestern.

Wisconsin's allotment of tickets for the game at Dyche stadium was sold ten days ago. About 2,500 Badger rooters will make the trip to Evanston.

SIX CHICAGOANS TO COMPETE IN CUE TOURNEYS

Six Chicago players will take part in the northern sectional three cushion billiard tournament which opens in two cities today. Four will compete in the west division at Des Moines and two will play in the east divisional at Dayton, O.

Winners of the two divisionals will meet in a 150 point match for the northern title at the Kieckhefer recreation here on Nov. 19, 20 and 21. The sectional champion will qualify to play in the world's championship tournament.

Charles Morin, Chicago veteran of more than thirty years, will be in the west division, Len Kenney, Earl Lookabaugh and Arthur Thurnblad, Chicagoans who have competed in world's championship play, also will be at Des Moines. Joseph Moriarty, a brother of George, the American league umpire, has been assigned to the east division at Dayton, along with Edward R. Peters of the Chicago Three Cushion Billiard league. Moriarty, Kenney, Thurnblad and Lookabaugh competed in the northern sectional in Milwaukee last year.

Roamers Break Even in Playground Ball Games

The Chicago Roamers playground ball team broke even in a double header yesterday at Harrison park, losing to the Wood A. C., 5 to 1, and winning from the Kelly Boosters, 18 to 6. Schilling and Rosenfeld each collected five hits for the Roamers in the second game.

Dunn's place kick for the extra point was wide and a bit later the teams reached the half way mark with the Packers still leading, 6 to 0.

With renewed energy, the Bears came back to resume the battle. Without delay they set about the business of tying the score. Joie Sternaman ran back one of Verne Lewellen's high spiraling kicks to the Bears' 48 yard line. Nagurski crashed through for seven yards. Then Joe Lintzenich knifed inside of tackle and with another buck by Nagurski made it first down on the Packers' 32 yard strip.

Sternaman Races to Goal.

On a fake line thrust, Sternaman rounded Dilweg at the left end of the Packer line. With Red Grange, big Nagurski, and Garland Grange bumping the defenders out of his path, Sternaman cut in and out past his fallen foes to reach the goal. Sternaman's drop kick, which would have sent the Chicagoans into the lead, missed the uprights by the narrowest of margins.

The Packers' aerials accomplished a second and winning score early in the fourth period. First Dunn passed to Blood, and then threw down the center of the Bears secondary to Lewellen for the touchdown. The scoring pass covered 27 yards and Lewellen, although shadowed by Nagurski, dove for the ball, grabbed it while off balance, and rolled over the line. Dunn made good the extra point from placement with Molenda holding, and the point later spelled victory.

The Bears forced the play during the remaining minutes. A fifteen yard penalty for holding sent Green Bay back to its one yard line. Lewellen, kicking from deep in the end zone, sent the ball directly to Brumbaugh, and he raced back to the Packers' 20 yard line before going down under a mass of tacklers.

Batter Green Bay Line.

Nagurski and Walquist tore into the yellow shirted Packer linesmen. Again Nagurski leaped, but tackled, fumbled. Walquist fell on the ball and the Bears were seven yards from the goal line with first down. Two more plays by Walquist advanced six yards. On third down just as Center Trafton was ready to pass the ball, Johnny Blood came running in from his post at defensive half back and plunged over the line. Trafton, however, continued the play and Walquist slid outside of Red Sleight for the touchdown, for the Bears declined the penalty on Blood's offside play.

Then came Holmer's unsuccessful placement and Green Bay led, 13 to 12, the final status of the score.

N. J. FARM LEADS EXHIBITORS IN N. Y. HORSE SHOW

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—With the more highly regarded of the international military trophies up for decision during the next three days Seaton Hackney Farm of Norristown, N. J. holds a commanding lead over all exhibitors at the national horse show in session at Madison Square garden.

During the first three days of the show last week the New Jersey Breeding farm, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moore, piled up nine firsts, seven seconds, one third, and one fourth. The majority of the Seaton Hackney farms blue ribbons were won in its battle with the Killearn farm of Mill Brook, N. J., for supremacy in the high gaited harness horses classes.

RAILROADS END DROUGHT RATES LAST OF MONTH

Carriers Claim Big Loss in Revenue.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Farmers in all of the drought areas of the country were notified today that the emergency reduction in freight rates placed into effect as a part of President Hoover's drought relief program will not be extended beyond Nov. 30.

Executives of the eastern, western, and southern railways issued a joint statement announcing definitely that the special rates on hay, straw, feed, and water shipped into the drought areas and live stock shipped out of these areas will be terminated at the end of this month, as the loss in revenue to the railroads "cannot longer be continued." The announcement was made in advance in order to avoid any uncertainty on the part of the farmers.

Extended for a Month.

"The railroads willingly cooperated with the President in the relief program," said the executives' statement. "This they did by promptly filing with the interstate commerce commission tariffs which reduced rates on drought commodities 50 per cent in eastern and southern territories and 33 1-3 in the western territory. These rates became effective the latter part of August, and Oct. 31 was named as the date upon which they would expire. They were later extended to Nov. 30.

"By Nov. 30 in excess of 60,000 carloads will have been moved under the reduced rates. This represents an immense tonnage and probably greater than ever moved in any relief measures heretofore undertaken in this country. The revenue loss to the carriers from this traffic cannot now be ascertained, but will certainly aggregate several million dollars, and such a drain on the revenues cannot longer be continued."

Drought Committee to Meet.

Dr. C. W. Warburton, chairman of the federal drought relief committee, stated today that plans for the meeting of state drought relief chairmen in Washington on Nov. 20 are about completed. Reports of surveys in all of the drought counties to determine the food and feed shortage will be brought to Washington by the state chairmen, he said, and plans for further relief measures during the winter will be discussed.

Although the worst of the drought in the central states is over, according to Dr. Warburton, the October rainfall in the east remains discouraging. Maryland and Virginia had from one-fourth to one-third of the normal rainfall and the Ohio valley about one-half of the normal rainfall for October, he said.

Offsets Influence of Ailing Stocks.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Argentina has come to the front with a rust scare on wheat which, although not taken seriously by traders in general, has developed sufficient stability on the part of those who have predicted lower prices to cover their lines and take a more conservative position. It has also helped to offset the depressing influence of the drop in stocks in Wall street to new low levels.

Taking the world's wheat situation as a whole it is viewed with a little more conservatism, although comparatively few operators look for a decided improvement, unless black, stripe, and red rust in Argentina becomes more serious and frightens bulls into altering their present indifferent attitude.

A liquidating market in the first three days of the week carried wheat prices down to the lowest since 1906, with other grains also off sharply to the lowest levels in recent years, corn declining to within a fraction of the lowest since 1927, oats the lowest since 1911, and rye to the lowest since 1898. A fair recovery came in the closing days, but net losses on wheat for the week were 1@3½c in Chicago, 2½c in Winnipeg, and 2c in Minneapolis. Corn made a net loss of ½@¾c, oats, 1½, and rye, 5¼@5¾c in Chicago, 4½c in Minneapolis, and 3½@2¼c in Winnipeg.

Argentine's Damage Grows.

Damage to Argentina's wheat crop through rust is estimated by one authority at 20 per cent. On the basis of a 280,000,000 bu crop, this would mean a loss of 52,000,000 bu, and suggests a crop of a little more than 200,000,000 bu. One statistican suggests that the losses will probably bring the crop down to 235,000,000 bu. Last year's crop as officially estimated was 140,000,000 bu, while private reports suggested 175,000,000 bu. Argentina's harvest will start in about two weeks and become general by the middle of December. A loss of 50,000,000 bu in prospective world supplies is not considered serious.

Were it possible for the trade to secure positive information as regards the Russian situation, traders here, it is said, might take a different attitude and accept losses in Argentina as warranting a higher level of values. Under present conditions in wheat business it will take a great deal of improvement the world over to bring in a large volume of speculative buying unless Wall street should liven up and advance prices of stocks materially higher levels.

World's wheat supply statistics are making a more favorable showing for bears as supplies are now 441,827,000 bu, compared with 478,507,000 bu last year, or 37,000,000 bu less than a year ago, while recently they showed a large excess.

Expect Renewed Selling.

For the next few weeks a renewal of December liquidation is expected in all markets, so that an increased buying power is considered necessary to support values around present levels. In all, however, the wheat market is regarded as having given a good account of itself. With the close on December at 73⅛@73⅝, March 77½c, May 79⅝@79¾c, and July 80¼@80½c.

Officials of the Farmers National Grain corporation are making a survey of wheat feeding and express the belief that returns will show that the surplus in the United States is more apparent than real and that while the disappearance of wheat from this

Says Independent Grocer Profits by Chain Methods

BY SCRUTATOR.

Unquestionably the rise of the chain store in recent years has had an important effect on the lessening of the distribution cost of foods. The influence of chain methods has made itself so strongly felt among independent food merchants that it appears just now that costs are being lowered faster by these than by the chain store managements.

The chain grocery prospered by lowering prices, primarily. The independents have not yet, as a whole, been able to equal them in this respect. Certain groups of individual retailers, however, by adopting the best of the chain methods applicable to their businesses, appear to be approaching them.

This trend is noted in a study of prices quoted by Chicago chains and independents made by Prof. James L. Palmer and Einar Bjorklund of the University of Chicago. They sought the actual quotations of both chains and independents on seventy-five articles sold under standard brands, and their conclusion was that while the chains undersold the average independents by a considerable margin, approximately 10 per cent, certain efficient independents were being undersold little if at all.

Entitled to Patronage.

"There is a group of cash and carry independents in Chicago," the scientists reported, "the members of which, on the strength of price performance, are quite as entitled to patronage as the chains. Similarly, indications are that many service independents are quoting prices higher than the average by an amount not exceeding service costs.

"In no sense has the ability of chain organizations to bring grocery products to the consumer at lower prices than the unit store can quote been demonstrated. On the contrary, there is evidence that a well managed unit store can serve the public as well as a chain and prosper. The significant fact is, however, that the majority of the unit stores are not matching the price performance of their competitors on standard brands."

The qualification of this last is in the finding that on some articles 40 per cent of the independent stores charged less than the average price of the chains, and on some others as many as 30 per cent of the service unit stores, offering telephone, delivery and credit, were also beating the chains at the low price competition.

Never Any "Magic."

There has never been the magic in the "buying power" of the chains that was attributed to it. Their lowered costs were more the result of the cutting down of service expense, avoidance of losses on unpopular lines, and attractive presentation of goods than on buying power.

Realization of these facts exists among the voluntary chains of grocers. The largest of these, the Independent Grocers' alliance, insists that all stores be of uniform appearance and follow merchandise policies outlined by central headquarters. Some wholesalers have promoted voluntary chains on the same basis. One such in Chicago, aiming at a total of 200 stores, is said already to have attracted nearly seventy in two months to its proposition, which permits competition with chains on a price basis.

Because he has learned to adapt the best chain methods, the independent grocer is further from extinction than he ever was.

SAYS BUSINESS IS STARTING ITS 'UPWARD CLIMB'

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Rome C. Stephenson, president of the American Bankers' association, believes business has started an "upward climb."

In a statement in the current American Bankers Association Journal, Stephenson said business is still considerably curtailed, but that "confidence is beginning to reassert itself," and "no other one element is so forceful in stimulating recovery."

"The gradual change in sentiment," he added, "is marked by extreme caution, which presages a more dependable advance, for holding the forces working for the upturn in check until they are strong enough to support a sustained forward movement will add to its permanency."

Stephenson said credit is ample at low rates to finance a much larger volume of business and "it awaits the opportunity."

Finds Buying Revival in Electrical Equipment

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—An unmistakable revival of buying activity in the nation's electrical equipment markets was apparent during the last week in widespread reports of heavier commitments and a stronger flow of inquiries, Electrical World reports. With sales being reported in virtually every section of the United States, the recovery seems the more marked in view of the long period of dullness which has had the industry in its grip, the publication adds.

INVITES BIDS ON $125,000,000 TREASURY BILLS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The treasury today invited bids on $125,000,000 of treasury bills, to be sold on a discount basis. The bills will be dated Nov. 17, 1930, maturing on Feb. 16, 1931.

Tenders for the issue will be received at federal reserve banks or branches up to 2 o'clock Nov. 13.

The proceeds of the sale will be used to retire $120,000,000 of treasury bills which were financed on a 1.960 per cent basis.

A. T. & T. Negotiates with Britain on Atlantic Cable

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The American Telephone and Telegraph company is negotiating a contract with the British postal authorities relative to the new trans-Atlantic cable the A. T. & T. is laying. If the contract is made the British postoffice will share in the expenses and income of the cable with the American company. The cable probably will be ready early in 1932.

Scheduled Municipal Bond Issues Total $31,356,886

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Municipal bond issues scheduled for award this week amount to $31,356,886, compared with offerings of $17,333,000 in this group last week. The largest issue to be placed is $12,500,000 Chicago board of education, scheduled for Friday. Another large issue is $2,600,000 Milwaukee county 4½ per cent courthouse bonds to be awarded Monday.

Youngstown District Steel Operations Decline to 50%

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Steel plant operations in the Youngstown district will decline this week to 50 per cent of capacity, a loss of 2 per cent, due chiefly to reduction of activities at the Republic Steel corporation plants.

BENSINGER RETURNS FROM BUSINESS TRIP TO EUROPE, S. AMERICA

B. E. Bensinger, president of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company, expressed confidence in the future of American business upon his arrival in Chicago yesterday following a 25,000 mile business trip to Europe and to the countries of South America recently upset by revolutions. The billiard manufacturer's optimism, however, was tempered with the following observations on the business outlook:

1. That the world is still suffering from overproduction and this ill must be cured before there is a possibility of business improving.

2. That business recovery is dependent on a revival in the demand for commodities, a great many of which are selling below cost of production.

Mr. Bensinger left Chicago on Aug. 5 and spent a few weeks in France and the balance of the time in Rio Janeiro and Sao Paulo, Brazil; Montevideo, Uruguay; Buenos Aires, Argentina; Santiago and Valparaiso, Chile.

Mr. Bensinger said he was satisfied, by reason of the change in government in bothBrazil and Argentina, that when business conditions improve the betterment will be more pronounced and more rapid than under the previous administrations and result to the benefit of both countries. From inquiries he made, Mr. Bensinger learned that the people in Argentina are very well satisfied with the new government. On the whole, he found conditions no worse in South America than they are in the United States and throughout the world at the present time.

Attribute Utility Securities Selling to Several Causes

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 9.—The widespread selling of public utility securities following the elections last week has been attributed to several causes. The two principal reasons for the selling, it was said, were the fear of many investors that the public utility industry was to be the object of political aggressiveness, perhaps becoming a prominent issue in the next presidential campaign, and a belief that utility earnings are on the downward grade.

The consensus of leading utility executives and bankers, however, was that neither major political party has a policy of aggressiveness towards the utilities; that whatever aggressiveness towards the industry exists cannot be defined by party lines; and that the relationship between public utility companies and political institutions is largely confined to states, and, more intimately, to the communities where service is rendered.

Election Results.

It is argued by utility leaders that while some of their reputed "enemies" have been elected to office, other foes have met defeat, and so far as they have any reason to believe public utility matters were not prominent campaign issues except in isolated instances.

It is felt, however, that a continuance of attacks by public authorities on utility company rates is to be expected and that there are cases where rates are excessive and should properly be reduced. That there is nothing new in this situation, spokesmen for the industry said, is demonstrated by the continuously downward trend in gas and electric rates throughout the country in every year for several decades.

Some sections or localities have been slower than others in receiving the benefit of lowered rates, it was said, due to varying circumstances, whereas the whole trend of rates is naturally downward due to operating economies, increasing consumption, spreading interconnection of large systems, and greater efficiency. While the greater part of rate reductions are declared to have been made voluntarily, there have been many cases where they have been due to the activity of regulatory commissions and in some instances have followed litigation.

Experience of Operators.

It has been the experience of utility operators in many sections that lower rates have induced great increases in consumption and thereby have increased revenues. Where utility companies are burdened with expenditures for unusual expansion, it is explained, they usually do not volunteer to lower rates because of the risk involved in forsaking assured existing revenues for the greater revenues expected from lower rates, it requiring from twelve to eighteen months for the pick-up of consumption to be reflected fully in greater earnings, it was said. This, naturally, does not refer to expansion of a company's territory but to a greater consumption by old and new customers in its existing territory.

Public utility leaders were unanimous in stating that they are not disturbed, and that security holders should not be alarmed by any prospect traceable in the slightest degree to the national political situation, and that even in states where adverse legislation was adopted, constitutional rights will be respected in the event, said to be improbable, of a failure to maintain harmonious relations with public authorities.

Regarding the earnings of public utility companies, prominent leaders in the industry pointed to the record of the last twelve months as demonstrating the soundness of the industry and its ability to cope with the business depression.

Saxet Co. Net for Nine Months Totals $933,977

The Saxet company reports consolidated gross revenues for nine months ended Sept. 30 of $1,791,833, compared with $1,325,467 for the 1929 period. Net was $933,997, against $675,927, an increase of 38 per cent, and equaled $1.22 per share on the common stock.

American Machine and Metals reports net loss of $169,192 for the quarter ended Sept. 30. No comparison with last year was given.

STOCKS APPEAR TO INDULGE IN EXCESSES AGAIN

Blame Speculative Frame of Mind.

The Chicago Board of Trade, the Chicago Stock Exchange, and the Chicago Curb Exchange will be closed Tuesday, Armistice day, which is a legal holiday in this state. Trading on the New York exchange will be suspended for two minutes at 11 o'clock in the morning. Chicago brokerage houses will be open, but banks will be closed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 9.—The behavior of the securities markets last week could scarcely be interpreted as a sober reflection of economic events. It represented rather the unreasoned expression of the speculative frame of mind.

The parallel between present conditions and those of last year was too obvious to escape remark. Just as stock market traders in the early part of September, 1929, disregarding the signs of business recession all around them, recklessly bid up their speculative favorites, so at the present time actual economic developments are ignored in the rush to dump stocks on the market, irrespective of values.

It is small comfort for investment holders of common stocks to know that the present excesses will ultimately be corrected, as were those of lastt tyear. For the moment, the can see only the continued and unremitting depreciation of their holdings as measured by quotations in the open market. An indication of the lack of perspective currently displayed by the securities markets is perhaps better afforded by the bond market than by that for stocks. During the last week prices of domestic bonds, as measured by the averages, dropped to the lowest level of the year to date despite the fact that money rates are lower than they have been in six years and give every indication of remaining unusually low for some time to come.

Bonds Disappoint.

The response of the bond market to the easy money policy formulated last March by the general banking authorities here and in Europe, at the time of Gov. Harrison's last visit to Europe, has been disappointing. In accordance with the plans formulated then, money rates have been reduced in all the principal markets to a point where short time investments such as government securities and bankers' bills have become unattractive.

STOCKS SEEM TO BE INDULGING IN EXCESSES AGAIN

Blame That Speculative Frame of Mind.

Natural Inclination.

The natural inclination of the banks to turn toward other and more remunerative sections of the bond market as an outlet for their funds has been checked, however, by the uncertainties engendered in the financial situation by the continued drastic decline in stocks. At present bond prices are but little above the low levels of 1929 and bond financing for the average business enterprise is as difficult as it was then.

Outside of the securities markets the developments of the week were of mixed character. Commodity markets again failed to display any signs of a general stabilization. Grains dropped to new low prices for the year and, in the case of December wheat, for what was virtually the last 25 years. Cotton was also under pressure, although there was evidence of resistance to the decline in the market. Perhaps the most encouraging sign in the commodity situation is the development of the sugar market. Strong hands have taken hold here and sugar prices are responding to their treatment.

An indication of the confidence which is felt in the measures now being undertaken to rehabilitate the sugar industry was afforded by the resistance of the market on Saturday to the reports of prospective dumping by Russia of vast amounts of sugar. Perhaps, however, the Russian menace, having been overplayed in the case of wheat, has lost its terror.

General Situation.

As for the general business situation, it cannot be said to have shown any tangible signs of improvement. That was hardly to be expected, however. The drastic decline in the rate of operations of such major industries as the steel and automobile industry has at least this merit, that it must ultimately result in leaving production lower than the requirements of ordinary domestic consumption. When that situation begins to be felt an improvement cannot fail to set in.

At the present time it is necessary to go beyond the bare statistics and accept the appraisals of the business situation advanced by leading economists and business men, in the light of past experience with similar times of depression. There is general agreement among informed bankers and industrials that consumption is, indeed, catching up with production and on this basis predictions of an upturn in the spring are being made.

The prospect of further large additions to the gold holdings of France cannot fail to be disturbing to French banking authorities and will only aggravate the maldistribution of the metal from an international point of view, of which economists in England and elsewhere have complained. The situation should provide a subject for discussion by the central bankers during Gov. Harrison's visit.

TO VOTE NOV. 19 ON A MIDLAND UNITED MERGER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 9.—The American Public Utilities company is to be merged and consolidated into the Midland United company and its separate existence will cease upon the merger and consolidation becoming effective, according to additional information mailed to stockholders of the Midland United company with reference to the special meeting called on Nov. 19 to vote on the merger. The Midland company is to succeed to all of the properties and the debts and liabilities of the American company.

The officers and directors of Midland will not be changed by the merger. The authorized capital stock and classes of capital stock of the Midland company will not be affected by the merger.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Federal intermediate credit banks are offering $6,000,000 short term debentures, dated Nov. 15 and carrying maturities of 10, 11 and 12 months respectively. They will bear interest at 3 per cent and are priced at par. They are fully tax exempt.

The Wichita Water company, a subsidiary of the American Water Works and Electric company, has authorized the issuance of $1,000,000 first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, series C, to reimburse the company for expenditures made for additions, extensions and improvements to the properties of the company and for other corporate purposes. The issue has been underwritten by W. C. Langley & Co.

Crop Report Due Late Today.

A government crop report on corn is due at 2 o'clock Chicago time today. Estimates range from 2,040,000,000 to 2,100,000,000 bu. Private reports suggest an average of 2,040,000,000 bu. Last month's government estimate was 2,067,000,000 bu, with last year's final 2,414,000,000 bu, and the five year average 2,700,000,000 bu. Estimated yield per acre is for around 26 bu, which will compare with 26.7 bu last year and 28.2 as the ten year average. Stocks on farms are estimated at 78,000,000 to 80,000,000 bu. Last year's reserves were 76,000,000 bu, the five year average being 102,000,000 bu. Regardless of what the government report shows there will be the largest shortage of supplies in recent years.

Oats at Less than 1c Lb.

December oats dropped to 30c bu on Wednesday, selling at less than that price, with distant futures down to almost that level. In Winnipeg November oats were less than 30c. Prices are so low that farmers are disposed to sell, and speculators and industries are more inclined to buy on all breaks.

Liquidation is said to have run its course, and the market gets better support. Consumption is regarded as above the average owing to low prices. Closing trades on December were 31¼c, March 34c, and May 36¼c @36⅝. Selling of December and buying of May was at 2@3¼c difference. Winnipeg oats closed 1⅝@2¼c lower, and Minneapolis 1⅜@1¾c less than here.

Spiegel, May, Stern Co.

Please send me the information you have on Spiegel, May, Stern common stock. Please describe the business of the firm.—H. S. H.

Spiegel, May, Stern company, Inc., was incorporated in Delaware in 1928 as successor to an Illinois company conducting a business begun in 1852. The business consists of mail order and general retail store merchandising of furniture and other household goods. On September, 1930, it organized Standard Home Utilities, Inc., to operate a dollar-wide chain of retail stores of which 15 were in operation at the close of 1929. Burley & Co., another unit, was organized early this year to operate 9 Chicago furniture stores.

As a result of inventory write downs and lower sales the company reported a loss of $784,146 for the first half of 1930, compared with a profit of $730,239 in the first half of 1929. In the year ended Dec. 31, 1929, although sales were the largest in seven years, net income was 7 per cent lower than in 1928, and about 21 per cent lower than in 1927. Net income in 1929 was $1,717,709, equal to $24.54 per share on 70,000 preferred shares and $12 per share on 175,000 common shares.

The balance sheet as of June 30, 1930, indicated current assets of $15,-491,305, including cash of $1,263,667, inventories of $1,767,768 and accounts receivable totaling $12,404,147. Current liabilities were $3,532,526, leaving a net working capital of $11,912,359. Surplus was $1,494,326, against $2,270,-473 a year before.

Common dividends were omitted in July. This stock is a speculation.

Great Lakes Aircraft.

Great Lakes Aircraft corporation was formed in October, 1925, to acquire the property of the Glenn L. Martin company, founded in 1909. This company, which is controlled by Allied Motor Industries, Inc., manufactures aircraft for naval and military purposes and also for mail, express and passenger services.

Last year's operations resulted in a deficit of $848,892. No later earnings report has been published, although it is understood the management reported that the plant was running at full capacity and that unfilled orders totaled more than $600,000.

On Dec. 31, 1929, current assets were $1,854,438 and current liabilities were $397,576, leaving a net working capital of $1,456,862. Total assets and liabilities were $3,389,735.

No dividends have been reported. This stock is speculative.

LAST RITES FOR GEN. T. H. BLISS ON WEDNESDAY

Funeral Services Planned at Washington Home.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, chief of staff of the United States army during the world war, and one of the outstanding military figures in that conflict, died early today at Walter Reed hospital. He was 74 years old.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at his Washington home and burial will be at Arlington National cemetery.

With the passing of Gen. Bliss, America lost one of the highest ranking military strategists who guided the American expeditionary force during 1917 and 1918. Gen. Bliss was American representative on the supreme war council and served as one of the five members of the American peace commission to Europe in 1918. He wrote the final report of the supreme council when it dissolved in 1920.

Attained Rank of Full General.

Gen. Bliss was one of the men in the history of the nation to attain the rank of full general, his predecessors being Washington, Grant, Sherman, Sheridan, and his world war colleague, Gen. John J. Pershing. Later Gen. Peyton C. March and Gen. Charles P. Summerall received the high honor. Among the pallbearers, according to tentative arrangements, will be two of the famous group who survive him, Gen. Pershing and Gen. Summerall.

Gen. Bliss was born Dec. 31, 1853, at Lewisburg, Pa. He served during the Spanish war and on the Mexican border and became acting chief of staff in 1917. In October, 1917, he was appointed full general for the duration of the war, and immediately went to France with a special war mission under Col. E. M. House and remained there until December, 1917. He was retired in December, having reached the retirement age, but was recalled to active service and made American representative on the supreme war council.

Noted Men to Be Pallbearers.

The tentative list of honorary pallbearers comprises Col. E. M. House, former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, Judge Richard Campbell, Gen. Pershing, Gen. Summerall, Admiral W. S. Benson, Admiral Hugh Rodman, Maj. Gen. Hugh L. Scott, Maj. Gen. William Crozier, Brig. Gen. Stanley D. Embrick, Col. W. B. Wallace, Col. Arthur Poillon, Col. U. S. Grant 3d., Col. J. M. Coward, and H. R. Young.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Fair and Colder

Accident Occurs Near Bolling Field.

Staunton, Va., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Three men were killed in an airplane crash near Bolling flying field, four miles north of Staunton, this afternoon, and the fourth occupant of the machine is not expected to live.

The dead:

JAIRUS COLLINS, 25, Bluefield, W. Va., lawyer-aviator and pilot.

The injured man was Paul Rimel, 24, of Roman, this county.

Collins was operating a Cain type junior Stinson-Detroiter. He had taken off with his three passengers but a few moments before the crash. Spectators said the pilot apparently was endeavoring to come out of a vertical left bank. Unsuccessful in this maneuver, the machine nose dived from an altitude of about 150 feet, plowed a deep furrow into the ground and recoiled.

BISHOP CANNON WEAKER DUE TO ARTHRITIS PAIN

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The condition of Bishop James Cannon Jr. today was reported by Dr. R. Lyman Sexton to be "weaker due to continued pain from arthritis."

"There is no change in the infection in the joints," Dr. Sexton said. "His general condition is weaker and he appears more exhausted due to the prolonged pain in the joints."

Dr. Sexton said there was no indication of improvement, and at the same time there was nothing to indicate that Bishop Cannon's condition would become more grave.

Bishop Cannon was removed to a hospital here recently shortly after his return from South America.

Bishop Cannon is facing charges filed against him by four Southern Methodist ministers. While the charges have not been made public they are understood to include his activities against Alfred E. Smith in the 1928 presidential campaign and his stock market activities as well as new accusations.

WILLIAM DEAN BANGS, ATTORNEY TAKEN BY DEATH

Attorney William Dean Bangs, 45 years old, general counsel for the Illinois Bell Telephone company, died yesterday at his home at Geneva, Ill., of heart disease, believed to have been superinduced by nervous indigestion. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning from the home, with burial at Oak Hill cemetery at Geneva.

Mr. Bangs had been a member of the law firm of Cutting, Moore & Sidley, 11 South La Salle street, since 1918. He had been associated with the telephone company since 1922. Although born in St. Louis, he had lived in Chicago practically all his life. He was graduated from Princeton in 1907 and from the Harvard law school in 1910. He was admitted to the Illinois bar in that year.

Surviving him are the widow, Mrs. Lee Zimmerman Bangs; two sons, William Dean Jr. and Robert, and two daughters, Sara and Katherine. Mr. Bangs was a descendant of Edward Bangs, who came to America in 1623 on the schooner Ann, the third ship to arrive after the Mayflower.

ERIC LARSON, 91, RESIDENT HERE 85 YEARS, DEAD

Eric A. Larson, 91 years old, for eighty-five years a resident of Chicago, died early yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Matt Corey, at 4248 North Keeler avenue. Born in Sweden and brought to Chicago at the age of 6 he was among the oldest foreign born residents of the city.

Although he had been unable to get around for the last few years his mind remained active and he delighted to recount days of his youth spent playing around the gates of the second Fort Dearborn when Chicago had a population of 3,000, the inauguration of Chicago's first railroad, and later the nomination of Abraham Lincoln in the "Wigwam."

Mr. Nelson was a pioneer traveling grocery salesman and later engaged in the wholesale grocery business. He is survived by two sons and three daughters.

Japanese Shipping Chief Dead in Tokio at 82

TOKIO, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Soichiro Asano, 82, prominent shipping man and widely known in America as president of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, operating a shipping service between California and the orient, died here today of cancer of the throat. He recently visited America in the course of a trip around the world.

DR. GUY KROLICK, MAJOR IN 331ST ARTILLERY, DEAD

Dr. Guy E. Krolick, a major in the 331st field artillery, a reserve unit, and a world war veteran, died yesterday at his home at 5400 Hutchinson street after an illness of three months. Funeral services will be held from the family home Wednesday morning to St. Helen's church. Burial will be in St. Adalbert's cemetery. He was 41 years old and is survived by his widow and one daughter.

Dr. Krolick attracted attention in 1923 when, coincident with the filing of a similar suit by William Wrigley Jr., he sued the publishers of Tolerance, anti-Ku Klux Klan organ, for $25,000 damages. He charged that he had been falsely accused of membership in the Klan.

Dr. Krolick was a graduate of the Chicago College of Medicine and Surgery. He was gassed overseas.

MAHIN, PIONEER ADVERTISINGMAN, DIES IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 9.—[Special.] John Lee Mahin, a pioneer in the advertising business in the United States, died early today in Madison hospital after a six weeks' illness. The nature of his illness was not made known.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow. Burial will be private.

Mr. Mahin, who was 61 years old, was born in Muscatine, Ia., and for the last thirty years was associated with the merchandising and advertising of some of the country's leading industries.

After becoming a business manager of his father's newspaper, the Muscatine Journal, in Iowa, Mr. Mahin joined the advertising department of a Chicago newspaper. In 1916 he came to New York as a director of the Federal Advertising agency. Two years ago he formed his own agency, John Lee Mahin, Inc. He was the author of several books on advertising and selling, the editor of Mahin's magazine and Mahin's Data book, and frequently lectured at leading universities.

Mr. Mahin was a member of the Union League club and the Bankers' club in New York, the Chicago Athletic club and numerous advertising clubs.

JOHN A. MAY, 71, FORMER MASONIC OFFICER, DEAD

John A. May, senior surviving past potentate of Medinah Temple here and active in city hall affairs more than 20 years ago, died yesterday in San Diego, Cal., where he made his home. He was 71 years old.

In 1900 Mr. May was superintendent of the bureau of special assessments and secretary of the board of local improvements. He was later a member of the corporation counsel's office and also a city prosecuting attorney. In 1910 he married Mrs. Petunia L. Shoemaker and moved to the Pacific coast. He practiced law in San Diego until 1919, when he moved to Ashtabula, O., where he was associated with the American Fork and Hoe company. He returned to San Diego in 1928.

Mr. May was a 33d degree Mason and fifth potentate of the Chicago Shrine. He was a member of Blair lodge, No. 33; Washington chapter, No. 43, and St. Bernard commandery, No. 35, all of Chicago.

JOHN D. ROSS FUNERAL RITES WILL BE TODAY

Funeral services will be held this afternoon for John Duncan Ross, 62 years old, for 35 years an advertising man in Chicago, who died last Friday at his home at 185 Washington circle, Lake Forest, after an illness of three years.

The services, which will be private, will be held at the funeral chapel at 233 East Deerpath avenue, in Lake Forest, with interment in Rosehill mausoleum.

Mr. Ross acted as advertising representative in Chicago for a number of magazines under the firm name of John D. Ross & Associates, with offices at 10 South La Salle street.

SYNOPSIS.

Sheila, known as "the wild boy of Harvard," must wait several years before receiving the principal of the fortune left by his father, Joshua George, of chewing gum fame. Before the honeymoon is over Sheila discovers her husband is a drug addict. She promises to fight for his regeneration. A federal narcotic agent suggests a program, which if rigidly adhered to would effect a cure.

She promised Sheila to go with her to Alaska, after the races at Tia Juana, where Jim rode his favorite horse, Wind. Sheila plans to kidnap King and take him to a remote spot, there to help him fight off his baneful habit. Jim Molloy is living in Nome and he promises to help her. At breakfast in Jim's cabin, King's coffee is drugged and Sheila and Jim carry him off unconscious to a cabin not far from Nome, although seemingly in the heart of the frozen wilderness. Jim leaves them—his servants, an Eskimo couple, and returns at once to Nome. When King regains consciousness and learns he is marooned for the next eight months his fury breaks in verbal abuse on Sheila, accusing her of wanting to get him out of the way.

INSTALLMENT XIX.

A BRIBE.

"Jim did everything he could to prevent me. He begged to stay here, in my place. He said it was man's work——"

"Jim's work!" King interrupted. "When I get out, he'll think so. I'll make it a man's work on him. I'll shoot him as I would a cur."

"I'd thank him that way if I were you. For all he's done. For sparing you. It would have been easy for him to give you an overdose——"

That reached him. He stared, sobered. "You mean—he wanted to?"

"What man wouldn't have wanted to? He knows what——" Sheila stopped, on the brink, her I to we. "What we're facing. D'you think he was willing for me to exile myself with a——" No, angry as she was, she could not make herself use one of the odious words. But she would keep King at white heat. It was the only way now, she discovered, to keep herself from abject collapse.

The voice which answered her was less rough. "If you think you've pulled me, you're mistaken. I'll go back when I'm ready. Get that? No one's ever succeeded in keeping me locked up. Get that."

"Get this. There's no way to get back alive. We're Chechakos, without furs, without snowshoes, and the winter's shut down on us. Even with snowshoes we'd be helpless, not knowing the way. The roads, the tracks, the crossings, have been obliterated—for days." She had nearly told the truth; had just saved herself from saying hours. "We're in till the end of May; and if may be June."

When the door was opened the still piled high with snow confirmed the mercury.

"I believe you're bluffing, Sheila. Turn on the radio." He sat down on the bed, shivering with cold.

This was his way of saying the scene was at an end. Well, she could do it abruptly, too, and thankfully. She bent over the radio, but could not find the dial for tears.

"I won't—make it—work, King."

"Not till I get my clothes on. Build the fires up, old thing. I'm frozen. Are any sweaters here?"

He opened one of the new bags, laying several sweaters and a fleece lined jacket on his couch. From there she moved to the hearth, adding logs; she put lumps of coal into the air tight stove. She straightened books and magazines on the table. By that time King had reached the radio, was fooling with it.

"What gave you the idea it would work, up here?"

She did not answer him.

Abandoning the effort, he walked to the rack by the door, surveying a mink and unused mukluks. After a moment's scrutiny, he tried them on. "Look pretty nifty, eh?" He strode to his corner, adjusting before his mirror the flaps of the new marten cap over which he pulled the hood of the parka. From the ruff of wolverine his face emerged like that of an immature Eskimo.

"You'd better stuff the soles of your mukluks with straw," advised his wife, making her voice sound unconcerned, uninterested. "You'll find the straw in a box by the door."

His stare told her he had expected opposition; anything but this friendly suggestion. She could see that her indifference had shaken his bravado; it had told him he was a prisoner on a safe parole.

Occupying herself with the airtight stove, she pretended to be oblivious of his discomfiture as he stood gazing at the window on the still, white scene. During the night the wind had abated; the storm which had threatened to day before had withdrawn its scouts to the mountains, or perhaps had gone in pursuit of the ship which had dared attempt the last minute passage through fleet freezing seas. But at any moment it might break through in treacherous lull.

King as well as herself knew of the danger which lurked in such respite in the northern land. Travelers had told them both, at Nome, of the sudden rising of tempests which could transform a calm landscape into a trap of death. Without warning a rage of deadly wind and snow might obliterate them without the inscrutable opening of their box cañon. And King had no knowledge of what lay beyond. The hours of daylight were now short. From without, in the long twilight, an inexperienced traveler would fail to find the way into the Siscovich cañon. Knowledge of all this, she was sure, was confusing King's rebellion.

He began to draw off his mukluks, but her relief was premature. He was already stuffing them with the straw. Casually he inquired, "Where's the other cabin? Where do the flunkeys live?"

"In the next hollow; on the right, I think, going out. Though maybe I'm turned around. But we've a gong. You can summon them."

"Thanks. Most complete, your arrangements. Congratulations. Has Pour Rits any notepaper? Thanks again."

The wall mirror by the door reflected his search for a fountain pen. Not a bad idea, that of the day before when he still slept, placing the glass where it would give her a picture of his far corner; unless he drew the curtains. He was searching now for something. He held his pen in his hand. His note. She could see him extricating it from a pocket of a coat which hung on a hook; saw him extracting bills and counting them. It flashed in her that he was planning to subsidize Happy Jack; he thought to force the Eskimo to carry a message, S. O. S., for rescue, or an order for "jolts"?

He wasn't aware—how could he guess—that the Eskimo had been told he was the big boss, and her rewards for obedience only to her would be steady. No commands were to be heeded from the man "with the sick head." Jim had assured her of the natives' loyalty. But she would not be secure until they had been tried.

When the door was opened the still piled high with snow confirmed the report of the mercury. A similar band of ice had already abridged the window panes.

"Have your flunkeys keep this clear, Sheila." The door shut upon him.

This was her opportunity to search his bags for what must be secreted there. Jim had so advised her. No chance had there been those hurried days in Jim's cabin. Now that it was offered to her, and although she was convinced King must have made ample provision for the long sea journey he had been ready to endure, to prolong the ordeal ahead of her, something within her revolted. Absurd that a woman who would kidnap her husband found it impossible to spy on him, but so it was. A person's property is inviolate. From the first, the task she'd set herself was a rescue mission. Humiliation—no, whatever it cost her in time or strength or courage, she would not search his things.

Surprisingly soon, in less than ten minutes her watch assured her, King was heard, cheerfully whistling, on his way back to their cabin. How she knew but that this light heartedness announced victory over Hi-Yu, Not for two hours when Casino would return to prepare their noonday meal would she be sure this was not a staged good humor. King would never tell her.

Still whistling, he blustered into the room, divesting himself of his swath-ings and blowing on his hands as, laboredly, they emerged, stiff and blue, from the fur lined mitts. When they had been limbered sufficiently to refill his pipe, they returned to the coercing of the radio. Passing the table where stood a covered box he had inquired, "Have a cigaret?"

"No, thank you."

"On the wagon?"

"Yes."

He did not ask why, only murmuring, "Silly Sheila."

Good Morning:

This is a deft and likable gangster comedy drama. It has speed, humor, surprise and suspense, and while not very strong stuff is still good medicine.

The hero is an office boy, Eddie Martin, whose lucky star carries him into the realm of big gamblers—where gangsters abide. He becomes the protégé of a square shooter and together the two reap phenomenal harvests until the daughter of Eddie's former boss, and a sinister happening at a gaming table, throw sand under their skis, and convince the twain that there is a happy land, far, far away from the world of the roulette wheel.

Eddie Quillan gives a spanking performance as the luck kissed office boy. Robert Armstrong is a grand bozo as his pal. Miriam Seegar is sweet—though a bit too babbling-brooky—as the heroine, and James Gleason and Robert Edeson adorn the rôles entrusted to them.

The film is nicely directed, photographed and recorded. You'll be well entertained by "Big Money"—or I don't know you.

"THOSE THREE FRENCH GIRLS."

THE CAST.

Charmaine.....Fifi D'Orsay
Larry.....Reginald Denny
Owlr.....Cliff Edwards
Diane.....Yola D'Avril
Madelon.....Sandra Ravel
Earl of Ippleton.....George Grossmith
Yank.....Edward Brophy
Parker.....Peter Cawthorne

Fifi D'Orsay is (are) the big moments of this show. The lively French girl with her gamin charm and the come-hither voice with a squeak in it, dominates the picture. She has good support, and the film, though a reel or so too long (I think) classes as a pleasing little show.

The plot is a slight one. A young Englishman whose uncle is an earl, meets two American doughboys and three French girls in a Parisian hoosgow, where all are detained for such minor causes as throwing flower pots at people and pulling up little trees. The boys and girls discover that they have much in common. Merrily they break out of jail and engage in such activities as the picture shall show you.

Reginald Denny is suave and able as Larry. He has SUCH a nice voice! Cliff Edwards—and his guitar, of course! — oblige. George Grossmith does the pip-pipping Earl of Ippleton to a turn and Peter Cawthorne is perfect as a butler. (P. G. Wodehouse having contributed considerable of the dialogue, there would HAVE to be a butler).

Yola D'Avril and Sandra Ravel are voluble and engaging as two of the French girls.

See you tomorrow.

British Prince Will Open Ocean Art Show for Charity

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Just before the Cunard liner Aquitania sails for New York on Nov. 21, Prince George formally will open the seagoing art exhibition which is to be continued in New York harbor, and the exhibit, it is hoped, will be sold to Americans.

As an act of international courtesy, Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon has granted free entry both to the pictures and frames, so that the purchasers may take their acquisitions ashore without the customs formality. The exhibitions are part of the work of the prince of Wales for the relief of British ex-service men.

About a year ago the prince asked all leading British artists to contribute one picture, and among those represented are such great names as Sir William Orpen, Augustus John, Sir John Lavery, and many others. All are not high priced, however, and some of the pictures in the show are as low as $5.

Sir Joseph Duveen, the famous art dealer, has organized the exhibition, and his representatives are in charge, with Capt. Cotton-Minchen representing the prince of Wales. Ambassador Charles G. Dawes is expected to speak at the opening at Southampton.

Predicts New Nations' Rise in the Orient

Editor Expects Failure of British-Indian Policy.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Ten to twenty years will suffice to find every country in the orient a free and independent nation, is the guess of Kirby Page, world traveler and editor of the World Tomorrow. Mr. Page spoke on "The Titanic Upheaval in the Orient" before the Chicago Fordim yesterday at the Adelphi theater.

He predicted ultimate failure of the round table conference to be held Wednesday of this week in London, to attempt arbitration of Great Britain's problems in India. He asserted that nothing more substantial than propaganda for an expanded American navy is behind the rumors of a possible attack on this country by Japan.

"Gandhi," he declared in reference to India," is a greater figure among his fellow men today than even Buddha was in his lifetime. His influence is immeasurable. He refused to attend this coming conference because Premier MacDonald would not assure him that Indian independence as a dominion would be considered, though it was held out as an ultimate object. Why is MacDonald moving so slowly, despite his radical utterances in two books on India before he became prime minister? Because of the state of the English public mind.

"That is a perfectly natural situation. Briefly, the English are utterly sincere in believing that they must 'bear the white man's burden' in India. Though they have five billion dollars invested there, and nobody can think rationally where such money is involved, the majority of the British people are thoroughly convinced of their superiority and of Indian inferiority; of the extravagant success of the 150 years they have spent in the east, and of the futility of an Indian nation trying to govern itself. Just as the Indians, on the other hand, are utterly convinced of the extravagant failure of British rule. There is a very great deal to be said on both sides.

"Indian leaders maintain, as we once maintained, that no foreign rule, however beneficial, can be as good for a people as self-government. Therefore, my guess is that the conference will fail. Whereupon, two or three things might happen. The Indians might turn to violence. I do not think they will. Gandhi may apply a weapon he has not resorted to before—an order to cease paying taxes and thus force the British to compromise. Or, and this would be most serious of all, he may decide to go on a hunger strike, and die in jail, a martyr. That would mean the last of Britain there, for there would be no holding the Indians then."

Mr. Page's earlier reference to Japan has included an assertion that democracy in that country is growing by leaps and bounds, the most recent and unprecedented demonstration of it being the pressure of public opinion in favor of ratification of the London naval pact, which inspired the emperor and his immediate inferior to overrule the adverse decision of the privy council in favor of the decision of the cabinet to indorse the measure.

"There is a systematic effort being made by some journals," he continued, "to convince us that Japan is preparing for a war against this country, and that it is only a matter of time until we will have to defend our shores against Japanese troops. Japan already is in a desperate situation economically and industrially, like many other countries. This country is the best customer Japan has, either for exports or imports. Take away American trade and the entire Japanese industrial structure would collapse like a pack of cards.

"Unless the entire group of those shrewd, analytic Japanese statesmen have become imbeciles or raving lunatics, do not for a moment believe that they would permit such a calamity to happen, especially with our greater navy. The entire matter is propaganda pure and simple by some newspapers in favor of raising funds for a still greater navy for this country."

NEW KING OF KINGS PLANS BIGGER, BETTER ADDIS ABABA PALACE

ADDIS ABABA, Abyssinia, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Now that the coronation ceremonies are ended and Emperor Haile Selassie I. is better known to the outside world he intends to build a sumptuous million dollar palace on the site of the present unsightly wooden structure, believing the new building will be more in keeping with the dignity of the "king of kings."

Since the emperor spent most of his personal fortune on the coronation the funds for the new palace must come from the granting of concessions to foreigners, the sale of some of the emperor's vast land holdings, and voluntary contributions from the people. The emperor receives no salary and therefore is largely dependent for income on customs revenues and levies on tribal chieftains.

THE STAGE

THE play called "Cradle Call" is scheduled for its metropolitan première at the Selwyn theater next Monday night. In other words, it hasn't been acted in New York, or anywhere else, except in Atlantic City for tryout purposes. Crane Wilbur, an actor now appearing in "On the Spot" in New York, is its author. The cast includes Lenita Lane, John Sheehan, Lee Kohlmar, Lester Bernard, Lysle Talbot, Frances Dale, Percy Kilbride, George Sweet, and John T. Dwyer.

Florence Reed, who has not been active in the theater since the all star "Macbeth" and "The Shanghai Gesture," will be the star of a play called "Purity" which Lee Shubert is now staging. It is an adaptation from the French of Réné Wachthausen. Its first performance will be given in Hartford, Conn., Nov. 26. Boston will see it on Dec. 1, under the auspices of the Professional Players, a subscription drama group similar to the Dramatic League of Chicago.

Philadelphia also has a Professional Players organization, which will get the Shubert staging of Pirandello's "As You Desire Me" for its December production. Judith Anderson will be its star. . . . The Shuberts contemplate the production of three other plays by Pirandello. They are called "Tonight We Improvise," "The Giants of the Mountain," and "When You Are Somebody."

David Belasco's first production of the season, "Dancing Partner," will close its New York engagement next Saturday night with 119 performances to its credit. The play will not be sent on tour. Mr. Belasco will replace it with "Tonight or Never," a play by Lili Hatvany, with Helen Gahagan leading the cast, Tuesday evening, Nov. 18.

The Dramatic League of Chicago explains that the departure of "Topaz" does not close its subscription books. There are five more plays on its program, including the current "Death Takes a Holiday," and any one who wants to subscribe for them will be welcomed. . . . Incidentally, "Death Takes a Holiday" is included in the 1930 edition of Burns Mantle's "Ten Best Plays," which has just been published.

The sixth season of special matinee performances for children at the Goodman theater will begin Nov. 22 with an adaptation of "Oliver Twist." These productions are under the direction of Muriel Brown, who made the stage version of Dickens' novel, and gave it a happy ending by permitting Nancy to escape from the murderous Bill Sykes.

The Hull House Players, one of the oldest little theater groups in the country, will begin their season Nov. 19 with a new play called "Smoke Screen," by Robert Kasper. It is an expansion into three acts of a one act play with which Mr. Kasper won the Drama league tournament a year ago. In its short form the piece was stageworthy enough to get an extended vaudeville booking.

Charles and Florence Hinton, well known on the vaudeville and musical comedy stage, have organized a stock company for Saturday night performances of musical shows at the "Vic" theater, Sheffield and Belmont avenues. They began with "The Girl in the Garden," Nov. 1. Last Saturday night they staged "Spanish Love." Three other productions are announced.

Brock Pemberton, the lucky manager who staged "Strictly Dishonorable," has decided that it is time for him to put on another play. "Made in Hollywood" is its title and Donald Davis, elder son of Owen Davis, is the author. He plans for a New York première in the Christmas holidays period.

Ring Lardner has been called in as rewrite man for Florenz Ziegfeld's latest musical comedy production, "Smiles," which is now in Boston. He is inventing new lyrics for most of the songs. This show is scheduled for a New York première Nov. 18.

Miss Antonie Strassmann, famous German woman flyer and actress, yesterday played the rôle of Lady Milford in Friedrich von Schiller's play, "Kabale und Liebe," in celebration of the poet's 171st birthday anniversary. The play was performed at the German theater. On the committee in charge of this feature of the celebration were Mrs. A. C. Hoeiser, Mrs. Anna Schaedler, Mrs. A. Harder, Mrs. Ad Schmidt, Mrs. Rose Hatzenbuehler, Mrs. Ludwig Plate, Mrs. Robert Scheunemann, Mr. Leopold Saltiel, Dr. Karl Meyer, Michael Leber, Bruno Knecht, and C. F. Pegenau. The German and Austrian consuls general were present.

Student Ideas Guiding Iowa College Course

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Revolt by American college students against conventional church attendance, does not point to a decay of interest or to a growth of collegiate irreligion. At least that opinion was supported by a religious questionnaire circulated among the students of Cornell college, Mount Vernon, Ia., by President H. J. Burghstahler.

The questionnaire, according to Prof. O. V. Jackson, head of the department of religion at that college, who was here yesterday, revealed intense student interest, not merely academic, in religion.

Prof. Jackson pointed students' answers, among which was an indication of being tired "of hearing sales talks from the pulpits in connection with worship."

President Burghstahler's purpose in seeking the attitude of the students was a preliminary step toward a college course in "religious orientation." This course, under the leadership of President Burghstahler and with the coöperation of the departments of religion, philosophy, and psychology, reverses the usual order in teaching.

"Usually," Dr. Jackson said, "the material to be taught—especially in religion—originated in the minds of the professors. Our new course is not a gun loaded with our private opinions to be shot at the students.

"Instead of that, the subject matter originated with the students through questionnaires and conferences. The spirit President Burghstahler used in approaching the students was 'what religious problems do you wish to discuss and what are your chief interests in religion?'"

The students' replies were studied, grouped, and finally boiled down to 17 questions, which will constitute the scope of the course, Dr. Jackson explained.

"Reality of prayer and worship vied in student interest with the perennial problem of science and religion," Dr. Jackson said. "On the other hand, church and sacraments, and the problem of God seem to have supplanted some of the more morbid and introspective discussions that occupied student attention in other times."

The new course in religious orientation is one of several "orientation" courses at the Iowa college. The others are in fine arts, natural sciences, and social science.

Dr. Jackson said President Burghstahler had found it necessary to limit the number of students desiring to take the course. This he regarded as a unique situation in the field of undergraduate religious instruction in American colleges. Too frequently, he said, religious instruction finds itself begging for students in our colleges. This is not true at Cornell college, Dr. Jackson declared.

"Our investigation has shown that students experience a religious shock when they enter college," Dr. Jackson declared. "This is followed by a waning of religious certainty through sophomore and junior years. As seniors, most students begin to read just themselves and grasps certain positive attitudes and convictions."

Cardinal Mundelein Dedicates St. Malachy Church on New Site

The new St. Malachy's Roman Catholic church, 2246 Washington boulevard, was dedicated yesterday morning by Cardinal Mundelein. The new church has been in use since Oct. 5. Then, led by the pastor, the Rev. James F. Callaghan, the congregation moved in procession away from the historic old St. Malachy's, on Western avenue, to the new edifice.

The music for the dedication service was supplied by members of the Chicago Civic Opera company and by the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

The sermon was delivered by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Daniel Byrnes. Last night a sacred concert was given in the new church. At the evening service a lecture on Catholic use of music, art, and architecture was delivered by the Rt. Rev. Bernard J. Mahoney, bishop of Sioux Falls, S. D.

Ground was broken yesterday for the new St. Pascal's Roman Catholic church at Irving Park boulevard and Mead avenue. The new church is to be completed within four months at a cost of $250,000. The Rev. George P. Heinsch officiated at the services.

India's Women Gaining Freedom from Old Customs During Revolt

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, Oct. 30.—[By Mail.]—The woman of Hindustan, long hidden in purdah and crushed by marriage while still a child, is coming into her own in this new India.

The Hindu woman's lot never was as bad as has been painted. Katherine Mayo's "Mother India" took only the most extreme cases on which to base her indictment of the status of Indian womanhood.

Still, we find two of the Indian states, Cochin and Travancore, not only granting the political franchise to women in 1920 but nominating them to their respective legislative councils. In Travancore a woman held the portfolio for public health. In British Indian women have been enfranchised on the same terms as men and one of them was elected by the Madras legislature as its deputy president.

The revolution of Gandhi, however, seems to have wrecked the rigid social fabric of India. Its rumblings have been heard and felt even in the citadels of orthodoxy of the Hindus, who are mainly responsible for child marriage, and Mohammendans, who cling on tenaciously to the keeping of women in purdah.

The latter have been breaking out of their purdah prisons in great numbers, usually, be it said, with the consent and even encouragement of their husbands, who understand the new signs of the times.

There was the classic case in Lucknow the other day wherein a prominent leader was arrested and sentenced to six months in prison for his efforts on behalf of the congress. His wife had been secluded in purdah all her life. On receipt of the news of her husband's imprisonment, she broke out of the women's quarters of her home and for the first time in her life sallied down the street without a veil, flaunting her uncovered face in the sunlight to the view of all who cared to look and boasting to the world that the days of the seclusion of women were over and that she intended to take her husband's place in the revolutionary struggle.

This sort of thing is going on all over India, and especially in Bengal, where the newspapers are filled almost daily with accounts of Mohammedan women who are escaping from the enforced seclusion which has been their lot for generations.

What the Well Dressed Aviatrix Is Wearing

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—The recent trans-Atlantic triumph of Costa and Bellonte has restored aviation to first place in the Parisian public eye, which has shown a tendency, of late, to stray toward television and one hundred per cent French movie tone parlez vous.

Smart women are pinning jeweled question marks on their bonnets and dallying with the thought of outflying Amy Johnson in a nonstop raid from Paris to Paris, passing over all the less important [from the sartorial point of view, only] quarters of the globe.

With such flightly thoughts abroad, it behooves Paris couturiers to do their best stuff about becoming aviation costumes, and they have nobly responded to the call.

Sketched above is Suzanne Talbot's idea of what the well dressed aviatrix is wearing. It's of dark moss green woolen fleckled with black. The frock, shown on the small figure, has a long-ish, divided skirt. It extends over the white silk blouse—in a long point that buttons under a pointed white silk bib collar—something like glorified overalls. A high belt effect buttons snug in the back.

The short jacket has a high Medici collar that can button tight round the neck. The casque is hand knitted in black and green wool to match the suit fabric. Gloves and boots are of black patent leather, as are also the buttons on skirt and jacket.

Brides' Retinue for Kohlsaat Nuptials Chosen

BY THALIA

Miss Suzanne and Miss Cynthia Kohlsaat, whose respective wedding will be solemnized on Nov. 29, have made the selection of their attendants.

The two sisters are to have separate nuptial services instead of a double ceremony. The marriage of Susanne Louise to Franklin E. Agnew Jr. will be solemnized at 4:30 o'clock at Christ church, Winnetka, and the wedding of Cynthia Kohlsaat and Edward Harkness will follow fifteen minutes later. A reception will be given after the weddings at Indian Hill for Miss Suzanne's attendants will include Miss Laura Jacoby as maid of honor, and Miss Alice Jacoby, Miss Harriet Leonard, Miss Mary Ott, Miss Harriet Leonard, Miss Margot Atkin, Miss Rachel Lloyd of New York, and Miss Elinor Harkness, daughter of Louisville, Ky.

Mr. Agnew's attendants will include Miss Virginia Hardy of New York, Miss Laura Harcourt of Louisville, Miss Katharine Harding of Dallas, Tex. Sheldon Vanzwall will be best man for Mr. Harkness and the ushers will be Carl Ostrom, Richard Welsh, George Miller, Dr. Morrison, Leonard Hicks of Detroit, and Edward Kohlsaat Jr.

Parties are to be given during the week before the weddings including a hunt that Miss Mary Atkin will organize at Indian Hill on Sunday, Nov. 23; a dinner given by Miss Harriet Leonard Monday evening, followed by a dinner at the Drake with Miss Ott and Mr. Walgreen as hostesses; a theater party given by Sheldon Vanzwall Tuesday evening, and a dinner at the home of Mrs. Willard W. Jacques on Wednesday at the Glenview country club. On Thursday evening the two brides will give a dinner at the Kohlsaat home for the feminine members of the wedding parties and on Friday night their aunts, Mrs. Harold Wells and Miss Edith Kohlsaat, give the bridal dinner at their home in Hubbard Woods.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart Coolidge of 1161 Astor street have announced the engagement of their daughter, Lydia Avery Coonley, to Thomas Nickerson Jr. of New York City. Mr. Nickerson, son of Thomas Nickerson. Miss Coolidge has been residing in New York for the past several years. She was graduated from Vassar and Mr. Nickerson is a Harvard graduate. No plans have been announced for their marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Dougherty of Barrington announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Sheldon Clarke, son of Harry A. Sheldon Clarke also are now residents of Barrington since the completion of their new home there. Miss Dougherty attended Northwestern university for two years and then studied landscape gardening at the School of Horticulture at Ambler, Pa. No definite plans have been made for the wedding.

Miss Virginia Waller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Waller, and Miss Corinne Brewer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Harris Brewer, will make their formal debuts at a tea and dance this afternoon at 45 Banks street.

The third debutante of the season is Miss Helen Howell, whose mother, Mrs. Thomas M. Howell of 2700 Sheridan road, Evanston, is to give a Jubilee tea for her at their residence on Friday, and Mrs. Howell are to give a dinner dance for their daughter on Dec. 20 in the red lacquer room of the Drake hotel.

The Friends of Opera are to have a meeting at the Drake ballroom on Monday afternoon, Nov. 17. The afternoon's program, to be given by artists of the Chicago Civic opera, will be followed by tea.

Mrs. A. A. Carpenter is to entertain at dinner at the Casino and a theater party this evening for Miss Constance Hastler.

Several dinner parties are to be given before the benefit concert to be given in the auditorium of New Trier high school in Winnetka this evening by the Bryn Mawr alumnae scholarship fund. Mrs. William B. Harmon, Mrs. Walter B. Butler, Mrs. Stephen A. Foster, Mrs. Morris F. Porter, Mrs. Morris Jansen, and Mrs. Henry L. Stoddard are among those who will entertain, and afterwards taking their guests to the concert, to be given by the Roth quartet.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stanley Smith will not return to Chicago to live, but will remain at Pittsfield, Mass., while Mr. West recuperates from a long siege of pneumonia. They will go to Florida.

Mrs. George Higginson and her son will sail on Dec. 15 for Naples instead of Dec. 1 as originally planned to do their shopping there before their son-in-law and daughter, Count and Countess Gozzadini, return to Rome and Florence.

FOUR MARX BROTHERS

BY THALIA

Miss Susanne and Miss Cynthia Kohlsaat, whose respective weddings are to be solemnized on Nov. 29, have completed the selection of their attendants.

The two sisters are to have separate nuptial services instead of a double wedding. The marriage of Susanne Kohlsaat to Franklin E. Agnew Jr. will be solemnized at 4:30 o'clock at Christ church in Winnetka, and the wedding of Cynthia Kohlsaat and Edward Malcolm Harkness will follow fifteen minutes later. A reception will be held after the weddings at Indian Hill club.

Miss Susanne's attendants will include Miss Laura Jacoby as matron of honor, and Miss Alice Jacques, Miss Mary Ott, Miss Harriet Leonard, Miss Margot Atkin, Miss Rachel Hepburn of New York, and Miss Alice Humphrey of Louisville, Ky., as bridesmaids. The groom's brother, Richard Agnew, will be best man, and the ushers will be Robert Porter, Addison Walker, Robert Ellick, Robert McDevitt, George Archer, and Edward Kohlsaat Jr.

The assistants at the wedding of Miss Cynthia Kohlsaat and Edward Harkness will include Miss Virginia Myers, maid of honor, and Miss Eleanor McEwan, Miss Helen Meerhoff, Miss Elnora Harkness, Mrs. Malcolm Hardy of New York, Miss Virginia Harcourt of Louisville, Ky., and Miss Katharine Harding of San Antonio, Tex. Sheldon Vanswall will be best man for Mr. Harkness and the ushers will be Carl Ostrom, Norman Bradish, George Miller, Donald Morrison, Leonard Hicks of Denver, and Edward Kohlsaat Jr.

Parties to be given during the week before the weddings include a treasure hunt that Miss Margot Atkin will organize at Indian Hill on Sunday, Nov. 23; a dinner to be given by Miss Harriet Leonard on Monday evening, followed by a dance at the Drake with Miss Ott and Miss McEwan as hostesses; a theater party to be given by Sheldon Vanswall on Tuesday evening, and a dinner-dance at Mrs. Willard W. Jacques will be on Wednesday at the South Shore Country club. On Thursday evening the two brides will give a dinner dinner at the Kohlsaat residence for the feminine members of the wedding parties and on Friday night their aunts, Mrs. Henry L. Wells and Miss Edith Kohlsaat, will give the bridal dinner at their residence in Hubbard Woods.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart Coonley of 245 Astor street have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lydia Avery Coonley, to Thomas Nickerson Jr. of New York City, son of Thomas Nickerson. Miss Coonley has been residing in New York for the past several years. She was graduated from Vassar and Mr. Nickerson is a Harvard graduate. No plans have been announced for their marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Douglass of Barrington announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to the Sheldon Clarke son, Harry A. S. Clark. The Clarks also are now residents of Barrington since the completion several months ago of their handsome new place there. Miss Douglass attended Northwestern university for 2 years and then studied landscape gardening at the School of Horticulture at Ambler, Pa. No definite plans have been made for the wedding.

Miss Virginia Waller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Waller Jr., and Miss Corinne Brewer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Harris Brewer, will make their formal debuts at a tea and reception this afternoon at 45 Banks street.

The third debutante of the day is Miss Helen Howell, whose mother, Mrs. Thomas M. Howell of 3708 Lake View avenue, is to give a debut luncheon for her at their residence. Mr. and Mrs. Howell are to give a supper dance for their daughter on Dec. 26 in the red lacquer room of the Palmer house.

The Friends of Opera are to have a meeting at the Drake ballroom Monday afternoon, Nov. 17. The musical program, to be given by artists of the Chicago Civic opera, will be followed by tea.

Mrs. A. A. Carpenter is to give a dinner at the Casino and a theater party this evening for Miss Constance Slater.

Several dinner parties are to be given before the benefit concert to be given at the auditorium of New Trier High school in Winnetka this evening for the Bryn Mawr alumnae scholarship fund. Mrs. William B. Hale, Mrs. Harmon B. Butler, Mrs. Walter O. Wilson, Mrs. Stephen A. F. Foster, Mrs. James F. Porter, Mrs. Morris K. Wilson, and Mrs. Henry L. Stout are among those who will entertain at dinner, afterwards taking their guests to the concert, to be given by the Kedroff quartet.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. West will not return to Chicago this winter, but will remain at Pittsfield, Mass., while Mr. West recuperates further from a long siege of pneumonia. Later they will go to Florida.

The George Higginsons are to sail on Dec. 16 for Naples instead of waiting until after the holidays, as they had originally planned to do. They will visit their son-in-law and daughter, Count and Countess Giangiulio Rasdlal in Rome and Florence.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Webb Wilson, who had been living in Japan since their marriage a year ago, have returned to New York. Mrs. Wilson is the former Miss Muriel Lafferts Smith.

Dana T. Bartholomew, who will marry Miss Adele S. Griswold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. S. Griswold, on Nov. 21, gave his farewell bachelor dinner last night at the Racquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert H. Alden returned on the Aquitania.

Mrs. Elgin R. L. Gould has returned from Baltimore and is at the Westbury for the season.

ENGAGED

MISS MARGARET M'LEAN.

The engagement of Miss Margaret McLean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. McLean of Drummond court, Montreal, Canada, to Sidney S. Trude was announced at a dinner given by Mr. Trude's parents, former Judge and Mrs. George H. Trude, on Saturday evening at the Edgewater Beach hotel. The wedding will take place next June at the residence of Miss McLean's parents in Montreal.

THREE QUARTETS AND SOME 18TH CENTURY SONGS, AN OPERA, TOO

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Two string quartets, the Mischakoff and the Lener; one male quartet, the Kedroff, and one mezzo-soprano in a costume recital, Merry Harn, made up the not altogether usual set of concert attractions in the loop district yesterday afternoon.

The Mischakoff quartet is new. It consists of Mischa Mischakoff, first violin; Franz Polesny, second violin; Clarence Evans, viola, and Daniel Saidenberg, cello, all members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and all, with the exception of Mr. Polesny, the heads of their respective sections.

So far they are four first class players who have made good progress toward converting four individuals into an ensemble, and, as time goes on, will undoubtedly go farther toward that laudable end. The program played on the stage of Orchestra hall consisted of quartets by Beethoven, opus 95, No. 11, Schubert's in C minor, and that by Ravel. There was a large and appreciative audience.

The Lener quartet at the Studebaker played the second of its series of three recitals with the same acute perception of melodic interchange and fine tone that was noted on their first appearance. On the program were quartets by Beethoven, opus 59, No. 2; Mozart in C, No. 17, in the Peters rendition, and at the end with the assistance of Olga Loeser Lebert, the Brahms piano quintet in F. Again there was a large audience and much applause.

Miss Harn at the Playhouse costumed herself in a bewitching style and sang songs, according to the program, in the eighteenth century manner. It would seem to mean that she is pretty, as any artist should be in going in for a costume recital, and that she sings in a soft, pleasant, slightly breathy voice songs that belong both to the eighteenth century and before, from Italy, England, Spain, France, and Canada. It was a highly agreeable experience. Frank Bibb, her accompanist, varied between piano and harpsichord according to the needs of the occasion.

The Kedroff quartet at the Civic theater sang, according to their custom, most of their program in Russian. Their excellent voices have been associated together for a number of seasons, they select an attractive list of melodies, and if the non-Russians in the audience had any idea of what the songs were about they would undoubtedly approve them as songs as much as melodies.

The performance of "Manon" at the Civic Opera house yesterday afternoon will be the last Sunday matinée, at least for the present. The decision was made after inquiry into costs and the probable income from this series, and apparently the two did not come near enough balancing to suit the management. Subscription seat holders for this series will be given their option of doing one of three things. They may transfer their subscriptions to other performances of the season, they may exchange their subscriptions for coupon books, or they may ask for a refund.

André Skalski sends word that he is calling a meeting at 2 o'clock this afternoon to perfect plans for reorganization and continuance of the daily concerts by the orchestra bearing his name, which ran at Kimball hall last week.

Twelve Year Old Doesn't Need to Be Treated as a Baby

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Reading references on the physical care of the child will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sometimes you want to save yourself steps, so you say to your little daughter, who loves the importance of helping you, "I'm going to fix string beans for supper, Phyllis. First, open the icebox door—the beans are in a bag down near the bacon. Now bring me the big blue bowl. Next I want that saucepan with two handles. Carry it over to the kitchen table and find the little vegetable knife in the drawer and put it in the saucepan. Yes, that's the one. Now bring it here. Thanks, Honey, that's fine."

Have you ever noticed when you tell a young child to do something how detailed your directions have to be? Each step has to be described, each operation gone into.

This is necessary because what to us may be a simple thing is complicated to a child, made up of many motions.

But, have you also noticed something else? That is, that long after the children are past the need of it you are apt to carry over this habit of directing each step of your child's activity?

We ought to be on our guard against this habit if we want our children to grow in independence and to gradually acquire the power to think and act for themselves.

For instance, near dinner time several years later, all we need to say to the bigger daughter is, "Phyllis, my lap is so full of these yarns that I can't get up, an' I want to fix the string beans for dinner. They're in the icebox, and bring me whatever else I need, Honey. Thanks."

To your son when he's little and has finished his bath, you may have to give half a dozen directions about the bath mat and the soiled clothes doing in the hamper, etc., so that the place doesn't look wild when he's finished. When he's older all you really need say is, "Bill, be sure to leave the bathroom in order tonight—you've been getting awfully careless." But what you actually do half the time is to follow him up as you used to when he was little.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—[Special.]—Prince Tokugawa, president of the Japanese house of peers, who has been entertained here constantly for a few days, left this afternoon for Ottawa, Canada. He will visit his son, Japanese ambassador to Canada, before returning to his home in Tokio. Prince Tokugawa, who is president of the Japanese Red Cross, was the luncheon guest yesterday of John Barton Payne, head of the American Red Cross. Today the prince was the guest of Henry L. Stimson at the secretary of state's home.

Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, widow of a former vice president, arrived in Washington today to be the guest for some time of Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, who was her most intimate friend here. It was in Mrs. Walsh's home that Vice President and Mrs. Marshall entertained at dinner in honor of the visiting king and queen of the Belgians.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Morton of Chicago are the week-end guests of Miss Elizabeth Howry, daughter of the late Judge Charles B. Howry, who entertained at tea this afternoon in her Georgetown home in their honor.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Girdling or ringing of apple tree limbs in order to induce early bearing of fruit has aspects not looked for in the first attempts at this type of orchard management. Experiments were concluded recently at the Graham horticultural experiment station at Grand Rapids, Mich., showing how such ringing was evidently responsible for an increase in blight infection.

When the university horticulturists heard of the practice they studied results obtained in a commercial orchard company's three-year system. Two rings had been cut one-eighth inch apart without removing the bark on a third of the limbs of each tree that had not blossomed by their tenth or eleventh seasons in the orchard.

No blight occurred in 1927 or 1928, but when it was rampant in 1929 the orchard was heavily infected and this was laid to the ringing. Some of the intensive study on this subject was made by H. A. Cardinell, who went into cultural practices in general to find what led in the first place to adoption of a practice such as girdling.

What he found was that management of young orchards included practices that favored very vigorous growth. This condition resulted in large trees when they were of bearing age and with framework extensive enough to produce heavy crops, but at the same time lessening bearing tendency. With varieties naturally slow in coming into bearing this deferred production was considered serious, as it required greater investments before returns were received.

Nothing like milk for the after-school snack. It is food as well as drink. Satisfies the children's urge for food, without spoiling the appetite for dinner.

Also milk should be a part of every boy's and girl's noon-day luncheon, whether eaten at school or at home.

Milk is a child-builder. Those fast-growing bodies fairly shout for the mineral salts and vitamins that milk provides, plus protein, fat, and other valuable nutrients.

So be sure—mothers—to see that each of your children drinks at least a quart of milk a day.

MILK for All the Family Promotes Health —and Economy

To keep family health UP and eating costs DOWN, use for each member of the household, a quart of milk daily. It will supply over a fourth of the daily food needs because so packed with necessary nourishment—and benefit family health as well.

Plan dishes using milk. Your cook book gives lots of desserts using milk—soups too, and gravies. Bread and milk, or crackers and milk, are most satisfying meals—ready in a jiffy.

Costs only 3 Cents More a Quart to Enjoy Borden's Special Drinking Milk

"Selected" Milk with its "Sweet Natural Taste" makes milk drinking more than ever enjoyable. "Selected" is produced under special supervision, on 105 picked Wisconsin farms near Lake Geneva. Thrifty Wife Complains That Mate Won't Save

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"The Wife" introduces her problem as more of a financial than a love one. But, like a number of other married folk, she realizes both problems are bound closely together. Upon a square handling of money matters happiness is more sure to survive than upon an unfair arrangement.

"The Wife's" case is: Husband and wife both working. Husband makes $40 per week, wife $50. Husband a good sport and generous by nature. Wife rather thrifty, but not niggardly, by any means.

As per arrangement the husband turns over his entire salary to his wife, who has the managing of all the money. She gives him a liberal allowance, out of which he is expected to buy only lunches, shaves, and cigarets. She meets all other expenses such as mortgages, laundry, tailoring, gas and electric bills, doctors, automobile, etc., etc., not forgetting clothing.

Despite his rather generous allowance, the husband just barely makes it do. She, on the other hand, beside all the living expenses and paying installments on a car, and buying a house, manages to save.

However—and here is the rub—just as soon as a few hundred dollars are accumulated the husband always manages to spend it on such things as a trip down south, or to Canada, or in turning in this year's car and getting a new model. Now, the wife thinks it is time to change the system. Husband is satisfied to let things stand "as is."

"I want to be fair to both of us," the wife says, "but this idea of thrift being only on one side is beginning to get on my nerves. Can you suggest a better method? I'd be interested to learn how the many business couples have settled this money problem."

Improvement on the above financial program that might be suggested would be an understanding that only half the savings belonged to the man, the other half being the wife's to do what she pleased with. On the whole it sounds like an agreeable arrangement. Where wives are the better managers and husbands willing to turn over their salaries in full, the arrangement is excellent. But the wife's thrift should have some personal reward in it for her. If the man's generosity allows for the thrift account, he is likewise entitled to share in its reward.

WOMAN'S AND MISSES' DRESS.

Here is as smart and practical a day dress as it would be possible to find. The yoked bodice with panel effect carried down into the skirt is clever and becoming, and a circular skirt is always graceful. Black Canton crêpe, Bordeau red flat crêpe and transparent velvet are especially lovely in this design.

The pattern, 2691, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material.

Beauty Care Is No Longer a Luxury, It's a Necessity

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

At the recent American beauty congress held in New York a trade pessimism was notably absent. Nowadays any gathering of folk engaged in merchandising of one kind or another that hasn't a mourners' bench is unusual, to say the least.

There must be a reason for optimism's grin where it is found. And at the aforesaid beauty congress the reason, as projected by one of the leading officials of the beauty industry's association, is that beauty is no longer a luxury. It is a necessity, as butter on your bread, dressing on your salad, or eggs on your ham an'. The last comparison is not the congress official's. It's our not so brilliant way of indicating how wedded is woman and beauty. You can take bread without butter and woman without their beauty appetizers—but who wants 'em that way?

While we suspect that the statement of optimism might be slightly exaggerated, still that thing about beauty being a necessity cannot be overstressed. Goodness, don't we hear the small ones of 5, 6, and 8 years putting their stamp of approval on one woman and dismissing another with the candor that only children can bring to judgment because one is pretty or has pretty hair or has a pretty dress on and another is too fat or ugly?

This appreciation of beauty is being bred in the bones of the youngest generation and it is a wise parent who answers the cry for more and prettier mammas. That's only one phase of the demand, the beginning phase, however. It works on up through every evolution until mature age is reached, with always indulgence granted other shortcomings if the woman subscribes to the human cry for more and more beauty in its life.

Not that we are advocating neglect of the wholesome biblical virtues—but even these presented with charming face and dress are lent additional beauty. If one among us should get to thinking, then, that now is a period of slump economically, therefore she can slump pictorially, she'd better take a tip from the association's report and believe in the necessity more than ever of keeping up a charming front.

Psychologically, the belief is important, for woman can take a blow on the chin with greater calm if she has a chin whose unwattled surface looks good for a decade or two or three more of beauty service.

Thousands at Dedication of St. Elizabeth's Hospital

Several thousand persons attended the dedication ceremonies of the new $1,500,000 St. Elizabeth's hospital, 1431 North Claremont avenue, yesterday afternoon. Bishop Bernard J. Shiel officiated. He was assisted by the Rev. Msgr. Peter Bierman, Evanston, and the Rev. P. J. Mahan, dean of Loyola university. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Matthias Meyer.

The new hospital has a capacity of 250 beds. Each room is furnished a radio conveniently located so the patient may operate it. Another feature of the hospital is a special diet kitchen on each of the 12 floors, through which all food from the main kitchen passes for inspection before being given to the patients. The hospital will remain open today for inspection by the public.

Last night more than 500 people, including church leaders, physicians, and the executive staff of the hospital, attended the dedication banquet.

Food Talk.

Mrs. E. F. S. writes: "Can you help me to solve this matter about bran muffins? Why are my muffins not as fluffy as they should be? I do not beat the batter long, just enough to hold it together. I also used hot greased muffin tins."

I'm wondering if Mrs. S. is using the cake or muffin method of mixing her muffins? A good many bran muffin recipes that we see printed nowadays give the cake method. Personally, I prefer the muffin method and get better results with it. By the muffin method I mean that the flour is sifted with the salt and soda or baking powder and the bran is added to this and stirred enough to distribute the bran. A "well" is made in the center. The egg is beaten, the milk is added, then the cooled melted butter. The wet ingredients are quickly turned into the well in the dry ingredients and no time is lost in the mixing.

And it is at this point where many fail with muffins. No batter requires more careful manipulation. Mrs. S. says she does not beat the batter long. She shouldn't beat it at all. It should be stirred and then only enough to combine the wet and dry ingredients, giving an extra stir or two after the flour is dampened. Or perhaps Mrs. S. takes too much time to get her muffin batter together. Time is a most important element in the mixing of muffins. Not more than 18 to 20 seconds should be required for this operation and one doesn't need to watch the clock to measure the time. Just count twenty slowly. Immediately after the last stir is given, the batter should go into the tins and it is not necessary that they be hot. It is fatal to disturb the batter after it stands for a few minutes and muffins should be baked in a hot oven [425° F.].

Baked in this way bran muffins are fluffy without tunnels, knobs and cracks, but nicely rounded on top with the characteristic appetizing top crust.

The recipe also has something to do with the results. Bran muffins, I know, are meant to contain considerable bran, but they may contain so much that it is impossible to get a fluffy light product. Enough flour should be used to give the baking powder or soda a chance to have its greatest effect in producing a fluffy texture. If fruit is added, such as raisins or dates, they should be combined with the dry ingredients before mixing, not afterwards.

I like the following recipe—one that we have worked out in my own kitchen. By carefully following the directions one should obtain excellent results.

BRAN MUFFINS.

1 egg.

Sift and then measure the flour. Mix with the other dry ingredients except the bran and sift into the mixing bowl. Add the bran and mix well. Beat the egg until light and foamy. Add milk and melted fat to it. Make a well in the center of the dry ingredients. Pour in the liquid and stir quickly for about 20 seconds. If this is done rapidly it will be possible to moisten all the flour and give a few extra stirs to the batter. Pour batter into greased muffin tins. Bake in a hot oven [425° F.] until golden brown on top. This will take 20 to 25 minutes, depending upon size of muffins.

Yield: Twelve medium sized muffins or 8 large ones. One large muffin: Total, 168 calories; protein, 19 calories; fat, 46 calories; carbohydrates, 103 calories.

One cup sour milk may be used in place of sweet milk. If this is done, use only 2 teaspoons baking powder and add ½ teaspoon soda. If one cup sour cream is used, proceed as with sour milk, but omit the fat.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Younker of Winnetka announce the engagement of their daughter, Helene, to J. Edgar Moss of Chicago, formerly of St. Louis, Mo. Miss Younker studied in Paris for two years after her graduation from the University School for Girls. Mr. Moss is a graduate of Washington university.

Mrs. Katherine Squires announced the engagement of her daughter, Calista, to Joseph Chambers Headley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Headley of Warsaw, Ind., at a reception at her residence at 841 Castlewood terrace last Friday. Miss Squires is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority at Northwestern university, and Mr. Headley of Phi Alpha Delta fraternity at the University of Chicago.

STOP BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and generally purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c.

"SONS O' GUNS"

With GINA MALO

"Harry Richman trolls the songs out, richly, vivaciously, gleefully. In short, "SONS O' GUNS" is swell—a success from the first to the fifteenth and last scene of its generous program."
—CHARLES COLLINS, THE TRIBUNE

"Both Richman and "SONS O' GUNS," as they stand together, are a complete success. . . . Both of them amusing, generous, melodic, and varied."

THE gay insouciance of the new Glove galoshes makes it hard to believe in their practical usefulness. "Can it be possible," you murmur, "that these colorful things, smartly frivolous as my newest hat, will actually keep my feet warm and dry and comfortable through blizzards?"

We assure you that Glove galoshes adore blizzards, and mud, and inches-deep puddles! . . . You've nothing to worry about except to choose (at the smartest shop in town) the Glove galoshes in style and color that best suit each of your new costumes.

Konjola

MR. JAMES EDWARDS
4836 Crystal St., Chicago

. . . see what Konjola does . . . then decide what you will do about Konjola.

Read what Mr. James Edwards, 4836 Crystal street, Chicago, says about Konjola. Remember that he is still working, at 70, as a blacksmith. And keep in mind that this is not at all an unusual case. Mr. Edwards says:

"I am seventy, but feel forty; work every day and owe it all to Konjola. Two years ago digestion failed me, and then rheumatism set in. I was barely able to work. I went on a rigid diet; almost starved and lost much time from work. A friend insisted that I try Konjola. I have taken ten bottles and I haven't a trace of rheumatism and digestion is fine. I know that, without Konjola, I would not be at work in my shop every day."

'A CHALLENGE TO EVERY RED BLOODED SALESMAN IN CHICAGO.

Here is a golden opportunity to show what you can make of yourself. If you have real ability and fight to prove it, whether you are now making $5,000 or $50,000 a year, this man must walk the streets and has to tell people that he is a salesman. Times have been tough, but tough times are the test of National Realty. When things weren't moving Lasky's was low and studied the situation. We are not foolish enough to spend our time and our money when it wasn't in the cards to make more money. But because our keen sense of the Real Estate situation tells us that things are happening now, we are jumping into the market with the greatest piece of property that we have ever had.

THE OPPORTUNITY IS HERE.
WE ARE CHALLENGED AS SHREWD REAL ESTATE OPERATORS.

And you are challenged as salesmen.

ARE YOU A SALESMAN?

Show us that you are or can be by coming and selling our story. All you have to do is listen. If you aren't convinced it will be our fault not you. We guarantee that every one we can check tells us that the time is ripe for a real estate development that will make Chicago sit up and again say that HARMON WAS RIGHT AGAIN.

HARMON NATIONAL REALTY TRUST
MR. ZENT.

NO HARD TIMES IN THIS BUSINESS

We have permanent positions for four salesmen; essential: we don't sell seasons; no layoffs. This company, rated in the millions, is recognized as the leader in its field. Excep. prog. of advancements and bonus. $40, $50, $65 and upwards per week. Can start at once if qualified. Call Room 1007 today.

NORTH SIDE MEN—
SOMETHING UNUSUAL.

I am interested in securing about five men of good character who can furnish good references, should be between ages of 25 and 40, and preferably married.

If you have the above qualifications I shall train you for 2 days in our sales room, teaching you our methods of selling our products; after this training, provided you are accepted, you will then be placed in the field with experienced men and with an assured income.

At the present time our company maintains 80 offices in this country doing the same thing for our organization.

Program for the year is to establish offices all over the United States. At the present time we are successfully operating throughout 45 countries in the world. We shall be able to place successful applicants in executive positions in as short a time as consistent.

The above is an honest advertisement for good, reputable men and I am prepared to back it up. Men thoroughly may be employed at a satisfactory salary. If you have the courage to have you give it up for a real position with a future.

LOANS ON YOUR SIGNATURE ONLY

Why get one, two or more endorsers when you can borrow money at the FIRST ON YOUR SIGNATURE ONLY?

We prefer to loan money to the man or woman steadily employed ON THEIR OWN SIGNATURE. Our records show that the greater part of our loans are SIGNATURE ONLY LOANS.

This service is such a departure from the old method of making loans that much credit is due when it is explained to them.

Loans made from $10 to $300. Pay back any time and pay only for the time you keep the money. Our service is to be made for the borrower.

For the few who do not qualify for A SIGNATURE ONLY LOAN WE make FURNITURE LOANS or LOANS WITH ONE ENDORSER.

Give us a call. You will appreciate our service and we will appreciate your business.
